THE LATEST.

At a conference in Lexington yesterday Senator McCreary and Gov. Beckham agreed on the inadvisability of perfecting plans, at the present time, for their joint debates as candidates for the United States Senate. The two candidates chatted pleasantly for two hours and decided to wait until after the Ryan reception in Louisville before meeting again to arrange for the debates. The question of the effect of the debates on the chances of the various Congressional candidates will be submitted to them for discussion.

The Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia, yesterday closed its doors because of inability to meet its obligations. George H. Earle was appointed receiver. Frank H. Hipple, president of the company, who died suddenly last Friday, was responsible, it is claimed, for the failure, by reason of having loaned large sums on insufficient security. The liabilities of the company are placed at $10,000,000, against which there are quick assets of about $3,500,000.

William R. Hearst said in an interview in New York yesterday that he would not be a candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket, and would not accept the Democratic nomination. He added that he would run only as the nominee of the Independence League, but would be glad of all the Democratic votes he could get.

Circuit Judge Fowler, of Fond du Lac, Wis., yesterday awarded Otto B. Schulz, a prominent baker, $6000 damages in a suit against some eighty members of the Trades and Labor Council for boycotting his business and placing his name on the unfair list two years ago because he refused to put the union label on his products.

The Indiana Democratic State Central Committee yesterday declared W. E. Cox the regular nominee for Congress in the Third district, settling the fight between him and W. T. Zenor. It is reported that Zenor will not accept the decision. He did not attend the committee meeting yesterday in Indianapolis.

Preparations have been completed for a conference of the French Bishops and Archbishops in Paris, September 4, for the purpose of deciding on the steps to take in carrying out the terms of the papal encyclical on the attitude of the clergy in view of the separation of church and State.

In a speech at Hopkinsville yesterday, Attorney General N. B. Hays referred to the administration as "Capt. Kidd and his band of pirates at Frankfort" and charged the Board of Control with misconduct in the management of the Western Kentucky Insane Asylum.

The Republican committee in the First congressional district yesterday decided not to nominate a candidate, leaving Ollie M. James, the Democratic nominee, a clear field in the race. The Happy faction controlled the meeting.

Frightfully ripped and slashed, the body of Mrs. Annie Moore was found in a room occupied by her in New York. James Moore, who has posed as the woman's husband, was held by the police on suspicion.

The Courier-Journal Tour-of-Europe party spent a part of yesterday at Niagara Falls, and later visited the principal points of interest in Cleveland. They will reach Louisville at noon to-day.

Twenty-one persons were rescued yesterday from the burning steamer Charles A. Eddy by the Detroit and Cleveland Line steamer City of Mackinaw, off Port Sanilac, in Lake Huron.

CLOSES DOORS UNDER PRESSURE

Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia, Fails.

Injudicious Loans of Dead President Responsible.

Suspicion That Frank Hipple Killed Himself.

Was Trustee of Several Large Church Funds.

HAD FALSIFIED HIS REPORTS.

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Unable to meet its obligations because of the large amount of money loaned on insufficient security by its president, now dead, the Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia, which up to last Saturday was considered one of the strongest financial institutions in the city, closed its doors to-day. George H. Earle, Jr., a prominent financier, was appointed receiver.

The liabilities of the company are placed at $10,000,000, against which there are quick assets of about $3,500,000 and collateral of about $8,000,000, which is not negotiable or readily convertible. This doubtful collateral is held mostly as security for loans of about $5,300,000 made to Adolf Segal, a promoter of this city.

The man responsible for the failure was Frank K. Hipple, one of Philadelphia's best-known citizens, who died suddenly last Friday morning in his country home at Bryn Mawr, near here, under circumstances which, in the light of to-day's developments, lead to the suspicion that he may have committed suicide.

* * *

Held Several Church Funds.

Mr. Hipple, in addition to being president of the Real Estate Trust Company, was the treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and of several other church funds, and was a director of the Franklin National Bank. Recently Mr. Hipple's accounts of the Presbyterian Church were examined, and were found to be correct, but it cannot be stated positively to-night whether all the securities of the General Assembly are intact.

Dr. G. H. Roberts, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, was surprised at the news of the failure. In addition to the deposits of the General Assembly, the Real Estate Trust Company also had $25,000 of funds placed there by Dr. Roberts as stated clerk. The Presbyterian Hospital, of Philadelphia, and the Presbyterian Board of Relief, he said, also had sums of money in the failed bank. Dr. Roberts was asked if he could say whether the securities of the General Assembly amounting to $963,896, in Hipple's custody, were intact. He replied: "I have no reason to believe otherwise, but cannot say positively."

"Were these securities in such shape that they might have been hypothecated or transferred?"

"I do not know positively as to that, but I do not think that they were."

Dr. Roberts had known Mr. Hipple for many years, and the failure and its causes, he said, had greatly grieved him.

* * *

Directors Silent.

For the loans to Adolf Segal, Hipple accepted as collateral securities of the Majestic Hotel, a big new apartment operated by Segal; the Swedish Steel Company, of Lancaster, Pa., and the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, of this city. The steel company and the sugar refining concern have never been placed in operation. Segal claims the collateral he gave is good and that he will meet all his obligations. There are others to whom Hipple loaned money on insufficient security, but their names have not been made public and the sums are not believed to be large. How far Hipple benefited in the loans made or whether he is merely the tool of others is yet to be determined.

All the directors are silent on that point and also on the question of whether there will be any criminal prosecutions.

* * *

Reports Falsified.

To hide the true condition of the company and save himself Hipple resorted to the falsification of his reports, which were accepted as true by the directors. He used what the receiver termed a "double system" of making reports. When the State bank examiner called Hipple presented to him good securities to offset the loans made, and when the president made his reports to the directors he would show them a bundle of other securities and other paper and along with these he would exhibit the certificate of the bank examiner, which showed that the accounts the examiner had investigated were correct. The directors, supposing the securities shown them were the same, approved the reports.

Among the directors are: Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the eminent author; John H. Converse, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works and a prominent layman in the Presbyterian church; John F. Betz, millionaire brewer; William A. Patton, assistant to President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania railroad; former Superior Court Judge W. W. Porter, R. Dale Benson, president of the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Company; Joseph deF. Junkins, an attorney; Edward P. Borden, Samuel F. Houston, who is also vice president of the company; former State Senator J. Bayard Henry and Frank C. Roberts.

Action of Directory.

As soon as the directors learned of the sudden death of President Hipple they began an investigation of his affairs and were shocked when they learned the true condition of the company. This was after the close of business Friday. A meeting of the board was hurriedly called and it was decided to instruct the officers of the bank that all deposits received after the opening of business Saturday morning should be set aside and deposited with the Franklin National Bank in the names of the individuals presenting the money. This was done to absolve the directors from criminal proceedings for receiving money after they knew the trust company was insolvent. On Monday more than $160,000 was deposited by patrons of the bank, which was practically offset by withdrawals by persons who had heard rumors of the company's condition. The money deposited since Saturday will, however, lie in the Franklin National Bank until the courts decide whether it should be paid back.

Could Not Avert Crash.

While the depositors were supposedly placing their money with the Real Estate Trust Company, the directors were making strenuous efforts to tide the institution over the difficulty. All day yesterday they worked, but it became apparent shortly after noon to-day that the crash was inevitable. Application papers for a temporary receiver were prepared and left at the office of the trust company, after which the directors went to the meeting of the clearing house association to make a last appeal for help. There were probably fifty bank presidents at the clearing house to meet the directors of the trust company. The latter stated that they needed $7,000,000, but the best the banks could do was to guarantee $3,500,000. This was not enough, and as all other means for getting money had failed, Vice President Houston telephoned to the bank to suspend business and send the receivership papers to court.

Soon after the story was on the street, and caused consternation. Hundreds gathered about the building clamoring for information, and police

RUSSIA TO PROCEED TO SETTLE "PRESSING QUESTIONS."

SYMPATHY FOR STOLYPIN.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 28.—In view of suggestions in the foreign press regarding the coming policy of the Government founded on rumors current here, it is semi-officially stated that it would be a great mistake to suppose that revolutionary terrorism will be met by terrorism by the Government, which always will be able to distinguish between legal opposition and enemies determined to nullify the law, whether by propaganda or by passive resistance. A propaganda has its own means of struggling, whether through the press, or by meeting; but disturbances of order will be prosecuted sternly whatever ideas are professed. The Government has sufficient means, the statement continues, of suppressing illegal acts; but suppressing is not the only aim, the first problem being the preparation of bills to be presented in Parliament for the settlement of pressing questions in a legal manner. The statement concludes as follows:

"Revolutionaries may try to destroy the work of the Government, but finally they must fail, as the Government cannot refrain from the fulfillment of reforms simply because one statesman or another may be replaced."

The Svet continues to advocate a concert of the Powers to suppress anarchy and anarchists.

The funerals of victims of the bomb explosion of Saturday last at the residence of Premier Stolypin were held today under military escort.

Sympathy for Stolypin.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 28.—M. Stolypin has received from the Governments of the United States and all European Powers expressions of sympathy and congratulations on his personal escape. Even the Emperor of Japan has telegraphed his sincere joy that M. Stolypin was not harmed by the explosion.

Terrorism on Increase.

NOT READY FOR DEBATES

Gov. Beckham and Senator McCreary Agree

On Inadvisability of Perfecting Plans Now.

Hold Friendly Chat For Over Two Hours.

CONFER AFTER BRYAN VISIT.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Gov. Beckham and Senator McCreary met here to-day by agreement with the object of arranging times and places and other details of the proposed joint debates between the two candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. The only result, however, was a pleasant conversation between them, some general discussion of the objects of the conference, and an agreement that neither side was sufficiently advised of the details involved in the proposed tour, or sufficiently sure of freedom from prior engagements, or of the effect that such debates might have on some of the close congressional races, to map out the itinerary of the joint debates at present.

It was therefore unanimously concluded to postpone the arrangements for the debate to another conference the time and place of which will be agreed on within the next week or ten days by telegraph or correspondence between the principals.

Gov. Beckham arrived here on the L. and N. train about 11 o'clock, accompanied by Ell H. Brown, of the State Prison Commission. Senator McCreary had already arrived with his two friends, Jerry A. Sullivan, of Richmond, member of the Democratic State Executive Committee, and Virgil McKnight, of Maysville, who is a member of Senator McCreary's Campaign Advisory Committee. Gov. Beckham and Mr. Brown were at once taken to the room of Senator McCreary at the Phoenix Hotel. They were met at the door by the Senator and given a cordial greeting by him and Messrs. Sullivan and McKnight. All other persons were barred from the room, and the conference which lasted for several hours was held.

All On Good Terms.

After the meeting was over the Governor and Senator came out chattering pleasantly and all of the party were evidently on exceedingly good terms with each other. Gov. Beckham and Mr. Brown left almost immediately on the train for Frankfort, while Senator McCreary and his friends proceeded to the restaurant for luncheon. "We agreed," said Senator McCreary, "that owing to the circumstances it would be impossible at present to arrange the schedule for our proposed joint debates, and that therefore we would hold another conference for that purpose at a time and place to be agreed on between us some time in the near future." A similar statement was made by Gov. Beckham before he left, both candidates having agreed that this should be the formal report they would make of the conference.

Reasons for Delay.

From others who were present, however, it was learned that one of the most important reasons for postponing decision was that it was thought advisable that before any selections were made it should be learned what places in the State desired the debates to be held there, and what arrangements could be made for accommodations. It was stated at the conference that at least one Congressional district, the Ninth, did not desire any of the debates to be held there, as it was believed they would cause dissensions in the party of the district where there is a close race for Congress with the Republicans. Another difficulty in reaching a conclusion to-day was that Gov. Beckham and Senator McCreary have engagements for this week and a part of next.

* * *

To Consult Candidates.

It was thought best by both Senator McCreary and Gov. Beckham to wait until after the Southern States' welcome to W. J. Bryan before discussing further the question of the joint debates, and this meeting, which will be attended by Democrats from all over the South, as well as from Kentucky, was one of the most important reasons for postponing a settlement of the question.

Another reason for not reaching an agreement yesterday was that it was thought best to first obtain from the Democratic congressional candidates, in the various districts, expressions as to how the debates would affect their chances. It was thought only fair to the congressional candidates that they should have a chance to express an opinion, as it was feared that the feeling stirred up by the debates might injure the chances of some of the candidates.

It is understood that while no proposition was made to declare the proposed joint debate off the fears which

MAMMOTH STORE FOR LOUISVILLE

Eastern Capitalists Behind Big Business Venture.

Will Erect Building At Cost of $300,000.

Sites On Fourth Avenue Under Consideration.

BUILDING PLANS ACCEPTED.

An enormous department store, to be a worthy competitor of Louisville's present big houses, it is said, will be established on Fourth avenue within the next year. Three sites on Fourth avenue, between Green and Chestnut streets, are now under consideration, and one of them will be purchased in the immediate future unless present plans of the promoters are changed. Alfred Selligman, the attorney, is the local representative of the Eastern capitalists who have arranged the project, but he refuses to give any information further than to confirm the fact of the enterprise.

The three sites being considered have 180 feet or more frontage, and sufficient depth to provide space for an immense building. The owners of the real estate now on the ground have been asked to make terms, and it is said to be likely that the site matter will be cleared up in a few days. The Eastern capitalists, it is known, have arranged to put on the site to be purchased a department building to cost not less than $350,000, and this along with the cost of the ground, and of fitting up the store will result in Louisville's having a new enterprise with at least a million dollars invested.

* * *

Attorney Confirms Story.

Mr. Selligman was asked for details of the project, and said: "So far as you have obtained the facts from other sources you are welcome to them. I decline to give any details, but I am at liberty to confirm your story that such a project is afoot."

So far as is known no Louisville capital is to be interested in the store. It will come entirely from Eastern sources, and the men interested have gone so far as to prepare plans for their building. Their reason for this is a desire to be able to go immediately to work on the building when they close negotiations for the site. They now have big stores in New York and Philadelphia, and Louisville was chosen over all other cities as a place for developing trade in this section.

Several months ago a commissioner came to Louisville to investigate the possibilities of the local field and, if pleased, to make preliminary plans. His conclusions were favorable, and the decision of the promoters to enter Louisville was reached not long afterward. They have since been quietly at work and one result was an arrangement with Mr. Selligman to attend to certain of the preliminary arrangements. The representative who came from the East to investigate reached conclusions highly flattering to Louisville. He stated that Louisville is the best retail city outside of New York in the whole country, barring Pittsburg. He based his opinion on a thorough research into the situation, and one fact that entered into his conclusion was factory conditions locally. The employes, he said, are paid only average wages, but they get more work in a year's time than in most other cities. This enables them to buy more clothes and to provide more for their families. There are fewer disturbances coming up involving the working classes and preventing them from buying necessities as they need them, he said.

Louisville's Advantages.

Another conclusion he reached is that Louisville people, taken collectively, dress better than the people of any other city, this applying to the average of all classes. There are fewer extravagant dressers and fewer scanty dressers and more simple, neat dressers. All these things, the representative said, are taken into consideration by his employers in their extension of their stores. He said in a general way, that Louisville is having the best and steadiest growth of any city in the country, which made the backers of the department store think it a good time to enter the local field.

The new store will be fashioned after large, modern Eastern houses, and will be equipped, it is said, with every line of goods. An effort has been made to keep the site negotiations secret, but they have leaked out in the last few days. The men behind the project also are unwilling to give their plans for the building, preferring first to make all arrangements as to site, etc., but it is known that the complete plans for the building have been practically accepted.

TELLS NEW STORY.

NELLIE RAINEY AGAIN UNDER CROSS FIRE.

Prosecution at Bedford Still Trying to Clear Schafer Murder.

Bedford, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Nellie Rainey and her father, James Rainey, came down from Heltonville to-day, and the girl submitted to another ordeal of questions from Prosecuting Attorney Fletcher. Just what the result of the examination was the prosecutor refuses to say, but one thing is certain, it was a different tale from any she has told heretofore. The girl was not placed under oath and it is doubtful whether the story is given full credit, but it has an important bearing on the Schafer case. Prosecutor Fletcher says he intends to do his duty fully in the matter, and sift the case to the bottom, regardless of any adverse criticism that may be made for political or other reason.

WILL RUN AS INDEPENDENT

Hearst Does Not Want Democratic Nomination.

Says In Interview He Would Not Accept It.

Takes Another Whack At Jerome and Murphy.

NOT AT OUTS WITH BRYAN.

New York, Aug. 28.—William Randolph Hearst said to-day in the course of an interview that he would not be a candidate for Governor of New York at the next election on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Hearst was asked: "Would you accept the nomination of the Democrats to run for Governor?"

Mr. Hearst replied: "No, I shall run only as the nominee of the Independence League. I have said that before, and I wish to emphasize it. Of course, I should be glad of all the Democratic votes that I could get."

"What do you think of the candidacy of Mr. Jerome for the office of Governor of New York?" he was asked.

"I think Jerome is doing what he is told to do by the representatives of the interests which contributed to his last campaign fund and to which he is under obligation," was the reply.

"The object of the men who control Jerome is to create a diversion so that there will not be a crystalization of public sentiment as to the real issue. The real issue, as I see it, is politics without boss control through corrupt forces. The question is whether the people shall control politics independent of the dictation of corporations coming through criminal bosses."

Jerome's Candidacy Insincere.

"It seems to me that Mr. Jerome's course shows plainly that he is more anxious to satisfy the bosses than he is to serve the people. I think his candidacy is insincere as well as somewhat foolish."

"Do you think it possible that Mr. Jerome will be nominated for Governor by the Democrats?"

"If Ryan and Belmont control the Democratic convention, I consider it not only possible but probably that Mr. Jerome will be the Democratic nominee."

Mr. Hearst was then asked concerning the statements of C. F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, to the effect that Mr. Murphy was suporting him.

"I do not believe Murphy is supporting me now," said Mr. Hearst, "nor do I believe that he would support me at any critical point. It has amused me greatly when such men as Murphy, McCarren and Sullivan have come out as my supporters. They have not meant what they said.

"The object of these bosses in saying that they were supporting me has been, I believe, to affect primary voting and to confuse men who are really on my side. The primary principle of the Independence League of which I am a member, is the destruction of bosses and bossism, and I cannot see how such men as Murphy can really be out for my support."

* * *

"Is there any truth in the report, Mr. Hearst, that there is a coolness between you and Mr. Bryan because of the fact that you may be a presidential candidate in 1908?"

Mr. Hearst laughed. "Not the slightest truth," he said.

"The secret of my attitude toward the Bryan reception can be explained very simply," continued Mr. Hearst. "I am a member of the Independence League, which represents both Democrats and Republicans. I felt that officially I should take no part in this Bryan matter. I felt that it might not be proper to take official action which could ally the League with the Bryan movement.

"I will say, however, that I intend to pay a visit to Mr. Bryan in my private capacity and also to attend the meeting. I will do this on the ground that I am a free American who can do as he pleases. As to the story that there is a coolness between myself and Mr. Bryan, I will say there is none unless Mr. Bryan has changed his mind since he left Europe. I will go further and say that he sent me a letter of congratulation on my run for the Mayoralty, and if there is a coolness it began since the date of that letter."

John B. Stanchefild, who was the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1900, declared to-day that Hearst would be nominated by the Buffalo convention if the New York county delegation should be for him.

HUGHES IN ENGLAND.

Says He Knows Nothing of Political Situation.

New York, Aug. 28.—A cable dispatch to a morning paper from Leamington, England, says:

Charles E. Hughes, of New York, who was the attorney for the Armstrong Insurance Investigating Company, has been spending several days in the vicinity of this watering place, and was sufficiently interested in the New York political situation to ask about all the various gubernatorial candidates:

"Everybody knows that I am not a candidate," said Mr. Hughes, "and I have had no communication with anybody in New York on any political subject since I left home.

"No, I have not sent any message of any sort to Benj. Odell, Gov. Higgins or anybody else."

When pressed to say whether he would be a candidate for the nomination against Higgins or would run against Jerome, Mr. Hughes replied:

"I am not going to set up any hypothesis and discuss it."

In answer to further questions, Mr. Hughes said he had discussed the situation with friends before leaving New York, but did not know now who the candidates were, and could not intelligently comment on the situation. He intended to look into the matter when he arrived home and make whatever statement he had to make in New York. He repeated: "I have given no assurance of any kind to anybody."

Mr. Hughes is in vigorous health as the result of his holiday.

"We have been getting a good rest," he said, "have thoroughly enjoyed our vacation and know nothing whatever about the political situation."

SEE GREATEST WONDER IN HOME COUNTRY

THE COURIER-JOURNAL PARTY THINK NIAGARA FALLS

SURPASSES ANYTHING SEEN IN OLD EUROPE.

REACH LOUISVILLE TO-DAY.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A fitting climax for the Courier-Journal's Tour to Europe was the stop of three hours at Niagara Falls this morning. The members of the party realized that there is something greater and grander at home than anything seen abroad. All were wildly enthusiastic over the magnificence of the falls, and all regretted that more time could not be spent there.

Niagara was reached about 8 o'clock, and after breakfast carriages were taken for the sight-seeing tour. The ride was two hours' long. At 11:30 the special car was boarded for Buffalo, where lunch was taken at 1 o'clock. A change in the schedule was made here, and the party left for Cleveland at 1:30, arriving at 5 instead of 6:50.

This gave time for sight-seeing in Cleveland and a ride out Euclid avenue was taken. Dinner was served at the New York Central dining-room at 7, and at 9:30 the Big Four was boarded for Cincinnati. The party will reach Cincinnati at 6:50, and after breakfast will take the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, leaving at 8:20 for home.

Louisville will be reached at 11:50 Wednesday morning. All the young women are anxious to get back to the Old Kentucky Home.

George Kast and sister, Miss Ida, and Miss Mary Mousty, remained in New York. They will reach Louisville Monday.

CLEAR FIELD FOR BIG OLLIE JAMES

REPUBLICANS DECLINE TO PUT UP CANDIDATE.

NO ONE WILLING TO RUN IN FIRST DISTRICT.

HAPPY FACTION HAS CONTROL.

Princeton, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—According to a call of District Chairman W. J. Deboe, of Marion, the Republican Congressional Committee of the First District met in this city this afternoon and decided not to place a nominee on the ticket to oppose the Hon. Ollie James, the Democratic nominee for Congress. An exciting contest was expected between the Fisher-Speight faction and the Deboe-Happy faction, of the party, but owing to the fact that the latter faction was so completely in control no fight was made, and as was the desire of Senator Deboe and J. H. Happy no nomination was made. Postmaster F. M. Fisher, of Paducah, in opposition to the "old line" organization, seemed confident of securing control, but it was quite plain that J. H. Happy had secured the required number of votes in the committee to give him absolute control.

The county of Caldwell was represented by Frank U. Harriss, of this city; H. A. Haynes, Crittenden; G. P. Thomas, Trigg; J. H. Ford, Marshall; F. M. Fisher, McCracken; Dr. C. H. Linn, Lyon. The remainder of the counties were represented by proxies.

ANSEL IN LEAD

IN GOVERNOR'S RACE IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Election Would Mean Defeat for Senator Tillman's Dispensary System.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 28.—Scattering returns from to-day's primary indicate that M. F. Ansel will lead the ticket for Governor, with Richard I. Manning and Cole L. Blease close together for the second place.

For Attorney General J. Fraser Lyon has a large lead over opponents. R. M. McCown, for Secretary of State, and J. C. Boyd, for Adjutant General, will probably be elected on the first ballot. J. H. Wharton and J. A. Summerset, will probably run over for Railroad Commissioner.

Other State officers have no opposition. The election of Ansel and Lyon means defeat for the State dispensary and Senator Tillman. Tillman has no opposition, but is being largely scratched.

SALOONS MUST NOT OPEN

In Spite of M. P. A.'s Order To Contrary.

Effort To Sell Soft Drinks On Sunday

Trifling With Law, Says Chairman Smith.

ARRESTS WILL BE MADE.

If the saloonkeepers of Louisville open their places of business next Sunday afternoon to sell soft drinks and cigars as it has been announced they contemplate doing, they will find themselves involved in an entanglement with the Board of Public Safety, according to the chairman, James B. Smith. The announcement of the programme of the saloons was made yesterday by J. C. Boardman, chairman of the Liquor Dealers' Mutual Protective Association, following a meeting of the Executive Committee of the association which was held on Monday afternoon. It was received with general interest and brought from Mr. Smith the announcement that the board would enforce the Sunday-closing laws against saloons whether they were opened for the sale of intoxicating liquors or not.

The various members of the association were notified of the decision reached by the committee in a communication which included resolutions adopted by the committee. The notice follows:

* * *

Notice to Saloonkeepers.

"The Mutual Protective Association.—Office of the President.—Louisville, Aug. 28, 1906.—Whereas, The members of this association are engaged in the business of selling tobacco and cigars and divers and sundry liquors that are not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors and are not intoxicating, and

"Whereas, The executive department of the State and city government has decided that the sale of these articles is not a violation of Section 1,321 of the Kentucky Statutes, and all other dealers engaged in the sale of said articles are keeping open their places of business for the sale thereof on Sunday; therefore,

"Be it Resolved, That the members of this association are instructed that they can keep their places of business open on Sunday for the sale of said articles without the violation of any law, but the members of this association are instructed that under no circumstances shall they, on Sunday, keep open their places of business for the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, nor shall they sell on a Sunday any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors; and

"Be it further Resolved, That for the sale of nonintoxicating liquors—that is, liquors that are not spirituous, vinous or malt—and for the sale of cigars and tobacco, the members of this association shall keep open their respective places of business from and after 1 o'clock p. m., on Sunday, but that the said business, even for the sale of said articles, shall not be open from 12 o'clock Saturday night until 1 o'clock p. m. on Sunday afternoon."

"THE MUTUAL PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

"J. C. BOARDMAN, President."

* * *

Want Place to Loaf.

The Sunday-closing laws, it was said yesterday, were discussed at length at the meeting of the committee, which was kept a secret until yesterday, and the attorneys of the association advised the programme outlined in the resolution. It is a contention of the saloon men that druggists have liquor licenses and that they keep open on Sundays to sell soft drinks and that the same privileges should be extended to the saloonkeepers.

"What we want most of all," said Mr. Boardman yesterday afternoon, "is that the saloonkeepers can have a place to loaf. The sale of soft drinks amounts to very little in any saloon at any time and we do not expect to profit financially. The saloonkeeper has been accustomed to spend the most of his time in his saloon. It is his clubroom. Any saloonkeeper who sells intoxicating liquors does so at his own risk and against our advice."

* * *

Must Keep Saloons Closed.

James B. Smith, president of the Board of Public Safety, said in regard to the announcement that the saloon men intended to open their places of businesses to sell soft drinks and cigars next Sunday:

"The law in regard to the regulation of the saloon business is very plain. In fact, it is so plain that the saloon men had better not try to fool with it, especially if they have education enough to read it or understand enough to hear it when it is read. The law does not only say that a saloonkeeper shall not sell intoxicating drinks on Sunday, but it spefically says that the saloon shall not be opened on Sunday. Cigars and soft drinks are side issues with a saloon and are naturally not contemplated under the law, and if a saloonkeeper wants to sell soft drinks and cigars on Sunday he had better move out on the street or go rent him another house.

Foolishness to Trifle With Law.

"The Board of Public Safety will see that the law in regard to the opening of saloons on Sunday is strictly enforced. The law is specific and we know our duty and we intend to do it. It is mere foolishness for a saloonkeeper to try or attempt to class his business with that of a drug store or any other kind of business. When he does it is at a great risk."

DECLARE COX THE NOMINEE

Democratic State Committee Ends Row

In Third Indiana Congressional District.

W. T. Zenor May Not Accept Decision.

NOT PRESENT AT MEETING.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Democratic State Central Committee met here to-day for the purpose of considering the situation in the Third congressional district, where W. E. Cox, of Jasper, and Congressman W. T. Zenor are both claiming the nomination for Congress, and after a short conference unanimously declared Cox the nominee.

Mr. Zenor was not present either in person or by proxy, and it is generally understood that he will not accept the committee's action as final. The chief advantage to be derived by Cox is that his name will go on the official ballot under the party emblem, and if Zenor desires to run he will have to do so by petition and as an independent candidate. Friends of Mr. Zenor said that he denies that the State Central Committee has power to decide between him and Cox, for it is a matter wholly within the jurisdiction of the district and cannot be settled outside of it.

* * *

The committee did not find the question a difficult one to decide. The members were fully informed as to the situation before coming here, and the action to-day was merely an official ratification of views that they have held for some time. The members, however, had hoped that Cox and Zenor would be able to reach some kind of an understanding as to a mode of settlement, and if this had been accomplished there would have been no necessity for the committee acting.

Having failed to reach an agreement, the committee argued, it was not its province to say who was to blame for such a miscarriage, but its duty to decide upon the rights of the candidates and then issue an appeal to the voters of the district to support the man whom they believed to be the nominee.

Perhaps the most distinctive thing about the decision was the fact that all the members of the committee spoke in praise of Congressman Zenor and his record in Congress. There was not a word of abuse of him or criticism of his course, and when a formal statement of the case is presented to the voters of the district it will not be in the spirit of censure of Zenor nor of praise of Cox, but merely the statement of a fact, and that fact that Cox is the nominee of the party under rules regularly adopted for the nomination of candidates, and that it is the duty of Democrats to recognize him as such and give him their loyal support.

While none of the members would give an expression on the subject, it seemed to be the opinion that Zenor would not accept the committee's verdict, but would carry the contest into the election, regardless of risk to the congressional and county tickets. A number of Republicans were interested loungers at the hotel and heard the decision with pleasure. They believe there is an opening for a Republican in the district as the situation now stands, and are anxious that it shall remain unchanged.

Official Statement.

The official statement of the committee's action is as follows:

At a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee of Indiana, held at Indianapolis on Tuesday, August 28, 1906, among other proceedings were the following:

A difference existing as to the nominee of the Democratic party for Representative in Congress from the Third district of Indiana, William F. Cox and William T. Zenor, of said district, each claiming to have been nominated for that office, local efforts to settle the difference having failed and a direct appeal made to this committee under the provisions of Rule XIV. of this committee, the chairman duly notified said William F. Cox and William T. Zenor to appear before the committee at this time for the purpose of having the difference settled and final decision made as to who is the regular nominee of the Democratic party for Congress in that district, and the day and hour of hearing said contest in accordance with said notice having arrived, and the said William T. Zenor having duly acknowledged in writing service of said notice, which writing is in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

"August 24, 1906.—Hon. William H. O'Brien, Lawrenceburg, Ind.—Dear Sir: I have your favor of the 21st and have considered the contents thereof.

"Believing that the Democratic State Central Committee has no jurisdiction in the premises, I respectfully decline to appear before it on Tuesday, August 28, at 10 o'clock a. m. With kind regards, I remain, yours respectfully,

"WM. T. ZENOR."

And the said William F. Cox being present in person and by his attorneys, and the committee having heard the evidence in the said contest, finds as follows:

First—That the facts set out in the petition of William F. Cox, filed in this contest, are true, which said petition is in words and figures as follows:

"To the Honorable, the Democratic State Central Committee of the State of Indiana—Gentlemen: The undersigned respectfully shows that he is a lifelong member of the Democratic party and possesses all the qualifications required by the Constitution of the United States for a member of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

"That at a district convention of the Democratic party of the Third Congressional district of the State of Indiana, duly and regularly called, and held at Jeffersonville on May 5, 1906, he was regularly nominated as the Democratic candidate for Congress for the Third congressional district of Indiana.

"That at said convention he received the votes from the majority of all of the delegates to said convention, as he had already received a majority of the votes of all of the electors who voted at the primary elections of the Democratic party in said district.

"He further shows that one William T. Zenor, who was the choice of the minority of the delegates in said convention, claims and pretends to have been nominated as the candidate of the Democratic party for Congress from said district, and that said Zenor is asserting his right to have his name placed upon the official ballot of the various counties of said district as a candidate of the Democratic party, and is threatening to file with the Clerks of said counties pretended certificates of nomination, and to procure if possible the Boards of Election Commissioners of each of the said counties to place and print upon the official ballot to be voted for at the next general election, the name of said William T. Zenor as a Democratic candidate for Congress.

"Your petitioner further represents that this conduct and proposed action of said William T. Zenor not only tends to injure and embarrass the canvass of the petitioner as the legal candidate of the Democratic party, but is causing confusion, disaffection and harm to the Democratic party of said district, and will injuriously affect each and every nominee of the Democratic party to be voted for in said district at the next general election.

"He, therefore, prays that you forthwith fix a time and place for the hearing of this matter; that said William T. Zenor be notified to be present, and upon said hearing your committee declare the petitioner to be duly nominated and legal candidate for Congress of the Democratic party of the Third congressional district of the State of Indiana, and take such further action in the premises as the committee shall deem proper and necessary. Respectfully,

Second—That on May 5, 1906, the regular Democratic district convention of the Third congressional district of Indiana was held in Speith's Hall, in Jeffersonville, Ind., for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Congress in said district. That the said convention was regularly called to order by Mark Storen, chairman of the said Third Congressional District Committee, and the Committee on Credentials were regularly appointed, and said committee, having heard all contests and made its report to said convention, which report duly stated what delegates were entitled to seats in said convention, and said convention having duly approved and adopted said report, said convention thereafter regularly proceeded to nominate a Democratic candidate for Congress in said district.

Third—That the regular district Democratic convention of the Third congressional district of Indiana having been duly organized as aforesaid, with the Hon. Perry McCart, of Orange county, as chairman, and the Hon. Louis Zoercher, of Perry county, as secretary thereof, and said committee having duly passed on the credentials of the delegates thereto, and William E. Cox having received the majority of the votes of all of the delegates to said convention was thereupon declared by said convention to be the regular Democratic nominee of the Democratic party of said district for Congress.

That said William E. Cox was thereupon duly declared nominated for Congress, and he thereupon accepted the nomination.

CONCLUSION.

Therefore, the Democratic State Central Committee declares and adjudges that William E. Cox, of the county of Dubois, is the regular nominee of the Democratic party of the Third congressional district of Indiana for Representative in Congress. It is, therefore, ordered by said committee that William E. Cox be, and he is, hereby declared to have been regularly nominated as candidate of the Democratic party for Representative in Congress from the Third district of Indiana, to be voted for at the election to be held on November 6, 1906; and that he and he alone is entitled to be so recognized and supported by every Democratic organization and voter of said congressional district; and that his name be placed upon the official ballot at said election under the emblem and name of the Democratic party.

"CAPT. KIDD AND CREW AT FRANKFORT."

WAY N. B. HAYS DESIGNATES THE ADMINISTRATION.

ATTACKS CONDUCT OF WESTERN INSANE ASYLUM.

METHOD OF BUYING SUPPLIES.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.] Attorney General Napoleon B. Hays spoke at the courthouse this afternoon in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. When he arrived at 10 o'clock this morning he was met at the depot by a brass band and a number of his local supporters, who escorted him to Hotel Latham. He was introduced to a good-sized audience by former Congressman John D. Clardy, who took the occasion to say that the present Governor was administering the affairs of the State in the interest of one individual, himself, and a few of his favorites, and that his appointments of officials had been made not with regard to their qualifications but with a view to use them in his race for United States Senator.

Gen. Hays spoke nearly two hours. It followed closely the lines of his Bowling Green speech. He referred at some length to the administration of the Western Asylum, under the State Board of Control. He said that the farmers of Christian county could not sell a dozen eggs or a pound of butter to the institution without pledging their support to Beckham, but if they would work the machine they could get twenty cents a dozen for eggs even if they would be willing to take fifteen cents. He said that the machine was "oiling" some of the Christian county farmers now by buying some of their products because of the approaching primary, but that heretofore they had been forcing the unfortunate inmates of the asylum to eat the stuff manufactured by the food trusts, which recent revelations had shown to be horrible.

The machine had forced, he said, the farmers to sell their cattle to Swift at the lowest price possible and had bought them back at high price. What does Haly know, he asked, about the proper care and treatment of the asylum inmates?

Gen. Hays' speech was principally an assault on Gov. Beckham and political methods. He said that the Chief Executive was posing as a person of royal blood and as vastly superior to everybody else. He urged his own supporters to have representatives at every poll to see that an honest election was held, because "a political Capt. Kidd and his pirate crew at Frankfort" were preparing to operate the State primary and "Christian county is one of the counties they expect to try to steal."

GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP

No Medicine so Beneficial to Brain and Nerves.

Lying awake nights makes it hard to keep awake and do things in day time. To take "tonics and stimulants" under such circumstances is like setting the house on fire to see if you can put it out.

The right kind of food promotes refreshing sleep at night and a wide awake individual during the day.

A lady changed from her old way of eating, to Grape-Nuts, and says:

"For about three years I had been a great sufferer from indigestion. After trying several kinds of medicine, the doctor would ask me to drop off potatoes, then meat, and so on, but in a few days that craving, gnawing feeling would start up, and I would vomit everything I ate and drank.

"When I started on Grape-Nuts, vomiting stopped, and the bloating feeling which was so distressing disappeared entirely.

"My mother was very much bothered with diarrhea before commencing the Grape-Nuts, because her stomach was so weak she could not digest her food. Since using Grape-Nuts she is well, and says she don't think she could live without it.

"It is a great brain restorer and nerve builder, for I can sleep as sound and undisturbed after a supper of Grape-Nuts as in the old days when I could not realize what they meant by a 'bad stomach.' There is no medicine so beneficial to nerves and brain as a good night's sleep, such as you can enjoy after eating Grape-Nuts."

OPENING DAY

Largest in History of Shelby County Fair.

FINE DISPLAY OF STOCK AND FANCY WORK.

WOMEN PREDOMINATE IN BIG CROWD.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB'S SPECIAL.

Shelbyville, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—To-day's was by far the most auspicious opening in the forty-six years' history of the Shelby county fair. The day opened clear and cool, ideal weather for a county fair, and early in the morning the travel began to the fair grounds. The first day being ladies' and children's day, the fair sex largely predominated in the crowd of five thousand people in attendance.

The awards were made in floral hall to-day, the premiums being hotly contested in nearly every department of women's work, garden and field products and poultry. Every stable on the grounds is filled with show stock, and the town is rapidly filling up with visitors. Elaborate preparations are being made to entertain the members of the Louisville Automobile Club to-morrow when the $150 silver loving cup, presented by the members of that club, is awarded for the best fancy buggy gelding or mare. Several other hotly contested rings will be pulled off to-morrow that are attracting considerable attention from the horsemen here, at the fair. Thursday, which will be Louisville and State Fair day, will be by far the banner day of this year's exhibition, and many of the good things are being held for that day. Arrangements are being made to look after a crowd of any size from Louisville and Shelbyville, and the fair grounds will practically be turned over to the city cousins upon their arrival.

SHARPSBURG'S ELECTRIC LINE.

Part of Right of Way Donated and Project Looks Certain.

Sharpsburg, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Twenty of the leading citizens of this town attended a meeting at North Middletown, Bourbon county, this afternoon, in the interest of the proposed electric line from Lexington to Sharpsburg. Quite a number of leading citizens and capitalists of Lexington were present, and the meeting aroused much enthusiasm amongst those who are pushing the project. The proposed line will pass through Clintonville and North Middletown and traverse a section which is as rich as any part of Kentucky, and which is without a railroad of any kind. Surveys of a part of the proposed line have already been made, and those who have examined the project with the greatest care are convinced that it would be a reasonably cheap road to build and a profitable line to operate. Waller Sharp, who owns all the land between the town limits and Bourbon county, has donated the right of way.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Man Said to Have Been Killed in Family Fight.

Campton, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Walter Oliver, Deputy Sheriff of this county, last night arrested John Pence at the residence of his father, on Holl creek, this county, charging him with the murder of Wm. Pence, a preacher. Last January several of the Pences were returning from church, when they became involved in a difficulty, and a free-for-all fight was had, in which several of the parties were wounded, William Pence being hit in the side with a club. He died last Friday night from the effect of the blow, it is claimed. A warrant was sworn out for the defendant charging him with murder.

TO PREVENT LYNCHING.

Negro Accused of Attempted Assault Taken Away.

Monticello, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Sipha Fairchild this afternoon identified Perry Copenhaver, a negro, in a crowd of negroes lined up in the jail as the man who attempted to assault her last Thursday. Many persons were in town from the neighborhood of the crime, and the feeling was so bitter that Judge Kennedy placed Copenhaver under strong guard, slipped him out a back street and hurried him to Somerset for safekeeping. Good order prevailed and good citizens approved the course of the authorities as the only way to prevent a lynching to-night.

Disturbs Court With Pistol.

Campton, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—This evening while J. M. Lovelace, a Justice of the Peace of this county, was holding court at Flat Clay Banks, of Wolfe county, rode up in front of the house and began discharging his pistol. Walter Oliver, a Deputy Sheriff, went out to see what was the cause of the disturbance and when he reached the door Banks turned his pistol and opened fire on the officer. The fire was returned. The officer procured a horse and went in pursuit, and after a chase of about one mile overtook Banks, who was under the influence of liquor, asleep on his horse. The deputy arrested him and lodged him in jail at this place.

Mr. Raimer is fifty-four while Ricket is about thirty-five.

UNION LABOR BOYCOTT DEALT HEAVY BLOW

DECISION AGAINST BOSS BAKERS IN WISCONSIN COURT.

ENJOINED FROM USING THE "UNFAIR LIST."

BIG DAMAGES ASSESSED.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 28.—Union labor was dealt a heavy blow by a decision of Circuit Judge Chester A. Fowler, in the boycott suit for $25,000 damages brought by a baker, Otto B. Schultz, against the Trades Labor Council, Benjamin Bressen and others. The decision holds the contract exacted by the union men from the boss bakers, by means of which the workmen sought to enforce the closed shop as illegal; the Trades Council and the individual members are enjoined from using the "unfair list;" the boycott is declared an actionable conspiracy to accomplish a criminal or unlawful purpose; Baker Schultz is allowed to recover damages of $2,500 for the loss of profits from the time of the commencement of the boycotting acts up to the time of the trial and $3,500 in damages for the amount of injury to his business and property in relation to its selling value. The decision in part is as follows:

No complaint was or has ever been made of his being harsh or oppressive with his help in the matter of hours, wages or conditions of work. The contract was not presented to him with the purpose or object of obviating or correcting any evils or abuses or improving any labor conditions obtaining in his shop.

All boss bakers of the city signed this agreement except the plaintiff, who has steadfastly refused to do so. Upon the plaintiff refusing to sign concerted attack on his business was begun by organized labor with the object and purpose of compelling him, against his will, to sign the contract, and has been maintained with more or less vigor up to the present time.

The plaintiff has suffered a permanent and all but destructive injury to his business, which has been caused by the combined acts and the attitude of organized labor above mentioned. Are the injuries so caused such as the courts furnish any remedy for?

An injury to one's honest business and trade is on the same footing as an injury to his tangible property and the law furnishes a remedy for one as well as the other. Of course, it is not every injury which one suffers from the acts of others that the law gives a remedy for. Whenever one suffers an injury as a result of a legal wrong inflicted by others the law furnishes a remedy.

The acts complained of are, in my view, plainly in violation of Section 466 A, Wisconsin statutes of 1898, as construed by the Supreme Court. This statute makes any two or more persons who shall combine, associate, mutually undertake or concert together for the purpose of willfully or maliciously injuring another's trade or business by any means whatsoever, or for the purpose of maliciously compelling another to do or perform any act against his will, guilty of an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment.

This contract was in itself an illegal contract in that it would by its terms obligate the plaintiff to employ only union labor only as distinguished from non-union labor; it would obligate him to maintain a "closed" as distinguished from an "open" shop.

OVER 1,000

Expected To Attend Shelbyville Fair From Louisville.

SPECIAL TRAINS WILL BE RUN OVER TWO ROADS.

CARNIVAL GROUNDS NAME CONTEST CLOSES TO-DAY.

TICKETS ARE SELLING WELL.

Convinced that over 1,000 and probable 1,500 people will leave Louisville to-morrow for Shelbyville to attend Louisville and State Fair day at the Shelby County Fair, the railroads yesterday agreed to reduce the fare previously announced for the excursion and to make the rate $1 for the round trip. In addition, the L. and N. railroad has put on a special train, which will leave the First-street station at 9:30 o'clock and which has been named the Board of Trade special. The special will leave Shelbyville returning at 5 o'clock.

Preparations have been made by the management of the Shelby County Fair to entertain the visiting delegates. A committee of prominent citizens will meet the Louisville visitors at the railroad station, but it is not expected that there will be any formal programme or lengthy speeches, though after a brief greeting visitors will be escorted to the Fair Grounds, where they will spend the day watching the show rings of cattle and horses. The programme for Thursday is the best of the week, and it is expected to prove the banner day at the Shelbyville Fair.

The excursion to Shelbyville is the means taken by the business men of Louisville to show their interest in the surrounding counties, and none has a greater claim upon the friendship and good will of the metropolis of the State than Shelby.

The Louisville delegation will be headed by a number of directors of the several commercial organizations of the city, Mayor Paul C. Barth and a number of the city and county officials, including large numbers of the Boards of Aldermen and Councilmen. Both wholesale and retail interests will be represented.

Contest Closes To-Day.

The contest for the name to be given to the carnival grounds at the Kentucky State Fair will close promptly at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and all suggestions received after that time will not be considered by the committee which will immediately go into session, and, if possible, make the award before 6 o'clock in the afternoon. In order that there can be no semblance of partiality, it has been decided to make a list of all the suggestions submitted, arranging them in alphabetical order, and the committee will not know until after their decision is made whose suggestion they have adopted. Letters containing suggestions poured in yesterday at the State Fair headquarters. About twice as many were received as on Monday, and the committee will have a list of several thousand names to select from in making the award.

Tickets Selling Rapidly.

The sale of season tickets is progressing successfully under the direction of George L. Danforth, chairman of the Ticket Committee. Mr. Danforth has had frequent calls over the phone lately from persons who have not yet been visited by the canvassing committees, but who want to buy tickets and do not know whom to approach. In order that no one will lose an opportunity to buy a season ticket it has been decided to place tickets on sale at the office of the State Fair in the Commercial Club building at Fourth and Main streets. The tickets are good for admission either during the day or in the evening and cost $2 for the six days.

Of this number 400 cases are civil appearances, seventy are on the criminal docket and seventeen on the argument dockets. The Eddy was destroyed.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Surgeon General P. M. Rixey reached New York yesterday on his return from Europe.

Vice President Fairbanks has been invited to speak at a Republican rally in Kansas City September 8.

The remains of Admiral C. J. Train, U. S. N., who died on August 4 while in command of the Asiatic fleet in China, arrived in Annapolis yesterday, accompanied by the son of the dead officer. The body will be interred in the Naval Academy cemetery to-day with the usual military honors.

Shall naval officers be taught esperanto, the universal language? The naval academy board is considering a letter of William Baff of Worcester, Mass., who says that with a daily lesson of one hour for a period of five months, the midshipmen at Annapolis, would readily acquire a complete knowledge of esperanto and would be able to read, write and speak it fluently.

It is expected that very soon after the review of the Atlantic fleet by President Roosevelt, the squadron of cruisers under Rear Admiral Brownson will sail for the Asiatic station by way of Europe and the Suez canal. These cruisers consist of the West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Colorado and Maryland.

G. Jarvis Bowens has resigned as American Consul at Guadaloupe, French West Indies. He left the service shortly after the rioting in Guadaloupe, which caused him to send alarming reports to the State Department about the dangers which threatened American interests in Guadaloupe.

Tuesday's statement of the Treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve, shows: Available cash balance, $189,456,667; gold coin and bullion, $111,310,967; gold certificates, $46,156,280.

many Democrats are said to feel of the bitterness which may arise in such debate extending to the rank and file and tending to promote dissensions in the party was undoubtedly brought to the attention of the two candidates and was probably an influence in deciding a postponement of definite plans for the debate until the advice of other Democratic leaders had been heard.

Virgil McKnight, one of the most prominent Democrats of Eastern Kentucky, and who represented Mason county in the last Legislature, after the conference which he had attended, openly expressed his doubt of the advisability of the debates being held.

* * *

Ninth Doesn't Want Any.

"The Ninth congressional district certainly does not want any of the debates held there," said he. "Congressman Bennett, who is the Republican nominee for re-election, is much weaker in the district than he has ever been before, and if the Democrats will lay aside all differences within the party they will have a splendid chance of beating Bennett this fall. I believe if J. N. Kehoe is nominated by the Democrats, he will be almost sure to be elected."

It is said that Mr. Kehoe may be the nominee and that he would accept.

It is said that other close congressional districts have made similar reports, and while the probability is that the debates will be held, a number of prominent Democrats here believe that there is a possibility that the proposition to hold the joint debates will be dropped, and that if another conference is held it will simply be to announce that such a decision has been reached by mutual agreement.

Senator McCreary stated this afternoon that he had mapped out a very active itinerary for this week and part of next. He intended to visit Trimble county and to attend the Democratic congressional convention at Maysville, both the Nicholasville and Shelbyville fairs and to speak in Lexington next Monday, Labor day, by special invitation. Gov. Beckham has a number of similar campaign engagements for this period.

FRIGHTFUL CRIME SHOCKS GAY GOTHAM

WOMAN MURDERED AND BODY HORRIBLY MUTILATED.

WORK OF JACK THE RIPPER DUPLICATED.

SUSPECT NOTIFIED POLICE.

New York, Aug. 28.—A woman known as Mrs. Annie Moore, was found murdered early to-day in a furnished room at 6 Second street. She had been horribly ripped and slashed. One gash had severed the jugular vein in the left side of the throat, another had almost severed the windpipe, the breast was badly slashed and a deep knife thrust had ripped open the body, disemboweling it. No weapon was found, and there were few blood marks around the room.

James Moore, who had posed as the woman's husband, was held by the police on suspicion. It was he who notified the police of the murder. He ran up to two detectives at Second street and the Bowery at 2 o'clock this morning and told them he had just gone to his home and thought his sister-in-law was dead. The police hurried to the house and began to investigate the crime.

Moore told the police he and the woman had been living together for seven years. The woman, he said, was the widow of his brother, who died ten years ago. No one in the house could be found who had heard any sounds as if a struggle was taking place. Herman von Kohlen, who has an adjoining room, was aroused by the police, and said he had been in bed since 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and had heard no noises whatever.

The dead woman was fifty years old. The horrible wounds found on the woman's body recalled at once to the minds of the officers and doctors who were called the "Jack the Ripper" murders some years ago. A hurried investigation by the police showed no signs of a struggle and the police concluded that the woman had been attacked in her sleep. On a pillow which lay across her face was the imprint of a bloody hand. The victim's hands were clean, so that the police believe the mark must have been left by the murderer. Moore maintains that he is innocent. He told the police that he left the house in Second street at 7 o'clock last night and went to a Bowery saloon, where he remained until 1 o'clock this morning. Police inquiries at the saloon developed the information that Moore had been there until just before 10 o'clock, when he left. Lodgers in the Second-street house told the police that Moore returned home about 10 o'clock and that he did not go out again afterward. The murdered woman, before her marriage to the prisoner's brother, was Annie Fitch. After her husband's death she went rapidly down the scale of life. Moore, the prisoner, is in an advanced state of consumption. He has a wife and two children living hardly a stone's throw from the scene of the crime.

Moore was held without bail to await the action of the grand jury. Moore's son, Edward, testified that his father was accused by the dead woman of having brutally beaten her last Sunday. Moore admitted striking the woman.

AIRSHIP FLIES.

Witnessed For First Time In Louisville.

WILD'S "EAGLE" A SUCCESS IN FACE OF ADVERSE WINDS.

AERONAUT MAKES IT RETURN TO STARTING POINT.

TO ATTEMPT FLIGHT TO-DAY.

Louisville yesterday afternoon witnessed the first successful airship flight in the history of the city. The aerial trip was not all that a daring young aeronaut, Horace Wild, had claimed that it would be but the strange craft did ascend high in the air, obeying the will of its master until the wind proved its supremacy and—most important of all—was brought through the air to the starting point.

Wild calls his airship the "Eagle." It was taken to Fontaine Ferry Park last Friday and on Sunday the owner announced that he was ready for a flight whenever the weather conditions would permit. Those conditions did not arrive, in the opinion of Wild, until 2:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Everything had been in readiness since morning and an hour before the start the "Eagle" was brought from its tent, ready for the start. At the hour mentioned Wild climbed on the scant framework beneath the great cigar-shaped balloon.

"Boys, I understand the lid is not on to-day and I am going uptown for a glass of beer, after which I shall return by the same means I take in starting. Let her go."

* * *

Circles Over River.

With these words, the aeronaut was off. The nose of the "Eagle" was pointed to the westward from where it lay on the river bank. The machine rose rapidly and almost straight up to a height of about 200 feet. Wild reached out his hand and set in motion the gasoline engine. The propeller blades at the front of the ship began to turn. The "Eagle" started directly toward the river. Wild began maneuvering with the cool calculation of a man at a game of chess and the featherless bird made a graceful sweep over the center of the river and started directly eastward above the park. He passed over the theater and shot almost directly over the main entrance, waving his hat to acquaintances below. At that time, the "Eagle" was about 500 feet in the air.

Wild's trip toward the city was then on in earnest. It had been his intention to sail to the down town district, alighting on the roof of the Courier-Journal building if possible, and then return to the park. The "Eagle" shot ahead at a rapid clip until it neared Thirty-fourth street. Then the watchers observed that the wind was going to prove a vigorous opponent to the aeronaut's purposes. At times the balloon would seem to drift slightly. The breeze came from the northeast and Wild commenced tacking after the fashion of a skipper managing his sail boat. Bit by bit the "Eagle" drifted to the southward and it could be seen from the ground that although some forward progress was being made, the eastward journey was not coming along as it should.

When about over Twenty-eighth street and Broadway Wild made a complete circle with his machine, at the same time rising high in the air. This brought him a little nearer uptown, but shortly after the circle he was seen to descend. He came down smooth- and easily, landing on the Delaney place, at Twenty-seventh and Kentucky streets.

* * *

Gasoline Runs Short.

A crowd of several hundred persons soon assembled. The aeronaut had landed in a hollow and willing hands helped him on higher ground, where one end of the "Eagle" was rested against a shed. Wild said that the wind had exhausted his supply of gasoline and one of his assistants, who had followed him in an automobile, was sent for a fresh supply.

In the meantime the woman who owned the shed appeared on the scene. She resented the use that had been made of her property, and, Wild declared, struck him on the head with a cane. The boys who gathered about the flying machine began to throw stones and bottles at the big gas bag in an apparent attempt to learn just what it contained. The arrival of two policemen on the scene probably saved his machine for Wild.

No damage was done to the aerial craft in the landing and Wild said that as soon as the gasoline arrived he would return to the park. He kept his word. His assistant appeared on the scene with a can of the fluid shortly after 5 o'clock and twenty minutes later the "Eagle" once more rose in the air. Wild turned the head of his machine to the northward. A strong breeze was still blowing, but this time he kept close to the earth, at no time rising more than seventy-five or 100 feet from the ground. He kept the rudder extended almost parallel with the framework of his airship and glided back to the park. As he neared Fontaine Ferry he brought the "Eagle" around in an almost complete circle and drifted slowly down to earth in the old bicycle park. A cheer went up from the throng gathered at the resort. Wild remained on the craft while his assistant and half a hundred volunteer helpers "led" the monster around to its tent.

Will Try Again To-day.

"This was my 111th airship flight, and the forty-eighth time on which I have returned to the starting point," said Wild after the "Eagle" was moored in its tent. "I did not go uptown as I had intended simply because there was entirely too much wind. I shall make another trip to-morrow if the weather conditions will permit and I believe I have demonstrated to the people of Louisville that my machine will fly and do my bidding if there is not too great a handicap in the matter of wind.

"On the first trip I was in the air about thirty-five minutes. When I started to return to the park it took me about twenty minutes. There was scarcely any waste of gas from the balloon and it will not have to be refilled before another flight. I should say that I traveled a total of about nine miles during my two flights. The highest I got was 3,000 feet.

"I had not been far from the park when I saw that I would have trouble with the wind. It blew at the rate of fully eighteen miles an hour, and that is far more than I calculated on when I started the trip. I had intended to fly at a height ranging from 500 to 1,000 feet, but kept pointing the 'Eagle' upward in the hope of getting above the wind currents. I rose at one time to a height of 3,000 feet, but found the wind even more severe up there.

"All this was telling rapidly against my motor. I am confident the engine worked over its capacity of six horse-power. I looked on the tank and saw there was only a quart of gasoline left. I knew that with that amount I could neither reach the uptown district nor return to the park. With that I picked out a commons and made the descent without other incident than apparently arousing the enmity of the small boys of the neighborhood and of the old lady whose shed I borrowed.

Can "Scorch" at Will.

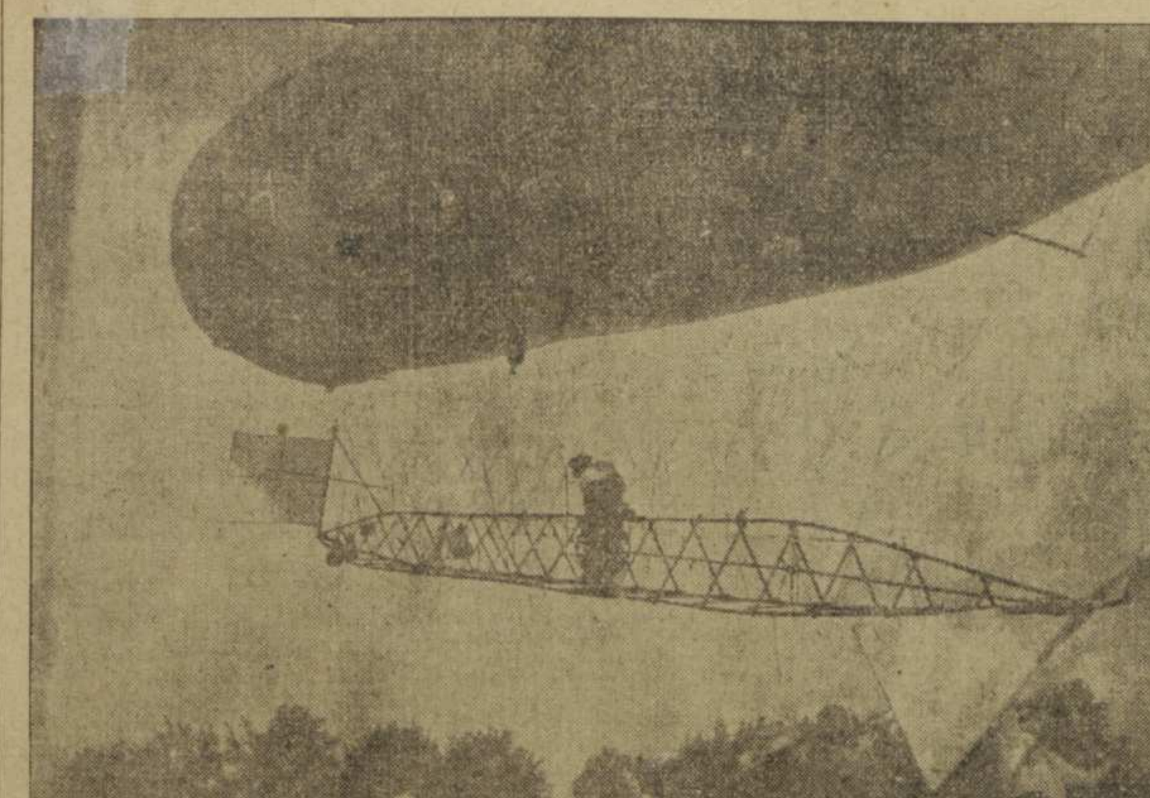

"How does it feel to ride in an airship? About like riding in an automobile, save that there is not as much jar, and of course there is no rough road to traverse. You have a sort of feeling of freedom, knowing that there has been no one ahead of you to throw broken glass on the track and that no policeman is following to arrest you for violating the speed limit. The airship has a restful motion and you are up where the air feels good—and it is awfully still. After a man has made two or three flights he is always anxious to make the next one. I admit that this desire may be in part due to the gratification one feels that he is doing something not practiced by the average run of men. I shall make another trip to-morrow if the weather permits, carrying out my intention of going uptown with the 'Eagle.'"

Wild was given quite an ovation on his return to the park. Manager Riechmann expressed himself well pleased with Wild's trip and said he felt assured the areonaut was capable of doing all that he has promised with his airship. From a park attraction standpoint, it is probably the most expensive and spectacular offering ever put forth by a local resort.

Mrs. Horace Wild, wife of the aeronaut, was one of the interested spectators of the flight. When her husband returned to the tent at the park she was calmly seated on a pile of canvas. She is a pretty woman and possessed of the same coolness that characterizes her husband.

"I was rather nervous when he made his first airship flight," she said, "but I have grown so I don't mind it now and the thought of his meeting with disaster never enters my mind. He is extremely cool when on the airship and I believe that nothing but a serious accident to the airship itself would result in disaster for him. Our baby is with us here in Louisville, but I am not yet thinking about his becoming an aerial mariner."

McIntyre was hurried to Speer's Hospital. It was found there that his lungs had been pierced twice. Both Hill and his wife are under arrest.

were needed to clear the street. There was no disorder.

The application for the receiver says the company has a paid-up capital of $1,500,000, an apparent surplus of an equal amount, and deposits of about $10,000,000. The assets consist of real estate in Philadelphia, loans upon collateral upon demand and on time, and other securities. President Hipple, the application says, "by false reports to the directors of the loans made by him brought about the condition of the company, which was first discovered by the officers of the bank, subsequent to the death of the president." The court then appointed Mr. Earle receiver and he entered security of $1,000,000.

Receiver Is Hopeful.

Mr. Earle had a conference with the directors and officers of the company. What information of the condition of the company they possessed was given the receiver, who later said that from the information given he came to the conclusion that the company should not be permitted to fail; that the receivership should not be continued for any length of time. "It is my hope," he said, "that so soon as I may verify my present beliefs, I can recommend a plan to the depositors that will better serve their interests and terminate my services. It must not be forgotten that under a reasonable plan by which they will acquire all there is, they will receive much more than any receiver can obtain for them, for they can by that method preserve their very large and valuable business, which will be otherwise lost. I ask, however, that until I can be perfectly sure of the wisdom of what I am recommending, the depositors will not be too discouraged or anxious about their situation. The company, of course, has large assets that are certain, and I believe examination will show that large sums may be derived from the assets that are not certain."

Persistent rumors that President Hipple committed suicide were bore out to-night when it was authoritatively stated that he took his life at his home last Friday morning. Mr. Hipple is said to have taken a dose of laudanum with suicidal intent. While still conscious he filled his bathtub with water and later was found apparently drowned.

Mr. Hipple's family decline to make any statement on the subject and the physicians interested in the case decline to be interviewed regarding the suicide theory.

TAG ON COAT GAVE WEARER AWAY.

Henry Duthlinger Arrested on Charge of Stealing a Suit of Clothes.

As a result of Henry Duthlinger, aged thirty-one years, not removing a tag from a suit of clothes, which he stole from the clothing store of E. M. Robinson, at 312 East Market street, last night, he was arrested by Patrolman Wagner on a charge of petit larceny. According to Mr. Robinson, Duthlinger entered his place at about 9 o'clock last night with an old coat on his arm. Mr. Robinson and his family were sitting in front of the store at the time and saw the man as he walked from the place with a new coat on and the tag still hanging from the back. Mr. Robinson stopped him and noticed that he had concealed a pair of pants under his coat. He held him and called for Patrolman Wagner, who took Duthlinger to the police station. Mr. Robinson went into his place of business and found that the thief had carefully covered the clothes on the bench with his old coat.

Elliott, general counsel for the Standard Oil Company, was shown the telegram from Peoria, Ill., to the effect that the Standard Oil Company had taken steps to acquire all of the principal distilleries in the United States as the result of the passage of the denatured alcohol law by Congress. "Nothing could be more absurd," said Mr. Elliott concerning the matter. "The Standard Oil Company has taken no steps in this direction whatever, nor will it. We have no intention whatever in buying up distilleries or in the manufacture of denatured alcohol. There have been no negotiations to that end, and no talk of any."

TO A FINISH,

Dick Says, the Ohio Senators Will Fight.

RECALLS FORMER ATTACKS ON M'KINLEY AND HANNA.

NO ONE OPPOSES INDORSEMENT OF PRESIDENT.

GIVES OUT WARM STATEMENT.

Akron, O., Aug. 28.—Following the statement given out by Senator Foraker at Washington Sunday night, on the issue of the indorsement of the Ohio Senators by the Republican State Convention and other matter, Senator Charles Dick gave out a statement today. Both of the statements also follow the address of H. M. Daugherty, former chairman of the Republican State Committee, at Cleveland last Saturday in which he urged the retirement of Senator Dick as chairman of the State Executive Committee, and a less cordial indorsement of Senators Foraker and Dick than of President Roosevelt by the State Convention. Senator Dick in his statement says:

Personally, no one can regret more than I any antagonism or opposition toward the Ohio Senators and their friends.

Politically, I am satisfied to know that whatever opposition there may be has at last found a responsible hold, and that every Congressman, every State officer, every candidate, has publically repudiated this opposition. It has looked long and diligently for a nurse; has sought far and wide to establish its paternity; but until last Saturday, when it was publicly adopted, it has gone about like an orphan seeking both sustenance and a patron.

This is not the first experience of the kind. Ohio Republicans had to decide a like controversy some years ago. At that time Senator Hanna was denounced by some as a "red-necked boss;" President McKinley was called a "Jelly fish," and Judge Nash "a man without backbone." All these men, however, survived the taunts and insults of their enemies and were sustained throughout by the loyal Ohio Republicans.

If the Ohio Senators were disposed for any reason to retire from the convention they could not do so now. They owe it to their friends over the entire State, as well as to themselves, to fight this matter to a finish. In this contest their friends will be found on one side, their enemies on the other. In the controversy, however, the National Administration is not involved, since no one opposes a strong and emphatic indorsement of the President. The whole situation has shifted to one of opposition to the Ohio Senators and the present party organization. The coming State convention, all delegates participating, must decide these matters.

The Ohio Senators differed from each other on several important matters in the Senate, including the Statehood Bill, the Philippine Tariff Bill, the type of Interoceanic canal and the Railroad Rate Bill; on many other measures they were agreed. The fact that we entertained different convictions never for one moment lessened my respect for my colleague, never lowered my high regard for him as a man and never invited a doubt of his loyalty to his party or his devotion to his country. I know of no reason, therefore, why he should not receive the strong commendation of those whom he so ably served.

SUGGESTION TURNED DOWN.

Moran Declines to Submit Question of Candidacy to Mr. Bryan.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 28.—District Attorney John B. Moran, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, to-day sent to Chairman Josiah Quincy, of the Democratic State Committee a letter replying to Mr. Quincy's suggestion that Mr. Moran's candidacy be submitted to Wm. J. Bryan. Mr. Moran says:

"As no candidate opposes my nomination the suggestion of arbitration is absurd. The only contest now possible is that about to take place between Guild and Moran.

"I send you a Moran campaign button, the wearing of which will be indisputable proof of your recognition of the right of the Democratic masses to govern themselves in defiance of dictation by self-constituted bosses."

Will Not Oppose Smith.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 28.—The Populist State convention called to meet here to-day to nominate a State ticket failed to materialize, only nine delegates making their appearance. The reasons assigned for the failure of the convention are that Hoke Smith's overwhelming victory in the Democratic primary recently held would make it useless to put out a candidate against him.

Harvard Crew's Good Work.

Putney, Aug. 28.—The Harvard University crew this evening made their best performance since their arrival. With the river only half full they started at 6 o'clock for a whole course trial, striking a pace of thirty-five strokes to the minute. They averaged thirty almost to the finish, shooting past Hammersmith bridge in seven minutes fifty-eight seconds, Barnes in sixteen minutes forty-eight seconds, and completing the course in nineteen minutes forty-five seconds. The value of this performance is illustrated by the fact that the Cambridge crew's time in the last university race was: Hammersmith seven minutes nineteen seconds, Barnes sixteen minutes four seconds, Mortlake nineteen minutes twenty-six second, and that the record time, eighteen minutes forty-seven seconds, was made by Cambridge in 1900. An important factor was Blagden's greatly improved steering.

Trots on Lake Erie Circuit.

Hornellsville, N. Y., Aug. 28.—The Lake Erie circuit trotting meet began here today. The attendance was good and there were some interesting races. Summaries:

Wilcox Buys a Mare.

Richmond, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—David Wilcox, the well-known trainer and race driver, of this city, to-day bought of Owen Stagner a mare five years old by Haxhall, out of a mare by Tom Covington. The price paid was $700. The mare, which shows speed, will be put in training at once. Her dam, Lena S., has a race record of 2:21.

MRS. PRIEST DROPS DEAD WHILE CHILDREN ARE AWAY

Mrs. Kate Priest, living at 2217 Shelby street, was found dead at her home at 8 o'clock last night. She was lying apparently lifeless on the floor of the kitchen when her brother, Jacob Hartstern, forced an entrance into the house. Drs. J. M. Keaney and Louis Herget were summoned and when they arrived they pronounced her dead, death being due to heart disease.

At 5:30 o'clock yesterday evening Mrs. Priest's four children, whose ages range from three to twelve years, went to the home of a neighbor to play with the neighbor's children. After about an hour the children tired of playing and returned to their home. They tried to open the door, but found it locked. They knocked on the door, but nobody answered, and presuming that their mother had left her home for a few minutes they went to their uncle, Jacob Hartstern, adjoining the home of the Priest family. They told Mr. Hartstern that they were locked out of their own home and their uncle chatted and jested with the children about this for a few minutes and then told the children to play, remarking that their mother would be home within a few minutes. At 8 o'clock the children tried to get in their home, but without success. Mr. Hartstern then became alarmed and forced an entrance into the house through the kitchen door. He found his sister lying dead on the floor.

Mrs. Priest was twenty-nine years old. She was the wife of Marshall Priest, a motorman on the interurban railroad, and a sister of Jacob Hartstern, who conducts a saloon at Shelby and Ash streets. She is survived by four children. It is said that she had suffered with heart trouble for several years.

Magistrate Hoffman, Acting Coroner, was called.

NEBRASKANS

Will Go Down In Boat To Meet Bryan.

DECLARE THEY WILL LASSO HIM IF NECESSARY.

THEY CALL ON HEARST AND THE ACTING MAYOR.

BIG DELEGATIONS ARRIVING.

New York, Aug. 28.—The town is filling up with Bryan welcomers and other excursionists. From now until the day of the reception delegations from all over the country will be arriving almost hourly, and they will bring with them a lot of others.

Atty. Gen. M. J. Cunningham, of Louisiana, reported at the Victoria Hotel headquarters yesterday that he expected a delegation of about twenty-five from New Orleans next Wednesday, and for whom he is looking up accommodations. The West Virginians have begun to decorate at the Hotel Breslin.

The plan for the reception at the Battery on Thursday will be the simplest posible. Mr. Bryan will be met as he steps off the yacht by acting Mayor McGowan, President William Hoge, of the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust League; Lewis Nixon, chairman of the Plan and Scope Committee, and one or two others, probably. Mr. McGowan will extend the freedom of the city to Mr. Bryan, who will be escorted to a carriage in which the acting Mayor, Mr. Hoge and Gov. Folk will also ride. A few other carriages, with members of the Reception Committee, will follow.

After the ride to the Victoria Hotel, Mr. Bryan will be received in the hotel by a committee of five distinguished Democrats from each State.

The proposal to have Mr. Bryan spend part of the time before he lands officially at the Battery in a yacht does not meet with favor with the Nebraska delegation, it is said. Mayor James S. Dahlman, of Omaha, who has been made chairman of the delegation, had views of his own on that subject yesterday.

"We're going down to meet Bryan in a boat," he said, "and you can bet we'll bring him back if I've got to lasso him myself."

Last night the Nebraska delegation went to a theater to see the play written by Mr. Bryan's daughter.

Nebraskans at City Hall.

A big delegation of the Nebraskans visited the City Hall to-day and called on Acting Mayor McGowan.

Mayor James C. Dahlman, of Omaha, headed the visitors, who numbered fifty or sixty. Acting Mayor McGowan cordially greeted each one, shaking hands with them all.

There were eight Mayors in the party, including Mayor F. W. Brown, of Lincoln.

Others in the party were three Democratic candidates for State offices in Nebraska. These were W. H. Reen, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Lyell Abbott, candidate for Attorney General, and Dr. Babcock, candidate for State Treasurer.

Some of them told the Mayor stories, and then invited him out on the City Hall steps to have his and their pictures taken.

Afterward the visitors went further down town to see the tall buildings with which lower New York is filled.

Acting Mayor McGowan, in speaking of his visitors later, said they were a fine-looking, good-hearted lot of men.

"I tell you," he observed, "you want to go West to see the whole-souled men."

Call on W. R. Hearst.

Nearly one hundred of the Nebraska delegation paid a visit to the Gilsey House to-day and were introduced to William R. Hearst. The greetings were cordial. Judge Howard, one of the delegation, in speaking to Mr. Hearst, said: "We appreciate the position you have taken and for the reforms you have brought about."

Mr. Hearst remarked that Judge Howard spoke like a reformer.

"Not at all," replied Judge Howard. "We hate reformers. We loathe them. They are too much like Jerome."

During the talk with Mr. Hearst Judge Howard said he was not prepared to believe the stories that had been circulated that Mr. Hearst was hostile to Mr. Bryan.

In reply Mr. Hearst said that he knew of no reason why he could not meet the friends of Mr. Bryan with the utmost cordiality, and he expressed his gratification at the call of the delegation upon him.

Indiana Democrats to the number of 200, headed by Thomas Taggart, arrived this afternoon to participate in the Bryan reception. Most of the Indiana men are quartered at the Waldorf Astoria.

BRYAN TRAIN CHEERED.

St. Louis Delegation Given Hearty Greeting En Route to New York Via Louisville.

On its way to participate in the reception to Bryan on the occasion of his arrival in New York Friday, a delegation from the St. Louis Democratic Club in three Pullman coaches passed through Louisville last evening. As far as Louisville the delegation was headed by Colin M. Selph, president of the club, and from here went on to the East in a special train, leaving Seventh-street depot. Mr. Selph was called back to St. Louis by the critical illness of his young son. The members of the party wore the club badges, badges indicating that the wearer was a delegate to the reception, and bright red feathers, the emblem of the club. Altogether nearly 100 people were on the train, some of them having joined the party at St. Louis.

The special coaches were attached to a regular train which left St. Louis at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The central coach was decorated with a great banner which bore the following words:

ST. LOUIS DEMOCRATIC CLUB
GREETING TO
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
FROM MISSOURI DEMOCRACY.

At all stations where stops were made the special cars and the banner attracted much attention and did not fail to bring cheers from those who had assembled at the stations to bid Godspeed to the pilgrims. As the train sped through the farming country many a man at work in the fields stopped long enough to read the device on the banner and to swing his hat at those who returned the salute from the car windows. At three stations informal receptions were held by local Democrats to those whom were going through.

All Wanted Folk.

The first stop was at Centralia, Ill. There Mayor Rexford, of Centralia, and a delegation of the citizens had assembled at the station to cheer the itinerants. As the train drew in those who were waiting sent up cheers for Bryan and immediately afterward crowded on the train to shake hands with those bound to greet him. There was no time for the making of speeches, but many hasty expressions of good will were given and returned. The Centralia people were taken with the red feathers worn by the St. Louisans and demanded one each as a souvenir of the occasion. The delegation had a whole bale of them and distributed them liberally.

At Mt. Vernon, Ill., Mayor W. B. Williams and the city officials met the train and added their good wishes to those already received by the travelers. S. G. H. Taylor, "an original Bryan man," joined the party there and at Fairfield, where another stop was made, addressed those who had assembled at the station. All along the route people asked after Folk. Many of them seemed to have gathered believing that Folk was on the train and called on him for a speech.

At Princeton, Ind., Mayor G. W. Benton and a delegation from the Princeton Reform Club cheered for Bryan and Democracy as the train pulled into the station. There they asked for Folk. President Selph spoke in behalf of the club, saying:

"A great host is going from Missouri to meet Bryan on this as well as other trains running out of St. Louis to-day. Democrats from Missouri are going to New York to meet the great Commoner and give him a rousing reception. Our Gov. Folk, for whom you have so kindly inquired, also will be there. Missouri will give Bryan a great welcome and if he is the nominee in 1908 will give him a tremendous majority. We hope that Indiana again will take her place in the Democratic column."

The address was cut short by the departure of the train and Mr. Selph's last words were drowned in the noise of the wheels and the cheering.

* * *

Short Stop at Louisville.

No one was at the station in Louisville to cheer the pilgrims. It had been given out that the train would have but a few minutes here and for that reason no effort was made to greet them. As soon as possible the cars were made into a special. Running light and as a special, it is believed it will reach New York by this evening at 6 o'clock. The party will remain in New York till September 4, and return over the same route as it went.

Besides Mr. Selph, John R. McCarthy, formerly president of the St. Louis House of Delegates, left the party here to return to St. Louis. Mr. McCarthy was called back by business. He is known in Louisville, and two years or so ago accompanied a party of St. Louisians here to inspect Louisville's reduction furnaces. Both took dinner at the Old Inn and returned to St. Louis last night.

Aside for those two the personnel of the delegation from the St. Louis Democratic Club is as follows:

Charles P. Wonderly, Mr. and Mrs. Len Thomhil, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Scott and daughter, of Van Buren, Ark.; R. E. Barlow, Robert Bradshaw, J. E. Bell, Theodore Booker, James Jackson, James McIntosch, W. J. Garvey, W. L. Senan, J. G. McCawley, Will J. Russell, John T. Bambrick, James F. McMahon, Willard Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fries, T. B. Drum, Charles L. Smith, L. D. Beatby, Senator John Sartorious, Henry J. Thien, H. M. Dulaney, Henry Ostman, A. Bogarth, A. Lengrist, S. R. Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Quinn, Henry, Blatter, Green Hindman, J. C. Boat, Herman Hertenstein, Phillip J. Navin, Michael Connelly, Martin Higgins, C. A. Bennett, H. T. Koerner, Mrs. H. C. Chase, A. T. McEntire, G. F. Roberts, William Bleich, Charles Bessmer, George Ruff, William F. McNarn, Thomas F. Bresnahan, W. H. Burggrabe, James Proctor, H. C. Chopan, Lee McKinney, Robert W. Whales, Edward Walker, M. L. Libert, John S. Lilles, J. Brohan, L. Richards, F. W. Coddinge, J. J. Walsh, M. J. Moynihan, J. J. Kenzith, M. C. O'Donnell, Henry B. Ellis, J. B. O'Connell and M. C. McCaffrey.

Several other delegations went out of St. Louis yesterday, among them one from the Jefferson Club of that city. In the two campaigns made by Mr. Bryan the Jefferson Club was arrayed against him. The Democratic Club, on the other hand, was the "original Bryan Club."

SULTAN OF TURKEY SAID TO BE VICTIM OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

YODER POIGNARD KILLED BY TRAIN.

Run Down on L. and N. Railroad While Crossing the Track in Taylorsville.

Taylorsville, Ky., Aug. 28.—Yoder Poignard, one of the wealthiest and most influential, as well as the oldest men in this section, was killed this afternoon at 3 o'clock by an L. and N. north-bound train at the head of Main street, in this city.

Mr. Poignard was eighty years of age and was an uncle of Roselle Weissinger, of Louisville.

Mr. Poignard was run down in attempting to cross the track ahead of the train. His left leg was cut off and the body was otherwise badly mangled.

Christian Church Burned.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 28.—Fire to-day destroyed the First Christian church at Fourteenth and K streets. Loss $50,000. The Catholics purchased the building a year ago and were changing it into a handsome cathedral. Father Shine thinks that enemies of the church set fire to the structure. Four firemen nearly escaped death by falling walls.

Civil Marriage Restored.

Madrid, Aug. 28.—A royal decree published to-day restores the civil marriage formalities and suppresses the obligation on the parties desiring to get married to declare their religion. This is directly opposed to the Papal Nunico's claim and it is expected will arouse a political struggle when Parliament reassembles.

Funeral of John Dryden.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The funeral of John B. Dryden took place late this afternoon. Services were held at the First Presbyterian church and the body was interred in the State cemetery. The local lodge of Elks attended the funeral.

WEDNESDAY....AUGUST 29, 1906

"Business."

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 28.—The New York stock market was very strong during the forenoon, but sold off sharply in the afternoon, closing near the day's lowest figures.

Money on call was firm at 3½ to 5 per cent., ruling at 4¾. Time loans were strong at 6 to 7. Sterling exchange was weak.

Final quotations on wheat for December delivery were up ⅛c. Corn was ⅛c higher. Oats were practically unchanged.

The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points, developed decided weakness and declined 23 to 28 points, closing at very near the lowest prices of the day.

The Chicago cattle, hog and sheep markets were steady.

Stick To the Truth, Partner!

Says the Frankfort Journal:

"Mr. Watterson reads Clark Howell, of the Atlanta Constitution, a lecture on Editors running for office, taking as his text Mr. Howell's signal defeat for Governor before the primary. Among other things he says that 'Mr. Clark Howell could not serve faithfully as Governor and Editor of the Constitution,' and yet Mr. Watterson a few years ago wanted to try the experiment of being Governor of Kentucky and Editor of the Courier-Journal. Does the great Editor think he could do what the Georgia Editor could not? Or has he changed his mind since he found that political preferment was not for him?"

Our esteemed contemporary should not commit himself either to a perversion, or a suppression of facts.

Mr. Watterson at no time "wanted to try the experiment of being Governor of Kentucky." It was represented to him that by lending himself to a movement to make him Governor of Kentucky he might allay the prevailing factionism in the party and upon higher ground bring about a reunion of the embittered elements. He went no further than to say that, if this were true, he might be willing to make the sacrifice.

Part of that sacrifice would have been the ceasing to be "the Editor of the Courier-Journal." It would, moreover, have involved an exchange of the peace and comfort of a happy home for the thankless turmoil of a life at Frankfort, and the acceptance of a salary of five thousand a year in lieu of an income many times greater. Yet, so loyal was his love for his State and his party, that he gave ear to a scheme which was little short of suicidal. But, he did not hanker after it.

Happily, the notion turned out a false alarm and he was spared the ending of his days in the fever and the worry and the fret of the purgatory of office, which could nowise exalt him, in his mind, in his fame, in his body, or in his estate.

He gave Clark Howell good and honest counsel, and has always practiced what he preached. If he had ever wanted "preferment" he would have sought it thirty years ago, when the doors were open to him, and he was young enough to contemplate a political career. As a matter of fact, he was born and grew up in the National Capital, became too familiar with the illusory character of official life, had known too many poor and unhappy great men, and was too contented with his own calling to wish to leave it, or to be in any wise mislead and lured by the empty dazzle of the public service. He had been early impressed by the fate of Greeley and Raymond and Forney, and had made up his mind when a boy, that, in case he ever had the chance, he would not follow in their footsteps. The notion that he desired to be Governor of Kentucky is a figment of printer's ink and newspaper fancy, not of any serious thought, or purpose, having an abiding place in the make-up of a man, who would not swap his personal liberty for all the jewels of a knightly crown and is never so happy as when he is able to stand up and talk out in meeting, to tell the truth and to shame the devil.

Go thou, dear Brother Walton, and do likewise!

Our Coming Moses.

Says the Portland Oregonian:

"The 'peerless statesman' is reported to be preparing his plan for public ownership of the railroads, which he is to launch through his speeches as soon as he reaches home;—interstate lines to be owned and operated by the National Government, and those wholly within the limits of any State to be owned and operated by that State. But it may be feared that no caution to Mr. Bryan, from any quarter, will protect him against his fatal facility of speech. Hence, though he affects 'conservatism,' the real conservatives of his party can't help feeling nervous."

The election of a Democratic President in 1908—all things pointing to the nomination of Mr. Bryan as the candidate—will depend upon a certain grasp by the party upon the situation as it is, and not through the invoking of new issues or the breaking of fresh ground.

The issue of the Governmental Ownership of the Railways would embody a revolution quite as sweeping as was wrought by the abolition of Slavery, or as would be involved by a proposal to elect the Chief Magistrate of the Nation for life. To inject such an issue into the next Presidential Campaign would be in advance to sacrifice it. We have no idea that Mr. Bryan meditates anything of the kind. That he should do so would imply a hopeless state of mental obfuscation, and, although he has shown himself something of a dreamer, it is inconceivable that he should fly wholly in the face both of common sense and the true philosophy of popular Government.

Mr. Bryan, in common with most Democrats, must see that already the General Government has far too much power, whilst the State Governments arrogate to themselves powers that were better left untouched. Everything and everybody is turning to the political fabric as a cure-all, quite forgetting that the redress of no grievance can be had without a tax of some sort upon the whole; in the ultimate equation the astute and contriving few pretty sure to get the better of it over the less enterprising and the unorganized many. On every side, Commissions, Public Boards, offices of one sort and another, multiply. For the most part they are merely schemes to make places for useful party workers, or for hangers-on who are importunate and who grow troublesome.

Give the Government control of the railways, telegraphic ownership following as a matter of course, and the present number of public incumbents would be augmented an hundred fold. This would create such a power, and put such engineries in the hands of those in power, as to make a change of party impossible short of a revolution, and perhaps a bloody revolution. The President of the United States has already more power than any constitutional sovereign. Under such a system he would have more power than the autocrat of all the Russias.

The lines of the next national Democratic platform — in case Theodore Roosevelt be not a candidate to succeed himself—are already tolerably well defined. Before 1908 it will be seen that the Roosevelt reforms are bogus; that they have been springes to catch woodcock; the sheerest buncombe and lip-service—

"That palter with us in a double sense,
That keep the word of promise to our ear,
And break it to our hope."

The foundation-stone of Republicanism is special privilege. The bastion and the bell-tower of the Republican fortress is special privilege. The Protective System, which embraces the inner sanctuary of Republicanism, is supported by what M. Marneffe, in Balzac's novel, called "the four pillars of my wife's church," the Steel Trust, the Sugar Trust, the Banking Combine, and the invested accretions of Standard Oil. The Government ownership of the Railways would cure none of the evils imposed by these—but aggravate them—whilst the Roosevelt reforms have merely sticked them over with a bit of perfumed goose-grease.

What the people need is real Reform. They do not expect prodigies. They are not in a hurry. They want a party in power, and a man in the White House, in whose straightforward sincerity they may confide. They admire Theodore Roosevelt. Many of them love him. He is a brilliant, daring and ambitious man, who appeals to the popular fancy. But he leads too strenuous a life, is too wrapped up in himself and his projects, makes too many breaks here, there and everywhere to suit and serve a great Nation, which, secure in its authority at home and its dignity abroad, needs a season of repose, to look about it, to cast up the account, and to take stock of its amazing progress and its enormous assets.

If Mr. Bryan has learned in his wanderings through other lands the lesson that Government—even the Government of public opinion—is an affair rather of deeds than of words; that great bodies and great events move slowly; that, even as Rome was not built in a day, no faster may new systems either of constructive statesmanship or political philosophy be built; if, in a word, Mr. Bryan has grown up to his experience, and broadened with it, he will come home to tell his people that they are to be saved as little by his oratory as by Thodore Roosevelt's rhetoric. He should beware of being too cocksure, because it does not need a Randolph of Roanoke to tell us that nothing in this world is certain except death and taxes.

We may moderate the taxes, somewhat. We may postpone the day of wrath. But, first of all, the people want to repossess themselves of their Government, if they can—not to casemate it in the custody of the close corporation which already exists between the Trusts and the politicians—and, for a starter, all that is required of Democracy, and of Mr. Bryan as its mouth-piece, is clear leading away from the organized pillage of the preferred classes, banded together for the acquisition and maintenance of criminal wealth and exclusive privilege, and toward a more immediate pressure of the hand of the people upon the actual transaction of the public business.

We may not expect any radical measures of relief. We shall be content with heading in the right direction. We can and we must abolish the methods prevailing in Congress and restore the representative character of the National legislation. We can and we must get rid of the Speaker of the House and his Rules Committee—put our foot upon them and put it hard. It will take longer, but we can and we must get rid of the Steering Committee and the Gray Wolves of the Senate, who exist for the Corporations, and by the Corporations, and have no will except through the Corporations. A strong, sincere man in the White House, can do much. Not a tactless, obstinate and half-educated Democrat, like Grover Cleveland, nor a dazzling, self-willed and restless Republican, like Theodore Roosevelt, but a plain, practical, kindly man of the Lincoln type; having an objective point before him other than his own selfish ambitions and conceits, and some of the genius of common sense, of which both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Roosevelt must be regarded as conspicuously lacking.

Mr. Bryan looks it. He may be it. In that event, we shall have a new and glorious departure in real Republicanism and genuine Democracy, and some recurrence to what are called "first principles." They are not dead yet. They live and await the hour and the man.

No, no, Brother Scott; your wish is father to your thought; Mr. Bryan has not gone daft, as he would be if he proposed to turn the world of America downside up!

The President and Congress.

The candidates for Congress on the Republican ticket are mostly satisfied with the manifesto issued by the President under the name of a letter to Mr. Watson. Those who were not sure of re-election are glad to avail themselves of the popularity of Mr. Roosevelt and to claim that they must be chosen in order to "stand by the President." They are pleased, too, with the compliments paid to the actions of Congress at its last session, and will quote them freely to show how faithful to their constituents they have been. Most of them are also well satisfied that no action on the tariff is recommended until a period too remote to merit present consideration.

Along with these sweets there arise certain tangs of bitterness. Not all the Republicans are solicitous about their seats in the next Congress. Many of them have been renominated, and others entertain no doubt that they will be again named. With a large number a nomination is equivalent to an election. These men are not grateful to the President for helping them out in a canvass in which they expect no difficulty. They have leisure, therefore, to devote their attention to other points in the manifesto which are not so much to their liking. The members of the Senate also who have no races in view look to the words of Mr. Roosevelt rather with a view to ascertain what will be his future relations to the law-making power.

Such legislators see in the letter of Mr. Roosevelt no indication that he proposes to abdicate the right he has heretofore claimed to dictate legislation. This has produced continual friction between the President and Congress, which would have been far greater but from the fear that active resistance to the Executive might have very unpleasant consequences for the Congressman. But the hope was entertained by some that having got through the Rate Bill, the Pure Food Bill and some other measures on which he laid great stress, the President might relieve the friction by allowing Congress to take its own course, without being menaced by dire consequences if certain bills were not put through or certain others modified.

It does not require a very careful reading of the letter to Congressman Watson to find evidence that Mr. Roosevelt still feels that he is mainly responsible for congressional legislation. The praises that he bestows on Congress at its late session are on account of the measures which he actively championed. He is obliged to confess that there was a dereliction in some respects, but he manifests no disposition to submit to the "wisdom of Congress" with reference to these measures. He does not recognize any wisdom except such as was shown in carrying out his recommendations. In other words, the wisdom of Congress was shown in passing the bills that were pressed upon it by the Executive. Its wisdom was his wisdom enacted into law. It failed to pass the Philippine Tariff Bill, which the President urged, but this is not taken as a finality. Hope is expressed that it will go through at the next session. The grounds of this hope are not stated, and it seems rather optimistic. But the expression on the subject shows that the President does not regard the matter as ended, and suggests that it will again be pressed upon Congress. Legislation fixing the hours of labor is also incidentally suggested, and to this many prominent members of the Senate are vigorously opposed. As to the prohibition of campaign contributions from corporations, the President appeals from the Fifty-ninth Congress before the election to the same body after the election, in the apparent hope that, having been re-elected by these contributions, the members will be willing to forego such aids in future. There are some other matters mentioned without specification, concerning which the second session is expected to atone for the sins of the first, and there is some speculation as to what these are. The Ship Subsidy Bill has been suggested as one of them, and on this there is some prospect of a good deal of dissent.

There appears on the whole no probability that Congress at the next session, or the Sixtieth Congress for that matter, is to be permitted to take its own course in legislation—to act on such subjects as it prefers, and to leave dangerous or perplexing questions alone. The old programme, with such changes as may suit the President, is to be pursued, and the next session made as strenuous as was the last. The outlook is by no means grateful to those members of the House and Senate who have resented the excessive activity of the President in matters for which Congress is responsible. But what are they going to do about it?

The Open Door in Manchuria.

There has been a good deal of complaint of the Japanese Government that the principle of the "open door," which was announced in advance, has not been fairly carried out in Manchuria since the treaty of peace between Russia and Japan, signed about a year ago. The sales of foreign goods in Manchuria which were expected to be heavy after the close of the war, have not come up to expectations.

To this it has been said that sufficient regard has not been had to the terms of the treaty of pace. A period of eighteen months was allowed for the withdrawal of the forces from Manchuria, and this time has not yet expired. Moreover, the trade expected in that quarter has not materialized for anybody, and those who complain have not noted that Japan has not been taking from them the trade, for it did not exist. It was therefore confidently predicted that when the proper time arrived Japan would adhere to the "open door" according to her engagements.

In pursuance of this idea it is now announced, on the authority of the Japanese Charge d' Affaires at Washington, that Dalny will be opened on September 1 to the commerce of all nations. It will be after that what is known as a free port. The information as to the regulations is not very full, but the announcement may be taken as an assurance that the Japanese Government will adhere to the idea of the open door. If this should not be found practically true, there will, of course, be a protest, but the announcement is obviously intended to create the impression that Japan intends to carry out in good faith the engagements heretofore announced.

Great interest is felt in the arrangements for trade in Manchuria because it is very important to our manufacturers of cotton goods and others engaged in international trade. Since the end of the Russo-Japanese war the market there has failed to respond to expectations, but there is a lively hope that we are now on the eve of a better condition.

A Notable Paradox.

The graver the situation in Cuba, the stronger grow the Cuban bonds. Here is a paradox of the first grade. It is a phenomenon so strange as to be a curiosity. At a glance it seems illogical to the point of absurdity. Why shouldn't these bonds drop in value as the predicament of the present Cuban Government becomes acute?

The New York Times having described the queer performance of the bonds, attacked the puzzle in the hope of finding an explanation. And this is the result of its deliberations:

"Any insurrection in Cuba, and certainly an insurrection of such proportions as to surpass the power of President Palma's Government to put it down at once, must bring plainly into view the possibility of the annexation of Cuba to the United States. If Cuba should become a part of our territory the faith and credit of the United States would stand behind the Cuban bonds. They would be United States bonds. Their firmness in this market at a time when, but for our protective relation to Cuba they might have been expected to decline, is significant of the state of American public opinion. European press comments upon the insurrection which have been cabled to New York show that in London and on the Continent annexation is considered to be the not improbable destiny of Cuba."

This, doubtless, is the true reason of the rise in the Cuban bonds. It is a great tribute the banking world pays to the United States in placing a higher value on the securities at the mere whisper of annexation; turmoil in the island republic is regarded as hastening the day of American intervention and domination. The worse the situation down there the more likely it is, argues the banking world, that American credit will replace Cuban credit.

It is a fine thing for a nation to have such a standing as that which the United States has and which this incident testifies to so eloquently.

Science Becomes Reasonable.

The British Association for the Advancement of Science is a reasonable body, entitled not only to respect, but also to affection. The society has smashed the doctrine that we should go to bed when we are not sleepy and get up when we are sleepy. The new dictum is that a man should go to sleep when he wants to and get up under the same circumstances. "If he is not sleepy he should not go to bed," say the learned men of the Association for the Advancement of Science, but, better than this, "when he is sleepy he should lie in bed till he gets over that feeling."

The doctrine that "early to bed, early to rise, makes men healthy, wealthy and wise," is well enough for persons so constituted that darkness or gas light acts as a soporific and daylight as a stimulant. In getting up with the birds and following the birds to roost they follow their natural bent, even as those who prefer sitting up till the shank of the evening and lying abed till the shank of the forenoon. They should claim no special virtue for getting up if they cannot sleep after daylight, and they should not try to enforce their rules upon folks who, not having their disease, can sleep after daylight.

The world is full of persons who imagine that there is virtue per se in getting up at unreasonable hours. They are not content to enjoy the glories of the early morning alone, but want normal persons who could sleep dreamlessly till noon to get up when the dew is on the clover blossoms, although they may reside in town where there is little dew and where there are no clover blossoms, and where the sun itself looks blear-eyed till the middle of the forenoon.

If a man has duties that call him forth when the cock crows, let him force nature to accommodate herself to the requirements of his vocation, but if he can earn his loaf of bread and his jug of wine without rising before the sun, let him stay out till the second cock crow, if that is his inclination, and let him get up when he is through sleeping, and feel not less virtuous and proud than his neighbor who does otherwise. For the British Association for the Advancement of Science, cheers from the multitude of men who have no desire to emulate the example of the chicken!

Two persons have written to a New York paper complaining because Mr. Augustus Thomas, a playwright, is to deliver one of the principal addresses at the Bryan reception and expressing mortification that one associated with the dramatic profession should have such distinction. The matter is too absurd to be seriously considered, but the attitude of the critics is diverting as a specimen of narrow-mindedness which sometimes afflicts and handicaps the world. How any mortal soul can take the view that a man associated with the drama ought not to participate in this or any other public movement is almost incomprehensible. A great actor or an eminent playwright is a man to be honored as highly as a great painter, a great scholar, a great statesman, a great musician or a great politician. Men like Shakespeare, or Garrick, or Irving, or Jefferson or Booth are worthy to associate with Kings, Presidents, justices and lawmakers. Mr. Thomas is a gifted orator, a stalwart American and, if not a Shakespeare, is an ornament to the great profession of playwriting. America owes him a debt of gratitude for his effective aid in resurrecting the American drama from a state of dry rot, giving vitality to native effort and bringing prestige to native authorship. The committee in charge of the reception has reason to congratulate itself that a man of his distinction in his profession is willing to turn from it long enough to take part in the programme of welcome to Mr. Bryan.

An agricultural paper, "Up-to-date Farming," thinks the benefit to farmers of the Denatured Alcohol Bill is yet uncertain. An outfit to make alcohol will not be expensive and the farm furnishes abundant material, but the provision for denaturizing and the materials that must be used for that purpose are not yet known. Of course, the regulations to be made will have much to do with the process of manufacture, and steps are certain to be taken to prevent the indiscriminate manufacture and sale of alcohol without making certain that it is denatured. But farmers, as well as others, will get a much cheaper fluid for light and power than has heretofore been available. Future development must show to what uses the denatured product can be profitably put, but the indications are that it will be very useful.

An Oklahoma farmer says the growth of corn on his farm is such that lightning bugs can be seen between the rows at mid-day. Representative Landis, of Indiana, could doubtless explain that this is due to the workings of a beneficent protective tariff.

The Rev. G. C. Cromer who says it is unnecessary to take a vacation trip because there is plenty of natural beauty about Louisville, is in error. It is necessary to travel occasionally to appreciate the advantage Louisville has over other cities.

The Republican machine which ousted Mr. Happy from the post-office at Mayfield may add insult to injury by nominating him as a candidate in the Gibraltar district for Congress.

As we have often said, the heroism of the mule is of the patient, suffering and philosophic kind that seldom is rewarded by a Carnegie medal, but a noble and an inspiring exception was that of the mule hitched to a delivery wagon and driven by W. A. Sellers, in Lexington, Ky.

Disliking the odor of Capt. W. D. Wilkerson's automobile, our hero, to quote the language of a dispatch, "set upon the automobile with both his forefeet and tore great holes in the top of the engine box. People expected the machine would explode before the mule could be gotten off, but it did not." A brave and gallant exploit! The mule had the courage of his convictions, and having deliberately formulated his resolve, put it into effective execution.—[Charleston News and Courier.

VALUE OF THE PRESS.

[Manila Cable News.]

Facts are the keynote of modern journalism. Get the facts before the people in the most condensed form possible without impairing the meaning is the rule in well regulated daily newspaper offices. In consequence thousands read the cheap dailies where one reads the weekly reviews. The people are educated and broadened thereby.

They are kept constantly in touch with the whole world. In this atmosphere bigotry, selfishness and narrowness cannot thrive.

The allegation that daily papers as a class are run solely as money-making enterprises is absolutely false. There are black sheep in every flock. Newspapers are human institutions and as such partake of human frailties. No honest man pretends to run a newspaper without regard to returns on his investment. Any paper to exist must give the public the sort of news that it wants. None can be blamed for this. But a dishonest daily, one that compromises with wrongs or crime for a consideration, is the rare exception. Proof of this was furnished by the recent insurance investigation. On all sides prominent people were branded as grafters and thieves, but not a newspaper, even the yellowest, was smirched. When we consider how rampant was bribery and the temptations to which the papers were exposed this fact is most remarkable.

Instead of corrupting the people the daily newspapers more than any other agency on earth tend to purify society. Fear of publicity prevents more crimes than all of the courts. It keeps more men and women in the straight and narrow path than all pulpit orations ever delivered and all codes of morality ever promulgated. Human nature is so constituted that men dread the scorn of their fellow-men. With an alert daily press they know that chances are against their being able to hide wrongdoing. One criminal exposed in the press means dozens of individuals with criminal instincts kept from criminal careers.

From the overthrow of "Boss" Tweed three decades ago, about the time daily papers began to be a force in American public life, to the driving from power of thieving insurance officials a few months ago the history of the daily press in the United States has been filled with conspicuous instances of reform wrought by the agency of newspapers.

Here in the Philippines we must do our duty.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS.

[From the Independence Reporter.]

"In the adulation of promient men we are prone to place them on an eminence and not associate them with things of every day," wrote the reporter in Saturday's paper. But the intelligent typesetter made it read: "In the adulteration of prominent men," and when the paper came out the reporter fairly tore his hair.

Mistakes in newspaper print are of common and sometimes very embarrassing occurrence.

On one occasion the writer had prepared a very particular obituary of a promient citizen who had just passed over. The family had ordered one hundred copies of the paper. The makeup man blunderingly got several long paragraphs of the record of a stallion in the middle of the obituary. Needless to say the one hundred copies of the paper were not taken.

Horace Greeley once wrote an article on "Suburban Journalism Advancing," and the compositor, thinking it one of his famous agricultural articles, set it up, "Superb Jerusalem Artichoke."

A Chicago writer described an exquisite as one "Whose manners would adorn a drawing room," but the unthinking compositors made it read, "Whose manners would adorn a drowning man."

One of the worst instances of misprints was where the heading, "A Honeymoon Cut Short," was printed in full face, "A Hungarian Cut-throat."

Perhaps no newspaper writer was ever more chagrined than the society editor who, in describing a fashionable party, intended to say of the hostess, "She looked au fait," and the unfeeling blacksmith made it read, "She looked all feet."

At the Minstrels.

[From Judge.]

"Mr. Tambo," remarks the middleman, "I have a very important question to propound this evening. Can you tell me why a financially embarrassed man resembles a canine?"

"No, Mr. Centerpiece; Ah can't tell yo'," says Mr. Tambo. "Why am a financially 'barrassed men lak a kanine?"

"Because," replies the middleman, "he never has any money in his pants. I guess that will hold you while our charming tenor, Mr. Caruso Highsee, sings the beautiful and pathetic ballad, 'Her Raven Locks Have Turned to Gold.'"

Mr. Highsee rises majestically, puts one hand behind him, hangs his thumb over a vest-button and begins, "The old farmhouse is waiting——"

"Look yere!" shouts Mr. Tambo, "Jes' suppose de financially 'barrassed man wears pants wid checks in 'em?"

CANNON TOO OLD.

[Seattle Times.]

The suggestion that the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, is likely to become President of the United States will become absurd when one remembers his age. Mr. Cannon was born in 1836, and is therefore now seventy years of age—and will be seventy-two years of age when the Republican convention is ready to make a nomination in 1908. William Henry Harrison was sixty-eight years of age when inaugurated—but he lived but a solitary month—and was the oldest man ever inaugurated President of the United States. James Buchanan was sixty-six years of age, but in his second childhood at seventy. Uncle Joe Cannon will probably be Speaker as long as he stays in Congress—but he will never be President.

Pilcher-Archer.

Beautiful Wedding at Church of the Advent Last Evening, Followed By Reception at Home of the Bride.

The marriage of Miss Virginia Chamberlin Pilcher and Mr. Thomas Porter Archer was solemnized last evening at the Church of the Advent. The Rev. Harry S. Musson officiated. It was one of the prettiest weddings of the year.

The church was beautifully decorated in pink and white. The chorus from Lohengrin was played by Mr. Edward H. Gleason, the organist, as the bridal party entered. The maid of honor, Miss Hortense Pilcher, cousin of the bride, was preceded by the ushers, Messrs. Priest Frazier, Lanham Frazier, Percy Pilcher and Rumsey Kinney. The bride entered with her father, Mr. Harry Vache Pilcher, and was met at the chancel by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. William Waller Hawkins.

The bridal party left the church to the strains of a selection from Mendelssohn.

The bride wore a beautiful lace robe. Her veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a prayer book, bound in white.

The maid of honor wore a pink crystal gauze creation, with a lace hat of the same color. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Vache Pilcher, on Cherokee Road, for the members of the bridal party, the relatives and a few intimate friends. The decorations at the reception also were of pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Archer left afterward for a trip to Yellowstone Park.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Archer, Miss Mary A. Archer and Mr. Reginald Archer, of Owensboro, and Miss Axie Watkins and Mr. Lyle Watkins, of Petersburg, Ill.

ON THE FUNNY BONE.

Get Ready.

Take the good old roorbacks down,
Brush away the dust;
Furbish up the slogans, brown
With accreting rust.
Try the ancient keynotes out,
See if they're in tune;
Oil the money barrel's spout—
Campaign opens soon.

Renovate the frayed canards
Which to some appeal;
Shuffle up the tattered cards
For another deal.
Lug the musty scarecrows forth;
'Tis the freeman's boon
To demand his money's worth—
Campaign opens soon.

"Well, I wouldn't worry," responded the tourist. "When they're all gone you can begin on the authors. I understand they're plentiful enough."

SOCIETY'S SINS.

[London Spectator.]

To denounce the vices of an upper class will always please the lower. Human nature is such that it will not be warned off the gross obvious sins if it has the wish or means to compass them; and if it has not, it will not be appreciably the better for hearing them described and abused. The worst of the "racy sermon against vice," as Stevenson has pointed out, is that there is always a "secret element of gusto," if not in the preacher, in the hearer.

There is no obscurity about the facts. No one needs to be convinced that immorality and gambling are wrong. But if they are associated with a particular class, men and women who do not belong to that class will not take warning—they cannot imagine that the lesson applies to them—but will feel only a prurient or self-righteous satisfaction in this drawing of the veil from a life which they believe to be more desirable than their own.

All preaching at classes is apt to have this disastrous result. It does not touch the culprits, who are glad of the advertisement; and it stimulates idle curiosity and an unjustifiable satisfaction in others who would be better employed in reflecting on their own shortcomings.

SNAKE BATTLE.

[Clay City Times.]

Adam Abney's wife on the head of Hardwick's creek a short time ago was out on the road with a pair of twin babies and a large Maltese cat came across a large rattlesnake which the cat was wanting to attack. Mrs. Abney set the babies down in the road and killed the snake, but all the while had to hold fast to the cat to keep it from the snake. The snake had ten rattles and one button.

NO CHANGE

Will Be Made in Date of Bryan Reception.

SEPTEMBER 12 SELECTED AS CONVENIENT TO HIM.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE RESENT INTERFERENCE.

HOW PROMISE WAS SECURED.

The effort being made to have William Jennings Bryan change the date of his coming to Louisville from September 12 to some day during the Kentucky State Fair is much deplored by members of the committee selected to invite Mr. Bryan to a reception in Louisville given in his honor by the people of the South.

"Those who are engineering the plans to have Mr. Bryan at the State Fair, surely do not understand the situation," said a member of the Bryan Reception Committee last night.

"When it was ascertained that Mr. Bryan was to be given a reception in New York, John W. Vreeland suggested to some of Mr. Bryan's admirers in Louisville that they arrange a similar reception in Mr. Bryan's honor in Louisville on behalf of the entire South. Since Mr. Bryan was to be the guest of honor, his wishes were naturally to be consulted as to the date convenient to him. A cable message was sent to him in London acquainting him with the plans of the Louisville Democrats, and Mr. Bryan's engagements indicated that September 12 was the convenient date for him to come to Louisville. This was made possible from the fact that he could stop over in this city going from St. Louis to Cincinnati, at both of which places he was to speak. He notified Chairman Vreeland that he accepted the invitation to be in Louisville and named September 12 as the date.

"Accordingly, invitations to public men of the South have been sent broadcast. Those who have accepted have done so with the understanding that the reception will be on the date named by Mr. Bryan himself. Any change at this time would inconvenience Mr. Bryan, to say the least, and would disarrange the plans of the distinguished Southerners who have indicated their purpose of being in Louisville on the date fixed. It is too late now to make other plans and prepare for another date, and the committee has no idea of doing any such thing.

"It seems to me to be gratuitous on the part of any self-constituted committee to presume to take the matter from the hands of the regular committee and attempt any such action."

INDIANA ENTHUSIASTIC.

Large Crowds Will Come to Louisville to See Bryan.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Adam Heimberger, of New Albany, was here to-day and succeeded in interesting a large number of Democrats in the coming of Bryan to Louisville. So persuasive was Mr. Heimberger that several who were contemplating a trip to the New York reception to Bryan suddenly changed their minds and will go to Louisville instead.

A formal invitation to the members of the State Central Committee to attend the Louisville reception was extended by Mr. Heimberger, and was accepted by the committee. All of them will be present. The Indiana Democratic Club was also invited, and President Mack said that the club will attend in a body.

"Of course," said Mr. Heimberger, "Indiana is not a Southern State, but it is just next door to Louisville, and that city did not have the nerve to overlook her neighbor. I was appointed the Indiana chairman, and I shall tender an invitation to the Central Committee, the congressional nominees of the party and the leaders. Bryan will not be in Indiana, and this will be our best opportunity to see him. I have engaged State headquarters at The Seelbach Hotel, and the Louisville people are giving us prominence in the reception. The southern part of Indiana at least will be there in trainloads, and I think that all of the State will be well represented."

First District—Maj. G. V. Menzies, Mt. Vernon.
Second District—Cyrus Davis, Bloomfield.
Third District—
Fourth District—Lincoln Dixon, North Vernon.
Fifth District—Claude G. Bowers, Terre Haute.
Sixth District—T. A. Kuhn, Richmond.
Seventh tDistrict—Frank E. Gavin, Indianapolis.
Eighth District—John A. M. Adair, Portland.
Ninth District—Marion Clodfelter, Crawfordsville.
Tenth District—Wm. Darrach, Kentland.
Eleventh District—George Rauch, Marion.
Twelfth District—Dr. J. W. Maar, Albion.
Thirteenth District—Benj. F. Shively, South Bend.

CUTTING OFF OF PASSES

Materially Cuts Down the Size of Chicago's Delegation.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Federal rate legislation involving the giving of railway passes has interfered seriously with the welcome of William J. Bryan. The law which became effective to-day, has made it practically impossible for any one of the hundreds of enthusiastic admirers to travel to New York without paying for his transportation in the coin of the realm and this dampened the ardor of many Illinois Democrats. A week ago it was announced that hundreds of Illinois Democrats were going to New York. When the train left to-day this great outpouring had dwindled to such an extent that one car would have furnished ample accommodation for the entire delegation.

National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan and the close friends and advisers who helped him control the recent State Convention and hand to Mr. Bryan the indorsement in the way he said he did not want it, left shortly after 2 o'clock on the Twentieth Century Limited.

DR. L. P. SPEARS SUCCEEDS DR. J. W. GUEST.

Roman Leachman Made Sanitary Inspector in Health Office Corps.

The Board of Public Safety yesterday accepted the resignation of Dr. J. W. Guest as physician for the Eastern district of Louisville, and appointed Dr. Llewellyn P. Spears as his successor. Dr. Spears has been a sanitary inspector in the Health Office, and will assume the duties of his new position September 1.

Roman Leachman, formerly a patrolman, was appointed yesterday a sanitary inspector in the Health Office, to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Dr. L. P. Spears.

Capt. Lee Herbold, of No. 4 Hook and Ladder Company, is no longer a member of the Fire Department. His resignation, sent in several days ago, was accepted yesterday by the Board of Public Safety.

Miss Elizabeth Reiter, Miss Emma E. Metzer and Miss Della Cockrill were appointed trained nurses in the City Hospital to take the places of three trained nurses who were graduated from the institution.

John Mackey was appointed a substitute fireman by the Board of Public Safety.

NEED DRY WEATHER.

KENTUCKY CROPS INJURED BY CONTINUED RAINS.

Conditions General Throughout the State, According to Reports to Weather Bureau.

Dry weather is badly needed throughout the agricultural district of Kentucky, according to the weekly report of the Weather Bureau issued yesterday. During the past week the temperature throughout the State was above normal and the weather was sultry. Previous to that period there had been too much rain for the crops. The heavy rains following the hot spells were detrimental to growing crops. In many places tobacco and other young growing crops were scalded. The lowlands in many sections were completely inundated. The following extracts from reports sent into the Weather Bureau by its correspondents are reproduced:

WESTERN SECTION.

Ballard—The weather was very sultry, with showers on two days.

Graves—There were several warm days and very heavy rain fell Thursday, doing great damage on lowlands.

McCracken—Sultry and warm weather continues, with plenty of sunshine and few showers.

Webster—The weather has been warm and sultry, with too much rain.

Christian—High temperature has prevailed, but there was a slight relief by rains the latter part of the week.

CENTRAL SECTION.

Simpson—The temperature was high, with much sunshine and no rain.

Grayson—The temperature has been considerably above the normal, with hot, oppressive afternoons, but pleasant nights.

Hardin—This week has been the warmest of the season, with frequent small amounts of precipitation.

Spencer—The weather was warm, with heavy rains in portions of the county, but only a trace at the observation station.

Marion—The weather was warm and there has been too much rain for some things.

Gwenton—Local rains occurred in nearly all parts of the county.

Kenton—There has been hot and sultry weather, with half an inch or less of rain in the southern portion of the county.

Grant—The week has been unusually warm, with no rain. Tuesday was the warmest day of the week.

Fayette—Occasional showers have occurred, but the temperature has been uncomfortably warm.

Mason—This has been the warmest week of the year, with the temperature 96 degrees on Friday. Except on Friday, when there was a light shower, there has been a thunderstorm every day without rainfall.

Madison—We have had much heat, high humidity and a few local showers.

SPRATLEY CAN'T COME.

LEE THOMAS TO JUDGE THREE-GAITED SADDLERS.

Winners in Three Classes at Horse Show Get Choice of Plate or Money.

The Kentucky Horse Show Society has received a letter from Jack Spratley stating that it will be impossible for him to serve as judge in the three-gaited saddle classes. Mr. Spratley, it will be remembered, is the son of John Spratley, of Virginia, who judged at Louisville in three-gaited saddle horse classes at the Horse Show last year, and his decisions were eminently satisfactory. Mr. Spratley, Jr., is said to be quite as good a judge of a horse as his father, and it is a matter of deep regret that Mr. Spratley is unable to serve.

Lee Thomas, of Lexington, who was some time ago invited to serve as judge, and has just returned home, has signified his willingness to act as judge in the three-gaited classes. This acceptance coming from Mr. Thomas at this time relieves the society of the embarrassment of being short a judge in the three-gaited saddle classes. Mr. Thomas, it is said, is an expert saddle horse judge and is a gentleman of the highest integrity.

The society has deemed it advisable to allow the winner of the first prize in classes 28, 31 and 39 to have his choice of the cups offered, or to accept, in lieu of the plate, $150 in cash. Some exhibitors, and particularly the ones that are making the showing of horses a business, prefer the money, while others who show horses merely for amusement prefer the cups. This action was taken by the society in order that anyone winning a first prize in either of the above-mentioned classes might have what he most desires.

WILL BATTLE

For Possession of Henderson's Big Park.

SOLDIERS OF THIRD WILL IMITATE REAL WAR.

TEST TRAINING IN OFFENSE AND DEFENSE.

WILL BREAK CAMP TO-NIGHT.

Camp Harris, Henderson, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—To-day was the most strenuous day that the Third has had since it has been in camp. The boys went about their duties with a vim and seemed to enjoy the exercise and the maneuver to the fullest extent. Col. Henry has given his men more practical field work than has ever been given a regiment of the State Guard on an encampment.

A telegram was received to-night by Col. Parrent from Gov. Beckham, stating that owing to pressing business engagements it would be impossible for him to come to camp to-morrow to review the Third regiment. The regiment is much disappointed over the news, as they were prepared to put up a good review.

Five men were presented with medals on parade to-day. They were: Capt. J. K. Piper, 96; Sergt. Taylor, 92; Privates Dexter Butler, 107; L. P. Johnson, 112, and Roy L. Buck, of Company G, 113. Buck's scored won for him not only his company medal but the regimental gold medal. His score is the best yet made by either the First or Third regiments. The medals were presented by Col. Henry. He gave the men a short talk and complimented them upon their good rifle work.

Sham Battle To-day.

The feature of the Third's encampment here will take place to-morrow morning at 6 o'clock at Atkinson Park. To-night Col. Henry issued sealed orders to his three Majors to take their battalions to that vicinity, where a real attack and camp defense will take place. The First battalion will leave camp at daybreak in heavy marching order. They will form a defense around the park, where they will pitch their shelter tents and otherwise erect a field camp. An hour after the First leaves the other two battalions will depart from Camp Harris in heavy marching order and will attack the battalion from all sides. Col. Henry and Capt. Brewster will take a commanding position and view the battle.

To-morrow night at 7 o'clock the Third will break camp and will entrain at 10 o'clock. The Second, under the command of Col. Embry Allen, will arrive Friday morning and will remain in camp eight days.

* * *

Cool Weather a Relief.

The cool, delightful weather Monday and Tuesday brought much relief to the Third regiment. The sweltering days of last week prevented Col. Henry from doing very much field work. With the mercury hovering around the 100 mark, he kept his men in as much as possible, but the change was what was desired, and the Third is getting army life good and strong.

Outpost duty in the open is what they need most, and this is what they are getting three times each day. Camp defense and attack are being gone through under the supervision of Capt. Brewster, the regular army officer, who is instructor of camp. All field movements are executed each morning before guard mount.

To-day a skirmish attack on camp was executed, but proved a dismal failure on account of the excellent defense thrown around camp by the Second and Third battalions. The First battalion, as skirmishers, formed all around the grounds, but were checked before reaching striking distance. Col. Henry says his men are fit for any duty known to military science, and are ready for the firing line on demand.

The Third regiment has made wonderful improvement since they came to camp, both on parade and on the field. Their appearance is more like regulars than State troops. The regiment is composed of large men, not one being less than five feet eight inches tall. They were known in the Spanish-American War as the "bloody" Third, because of their anxiety to "scrap" at all times, but their order and good behavior here have attracted the attention of every citizen. So far but one man out of the regiment has been arrested by the civil authorities, and that arrest was not made in camp.

The Third has proved their marksmanship by remarkable scores made on the rifle range. Over twenty men to date have made over 100, which is far above the average. The highest score made is 112, scored by Private L. P. Johnson, of the Hartford company. This score is above the average made in the United States army, and no doubt will win the regimental medal.

ORPHANS' FESTIVAL IN CRESCENT HILL.

Big Crowd Expected on the Grounds This Afternoon and To-night.

All plans are completed for the annual festival to be given to-day and to-night by the St. Joseph's Orphans' Society at the grounds in Crescent Hill. An interesting programme of music and other methods of entertainment has been prepared.

The Uniform Rank, Catholic Knights of America, will attend the festival to-night in a body. The company is composed of seventy-five members, who will give an exhibition drill. It is expected that the drill will be an attractive feature of the evening's programme.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. N. Haldeman, the services being conducted by the Rev. Dr. Francis Beattie. The burial will be in Cave Hill cemetery.

MALFEASANCE

Charged Against the Mayor of New Albany.

TWO MEMBERS OF BOARD OF WORKS ARE IMPLICATED.

CITED TO APPEAR FOR TRIAL TO-MORROW MORNING.

MAYOR GROSE GOES FISHING.

Charges of misconduct and malfeasance in office were filed at a called meeting of the New Albany Common Council last night against the Mayor, William V. Grose, and John Tegart and Charles W. Poutch, members of the Board of Public Works, and they were cited to appear Thursday morning, August 30, at 10 o'clock at the Council chamber before Councilmen R. W. Harris, E. J. Hackett and George W. Strack, sitting as a Committee of Supervision and Investigation. As soon as the Council adjourned notices addressed to Mayor Grose, J. E. Tegart and C. W. Poutch, the accused persons, were given Patrolman Jacob Fess to serve upon them. It was understood in New Albany last evening that Mayor Grose had left the city and in fact a member of his family stated to a gentleman who had called on business at his home, 37 West Tenth street, that city, that he had gone on a fishing trip to Blue river and would not return until after the first of next month.

The call for the meeting was signed by Councilmen R. W. Harris, E. J. Hackett, Benjamin Jackson, G. W. Strack and Lewis Thorne. The call stated that the meeting was to be held for the purpose of considering and acting on charges of misconduct, preferred against William V. Grose, John Tegart and Charles W. Poutch. Upon inquiry City Clerk Eugene Brisby stated that the Mayor was not at home when he called at his residence to serve the notice of the meeting upon him. Councilmen Benjamin Jackson was called to the chair to preside and, without any annoying delay, the business for the transaction of which the members had been called together was proceeded with.

Charges Were Preferred.

Councilman Hackett offered a communication from the committee to which the matter had been referred at the called meeting last Saturday night. The communication, which was in five paragraphs, was in substance that: In June, 1906, William V. Grose, John Tegart and Charles W. Poutch, the first named being Mayor of New Albany, and the others members of the Board of Public Works, of that city, had wrongfully and unlawfully conspired and combined with the Marion County Construction Company, the contractor for the construction of the sewer system of New Albany, its officers and agents to neglect and violate their duties as such officers in the matter of the contract between the city of New Albany and the company for the construction and completion of a system of storm and sanitary sewers, and to permit the company, its officers and servants to disregard the terms of the contract, to the great damage, loss and inconvience of the citizens and property owners.

It was further alleged in the communication that the three named had unlawfully conspired and combined with the construction company to deprive the citizens and property owners of New Albany by the pretended acceptance and approval of the system, and that they well knew the system had not been built according to the contract and the plans and specifications, Grose having full knowledge of such violations and failing to prevent the full carrying out of the same. It is alleged also that they had conspired to accept the system as completed, notwithstanding the fact that within their knowledge it had not been thoroughly tested.

August 24, it was alleged, John Tegart and Charles W. Poutch had conspired and combined with the Marion County Construction Company by the pretended allowance of bills for alleged extras on the sewer contract amounting to $13,836, without examination and without giving Charles A. Kepley, the minority member of the Board of Public Works, and Walter N. Bulleit, City Attorney, an opportunity to examine the items, which privilege they had demanded.

Conspiracy Alleged.

They had, the communication recited, for more than three months, viz.: June, July and August, conspired and combined with the contracting company to damage, annoy and defraud the property-owners and the city by failing to exercise any supervision over the work of the construction of the sewers and by permitting the construction company, by its servants and tools, to unlawfully resort to tricks, artifices and expedients, to render the city liable to said company for such incomplete and unsatisfactory work, although they well knew the company had not performed its contract and had violated the same in many important particulars. That they had combined and conspired with the contractor for the acceptance of the system when they knew that it could not be faithfully and properly completed for several weeks or months, the purpose being the approval and acceptance of the same before September 2, when they expected to be removed from office.

The communication was accepted and ordered placed on file, and a resolution was adopted unanimously providing that the charges of misconduct and malfeasance in office made against W. V. Grose, John Tegart and Charles W. Poutch be referred to the Committee of Supervision and Investigation, Councilmen Harris, Hackett and Strack, to make a thorough investigation of the matter. The clerk, Eugene Brisby, was directed to notify the accused officials to answer to the charges before the committee at the Council chamber August 30 at 10 a. m.

Indignation Expressed.

Considerable indignation is expressed by the people of New Albany, especially the property owners, over the attempt made by Tegart and Poutch, in their capacity as members of the Board of Public Works, to railroad the matter through, it being considered that unseemly haste had been manifested. The Common Council of the city, the New Albany Commercial Club and the citizens generally have determined that a thorough inspection of the sewer system shall be made before the property owners are required to pay for it. To this end expert civil engineers will be engaged and the inspection will be made in a thorough and complete manner. There is no desire on the part of the New Albany people to embarrass the construction company, but they are resolved that the sewer must be according to the contract, the plans and specifications and they must have satisfactory proof that it is so. The original contract for the construction of the improvement was $207,316 and to this there is added $9,000 for house connections, from the sewer to the curb line of the streets, and over $12,000 for extras, making the total the people are expected to pay $229,686.12.

PHILIP KALTENTHALER TURNS UP IN UTAH.

Father Learns of His Whereabouts Through Letter to Chief of Police.

Philip Kaltenthaler, a pretzel baker at 2320 Baxter avenue, identified a young man who was committed to the Utah State Asylum for the Insane at Salt Lake City, as his son, Philip Kaltenthaler, Jr., formerly of Louisville. The identity of the young man was established through a letter received by Sebastian Gunther, Chief of Police, from C. Loofbourow, an attorney of Salt Lake City. The letter described the young man as being twenty-one years old, and as having a smooth face, a pointed nose, medium complexion and weighing 140 pounds. The letter also said that the young man gave his name as Philip Kalten, son of a baker of Louisville. This name could not be found in the directory, but the name of Philip Kaltenthaler was found and Mr. Gunther called him up by telephone. Mr. Kaltenthaler said the young man was his son. He will immediately communicate with the authorities at Salt Lake City.

Young Kaltenthaler left home four years ago and went West in search of adventure and fortune. The last time the family heard from him, which was six months ago, he was in British Columbia.

BABY'S VOICE
Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. Address

Railroads to Accept New Rate Law.

REPRESENTATIVES BEFORE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

HEARING ON PHASES OF THE VARIOUS REGULATIONS.

DECISION TO COME LATER.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Five members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Chairman Knapp and Commissioners Clements, Cockrell, Clark and Lane, were present to-day at the initial hearing under the new railroad freight rate law.

The law recently enacted by Congress became effective to-day. Under its terms the carriers of the country were expected to be prepared to-day to meet its requirements and to comply, so far as possible, with its essential provisions. Already, in partial compliance with the law, tons of tariff rate schedules have been filed with the commission by the various railroads and common carrier lines of the country and additional tariffs are being received by the commission in every mail.

Many of the railroads have contented themselves with the filing with the commission of the tariffs heretofore in effect, merely adjusting them to the requirements of the new law. They have indicated to the commission their desire to meet the provisions of the law without unnecessary obstruction or opposition, although they have indicated that, in some respects, it will be impossible for them to comply with the letter of the law until such time as the commission shall rule as to certain phases of the act.

Railroads Will Comply.

The five commissioners who are in Washington conducted a hearing in the rooms of the commission to-day, at which time the trunk lines, New England and Central railroads were heard, through their representatives, as to some phases of the operation of the new rate law. Thirty-four representatives of these railroads, including traffic officials and counsel and eight representatives of various shipping organizations, were in attendance on the hearing.

Every speaker, representing the railraods, informed the commission that the railroads of the country had no disposition to lay obstacles in the way of its enforcement of the act, and the speakers vied with one another in assuring the commission of their intention to comply with the provisions of the law in every substantial particular.

B. D. Caldwell, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, told the commission that many questions had arisen, particularly concerning the publication and filing of tariffs, on which they felt they ought to have an exchange of views. He suggested that it would be necessary to have an extension of time in which the carriers should have an opportunity to file their tariffs with the commission, and he requested that the commission continue the present method of posting railroad tariffs now generally in effect. In connection with the suggestion that the commission suspend or modify import and export rates, he urged that no change be made in the law until the fullest hearing shall have been held. He also held that a joint rate (in which two or more carriers are interested) should be the subject of concurrence. He insisted, as did all the other speakers, that absolute concurrence in joint rates of all the carriers interested should be had before the rates were established.

Desire to Obey Law.

George V. Massey, general counsel of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, assured the commission that it was the desire of all the roads with whom he had conferred to conform absolutely with the law, despite reports to the contrary.

G. J. Grammer, vice president of the New York Central lines, gave the same assurance. He said also there was absolutely no cause for making the change in export and import rates with less than thirty days' notice, as provided by the present law.

Chairman Knapp called his attention to the fact that in the moving of cotton the method of changing rates had been in practice for years.

"Do you think," asked Chairman Knapp, "that the change ought to be made applicable as to this year's movement of cotton?"

"I do," responded Mr. Grammer. "I believe the carriers can adjust themselves to the new law in this respect within thirty days."

"How long will it take the carriers to meet the requirements of the law?" asked Commissioner Cockrell.

"I hope the commission will give me credit for good faith," replied Mr. Caldwell, "when I say that it is impossible to tell. We had had in mind that after the commission has prescribed its regulations on the rulings we have requested it might take sixty or ninety days."

* * *

Resolutions Presented.

After the hearing of the traffic officials, F. T. Bentley, of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association and the American Shippers' Association, presented a series of resolutions, an abstract of which follows:

That we favor a continuance of the present practice of having tariffs in the custody of agents, with a placard announcing that they are open to public inspection.

That only one amendment to a tariff shall be in effect at one time, and when a later amendment is necessary it shall include all five changes up to date.

As to the thirty-day requirement of publication of tariffs:

That we favor the commission ruling that a reduction in domestic rates can be made effective on ten days' notice, and on export business allow three days' legal notice for any reduction on the same.

That we favor a commission ruling that a line having no published tariff rate or carrying a higher published tariff rate than its competitors, publication should be permitted to accept and forward business upon telegraphing the commission the facts, and stating that they adopt the competitors' rate as their own, to become effective at once, and to prevent discrimination, it must accept the lower competitive rate.

That we favor the railways adopting a switching tariff at each competitive point.

That means be devised to make a railway company quote rates to the public and be responsible therefor, even though they make an error in so quoting.

That we favor a ruling from the commission that an application sheet covering such territory or such railroad connections as are parties to the rate from a particular terminal should be considered legal and sufficient.

That we should insist that the railway companies recognize the sum of locals as the only legal rate, when such sum is lower than a higher published through rate.

That the practice of making import rates on commodities competitive with domestic productions is discriminatory, and that the lowest basis from any foreign port to an inland destination should not be lower than the domestic rate of the most favorably located port of entry; and in no case should through import rates be less than the export rates in the opposite direction between the same points.

That we favor the adoption by all shippers of a freight receipt or bill of lading without any conditions, as are now embodied in bills of lading in use generally.

* * *

Opposes Posting of Rates.

James Maynard, of Knoxville, Tenn., president of the Brookville mills, a large shipper of cotton goods, opposed the mere posting in stations of railroad tariffs. He said the great trouble was that the railroads shifted the classification on shippers, which enabled them to put up a higher rate. He admonished the commission that if this point were not provided against, the effect of the new law would be nullified.

J. A. Farley, of Dallas, Tex., representing the American Shippers' Association, urged that the commission ought to exercise discretion as to change of export and import rates. He insisted all rates should be published in the full acceptation of the term, as they were public and not private property.

At the conclusion of the hearing the commission announced it would take up the matters presented and later make known its decision.

SUCCUMBS TO BLOOD POISONING.

John H. Robberts Passes Away After an Illness of Over a Year.

John H. Robberts, of 1832 Magazine street, died of blood poisoning yesterday afternoon at his home. Mr. Robberts conducted a retail dry goods establishment at the same address for a number of years, and was one of the best-known residents of the West End. About a year ago a horse trampled upon his feet, and some weeks later gangrene developed, with which he suffered more or less up to the time of his death. About a month ago his illness reached a state where he was obliged to take to his bed. Mr. Robberts was fifty years old and is survived by a wife and six children—Mrs. Elizabeth Ritter, Ida and Gertrude Robberts, and William J., Edward and Louis Robbert. The funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial will be in Cave Hill cemetery.

Cole Law Tax Immense.

Columbus, O., Aug. 28.—The gross earnings of the public service companies taxed under the Cole law will reach this year the enormous sum of two hundred millions. The reports of the companies are due by September 1 and many are already in. Included in the list of quasi public corporations taxed under this law are steam and electric railroads, express, telegraph and telephone, signal and messenger, pipe line, gas and electric light and power companies, and freight line companies.

They are taxed one per cent. on their gross earnings, so that the law will produce this year $2,000,000 of revenue. Last year their earnings reached only $180,000,000.

RIVER, BUSINESS AND WEATHER.

The river was rising last evening with 7 feet 7 inches in the canal, 5 feet 5 inches on the falls and 17 feet at the foot of the locks. Business good. Weather clear and pleasant.

DRIFTWOOD.

The Chattanooga leaves for Tell City at noon to-day. She is the best packet ever in the trade....The Tarascon leaves for Evansville this afternoon at 4 p. m. The Cincinnati leaves for Cincinnati this evening at 5 o'clock....Business continues brisk with the boats....The Fulton is on her way here from Cairo with a tow of empties....The season is rapidly drawing near when excursions on the river will be enjoyments of the past, so enjoy them while opportunity for a delightful trip offers itself. Now is the time to enjoy a trip on a steamboat....The new transfer towboat Wm. Edenbern will go to Pittsburg and bring out a tow for the South. ....The Joe B. Williams left here for Cairo on the 23d inst. with forty barges of coal. The Fulton, with nine coalboats, left two hours later and beat the Williams to Cairo two hours. Capt. Clarence Carter was captain and pilot on the Fulton and proved himself a boatman....A rush of wholesale pearl merchants from New York to the Wabash, Mississippi, Ohio and Western rivers has taken place in the last few days. One round, white pearl, weighting sixty-three grains, was bought several days ago by Maurice Brower, of 12 John street, and is said to be held at $15,000, although it was sold by the original finder for seventy-five cents. The pearl came in a shell the size of a silver dollar and was taken out of the Mississippi river on the Wisconsin bank. Another gem offered for $5,000 in the Maiden Lane district last week by I. E. Anthony, of Comanche, Iowa, is a ninety-nine grain pear-shaped drop of a pink color. Other tinted beauties of various sizes up to 100 grains have arrived from Vincennes, Ind.; Prairie du Chien, Wis., and other centers of the pearl-hunting activity....No rise in sight at Pittsburg. ....The Boaz is laid up at Safe Harbor, the Henry Lowrey at Port Henry and the Alice Brown at Steubensville....A negro stabbed Wm. Suter, mate on the Tarascon, at Evansville Monday. He is only slightly hurt....The Joe B. Williams left Cairo Monday with a tow for New Orleans....The Sprague and tow are above Memphis coming up....Capt. Tom Macauley has gone to Michigan on a two weeks' outing....A big crowd goes up the river and back to-morrow night on the Columbia....The Raymond Horner turned back to Pittsburg from Cincinnati....The "dead heads" are getting it where the chicken got the ax....All the side streams are running out into the upper Ohio....The Raymond Horner and tow arrived from above and went back....Lots of logs coming out of the side streams above....The new Wm. Edenbern was inspected at Cincinnati yesterday....The Pittsburg Dispatch says: "Capt. George L. Anschutz, aged sixty-nine, a veteran river man, is dead. His death was caused by injuries which he received in the explosion of the towboat Ironsides about 18 years ago. Capt. Anschutz was blown through the pilothouse and sustained injuries from which he always suffered. During the Civil War Captain Anschutz ran a boat between Pittsburg and New Orleans, and was in the Government service as a blockade runner. He was one of the pilots selected to run the gunboat fleet past the forts at Vicksburg when Grant besieged that city, and was detailed in the movement of troop ships on the Lower Mississippi." ....There is no prospect of an early rise at Pittsburg....The New Orleans Picayune says: "Congressmen have not been slow to recognize and comment on the river being used as a freight regulator, as shown by the remarks of Representative Stevens, who in an interview recently said: 'I believe that the policy of liberal appropriations for river and harbor improvements is the one policy for making low freight rates. River and harbor improvements should not be looked upon as a matter of local graft, or as of merely local importance. The Mississippi River, for instance, has a marked effect on freight rates. On railroads running along the river rates are 33 per cent. less than on the divisions of those same roads running into the interior. There can be no doubt that river improvements keep down rates, and I am very much in favor of a generous river and harbor appropriations and believe in the policy of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress to that end. I have a great deal of confidence in Mr. Burton, the chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, and feel that he can be trusted to work out a proper solution of the waterways problem provided he has enough money at his disposal. But, as is pointed out by members of the House Committee, there is little hope until the present annual appropriations of less than $20,000,000 are increased to a respectable sufficiency.' "....Capt. Ed Howard is going to build a new boat at Madison for the Tennessee river trade....Crowds are still rushing to Mammoth Cave on the boats from Evansville....The Keystone State arrived at Pittsburg Sunday, the first Cincinnati packet to arrive there in two months....The Indiana will have a big trip of people to Cincinnati Saturday evening on her low-rate excursion trip.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Pittsburg, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Once more the work on the locks and dams of this district is under way, after having been stopped by high water. August out did itself in the way of furnishing coalboat stages, and while the river coal operators flourished, the men in charge of completing the locks and dams were chagrined. River prophets are divided as to how much water they think there will be in the river this fall. Some think it will be a dry fall, and others believe that the packets will be kept running, with an occasional coalboat stage. There was 4.7 feet of water at Davis Island dam this evening, and the river was falling.

Cincinnati, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—At 6 p. m. to-day the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 18.1 feet, and falling. To-day's departures of packets were: Greenwood, for Ashland; Tacoma, for Maysville, and City of Louisville, for Louisville. On account of the water in sight at Pittsburg, the management has decided to send the Keystone State to Pittsburg Thursday. The Sallie Marmet arrived here to-day from the Kanawha with a tow of coal. She will return Wednesday with empties. The Florence Marmet and Lucie Marmet are due Wednesday with tows from the Kanawha. Clear and cooler.

Madison, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Schofield Contract Company, of Madison, has been awarded the contract for building a new Government water gauge at this port for $594. River 16.4 feet; rising slowly. Clear and cooler.

Evansville, Aug. 28.—River 13.5 feet; rising. Clear and cool.

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 28.—River 19.1 feet; stationary. Fair and cool. Arrived: Herman Paepcke, lower Mississippi, 10 a. m.; Katherine, lower Mississippi, 10 a. m.; City of Saltillo, St. Louis, 5 p. m. Departed: City of Savannah, St. Louis, 9 a. m.; Pacific, St. Louis, 11 a. m.; City of Saltillo, Tennessee river, 6 p. m.

St. Louis, Aug. 28.—River 13.3 feet; falling. Clear and cool. Departed: Ferd Herold, Memphis.

Memphis, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—River 12.7 feet; a fall of four-tenths in twenty-four hours. The towboat Sprague passed up for the Ohio river with fifty-seven empty coalboats and barges. The towboat Rees arrived from the Ohio river with a tow of coal.

JOCKEY NICOL HAS GOOD DAY

Wins With Three Mounts Out of Four At Latonia.

FINISHES THIRD ON OTHER.

Fizer Connections Make Big Killing on Victory of John English.

JOCKEY SEDER FINED $50.

LATONIA SELECTIONS.

First Race—Santon, Kleinwood, Osterman.
Second Race — Boserrian, All Ablaze, Electorine.
Third Race — Hector, Coruscate, Miss Doyle.
Fourth Race — St. Volma, Dunning, Blue Mint.
Fifth Race—Oak Grove, Mayor Johnson, Miss Anxious.
Sixth Race — Miss Kitty, Bazil, Alma Gardia.
Seventh Race — Fonsoluca, Amberita, Mamie Algol.
The one best bet — Boserrian, second race.

LATONIA, Ky., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The riding of Jockey Dave Nicol, who with to-day's winning mounts tops the list of winning jockeys, both on the metropolitan tracks of the East as well as the West, was the day's feature. Nicol had the leg up four times all told during the afternoon, three of which he succeeded in piloting to victory, while with the fourth he finished in third place.

Of the three earned brackets only one was a first choice, which makes the record all the better. This was in the fifth, when he had the mount on Griswold. The latter was an odds-on favorite, but lacked a good deal of support through the fact that the Ornus colt went to the post practically on three legs. Nicol, however, prejudged the start and, keeping his mount free of interference, managed to hold him together long enough to get the decision. Again in the second did Nicol display superiority over the other boys. In this he had the mount on Frank Flesher, made favorite mainly because of his presence in the saddle. Off in front as usual it was only after considerable generalship and questionable tactics that Frank Flesher earned another bracket. Had Nicol been up on either Demo or Bottles, which finished second and third respectively to the winner, there is hardly a question of a doubt but that he would have been returned the winner.

The Fizer connections added a little spice to the afternoon's sport by "burning up" the ring in the day's feature. Fizer had his man at the track early, and when the juicy price of 3 to 1 was laid against the chances of John English he commenced getting aboard in such quantities that 9 to 5 was tops when the horses paraded. The balance is now history, as John English won.

Katie Powers Disappoints.

The wise contingent received a severe set back in the day's opener when the heavily played Katie Powers failed to come home in front. The track and distance, in fact, the entire conditions could not have been better framed for Katie had Owner Reardon been allowed to write them. Davy Nicol and Athena, however, proved the real combination. Breaking well in motion, Nicol immediately whipped the old campaigner into a comfortable lead and, contrary to his riding instructions, set the pace for the entire trip. The judgment of Nicol proved to be better. The old mare took kindly to running in front and, turinng for home with a comfortable lead, won galloping by a wide margin. Sand Bath, which was second, was a close contender all the way and was ten lengths in front of Estrada Palma at the end. The latter a year ago in this company would have been 1 to 30. To-day, on the very verge of a breakdown, 30 to 1 was freely offered, with 8 to 1 that the Talbot castoff would not peep. Katie Powers ran one of her bad races; at no stage of the race could she raise a respectable gallop, finishing a very bad fifth.

Nicol Scores Again.

A very shifty field of eleven youngsters were required to negotiate the six-furlong journey in the second, a condition affair with the selling clause appended. The superior riding of Nicol, who was up on Frank Flesher, again played a very prominent part in the result of this race, as there is little question, the way the race was run, that at least two of those behind the winner could have taken his measure had Nicol been up to pilot them. Of these Bottles was much the best. Aubuchon, who had the leg up on the latter colt, gave him a bad ride. When the start came the Goldblatt rider snatched his mount up, and when the colt was free and full of running he ran him into a pocket rounding the far turn and again turning for home he allowed Nicol to shut him off again. Off well in motion as usual; Nicol sent Frank Flesher into a lead, and, although hard pressed by Demo all through the final furlong, managed to keep his mount together long enough to win. Demo, which ran in the colors of C. Helfers to-day, ran a good, game race, but was in close quarters all through the stretch, and Boland was unable to do his mount justice. Bottles, after all the interference he encountered, came again in the run home and easily took the short end.

Sorrel Top Makes Good.

Twelve very ordinary platers were colored for the third, which was a sprint affair at six furlongs. Sorrel Top, which was plunged on the last time out for a real good thing, made good to-day for the Fitzgerald connections in handy fashion. In the betting the horse with the ominous name always ruled favorite at 2's, while Inspector Girl, which has shown a disposition for the going, was in demand at 2's. Optional at 7's, and Evajean, played from 15's to 10's, were the balance to find support. With the rise of the barrier Inspector Girl flashed to the front and endeavored to make a runaway race of it, but going to the half Sorrel Top, which was off in a tangle, overhauled the Fizer trick, and, assuming command turning for home, won in a common canter. Inspector Girl hung on gamely under a drive and saved the place from Elude, which came from a long way back in the run home.

Coup on John English.

One of the biggest coups of the meeting was successfully engineered in the day's feature with John English, who finished a length in front of Miss Doyle, which in turn was four lengths ahead of the 6-to-5 favorite Miltiades. The latter opened up an odds on choice at 4 to 5, but the persistent plunge of the Fizer connection about John English, which opened at 3 to 1, and which gradually forced the latter's price down point by point until 9 to 5 was tops. That play had the effect of making 6 to 5 about the favorite go begging. Miss Doyle, too, was well played, her price being forced from an opener of 4s to 5 to 2. Pat Bulger, the only other starter, which it was generally conceded was in for an airing, had the juicy price of 25 to 1 posted about his chances. The start, which was one of Holtman's best endeavors found all four in almost perfect alignment. Turning into the back stretch John English and Miltiades were head and head. Going to the half Seder, on English, took him back and allowed Miltiades to go on and set the pace.

Athena, running to her best form and hustled into an early lead, tiptoed her field all the way. Sand Bath, running forwardly throughout, stood a long drive gamely, and had no excuses. Estrada Palma came from a long way back in the run home; the going presumably favored the latter's dickey legs. Katie Powers, badly ridden, closed stoutly with a belated rattle. The Laurel was a stout contender in the early stages, tired at the end and was weakly handled. Falkland and Lansdown can both do much better.

690—SECOND RACE—Six furlongs; purse $400; for two-year-olds; selling. Start good. Won driving; second and third same. Winner, J. Marklein & Co.'s ch. g., 2, by Marius II.—Bohemian Lass; trained by J. Marklein. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25 1-5, :51, 1:17 3-5.

Frank Flesher, running to his best form and best ridden, maintained a forward position for a half; assumed command without an effort and easily withstood the rush of Demo. The latter, slow to get in motion, closed fast turning for home and was gaining at every stride on the winner. Boys reversed latter would have won. Bottles, probably best, received a very suspicious ride; Aubuchon had the latter colt all over the track; was running over horses at the end as if they were tied. La Thorpe had the foot in the early stages, but tired badly in the last furlong. Princess Marie was shy on speed. Nedra had a flash of speed for a half.

691—THIRD RACE—Six furlongs; purse $400; for three-year-olds and upward; selling. Start bad. Won easily; second and third driving. Winner, I. B. Fitzgerald's ch. f., 4, by Hermence—Sunny Locks; trained by owner. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25, :50, 1:16 4-5.

665	Norwood Ohio	104	10	......	11...1	11...1	12	12	Johan'sen	15-1	30-1	10-1

Sorrel Top was much the best; assumed command when her rider was ready, winning in a common canter. Inspector Girl beat the barrier, ran a good, even race and had no excuses. Elude, poorly ridden in the early stages, closed strong; in better hands would have been closer up. Osterman shows steady improvement, and should do about the next time. Black Art is about due. Poetry seemed to favor the going.

692—FOURTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse $600. For three-year-olds and up; handicap. Start good. Won handily; second and third driving. Winner, W. H. Fizer & Co.'s b. c. 3, by Giganteum—Bloomer. Trained by W. H. Fizer. Value to winner, $450. Fractional time: :24 3-5, :49 4-5, 1:16, 1:29 4-5.

John English was best, and, after racing down Miltiades rounding the far turn, only galloped the balance of the way. Miss Doyle, poorly ridden, ran a good, courageous race under the circumstances and finished stoutly. Miltiades had a flash of speed for a half, then curled up. Pat Bulger is not near ready.

693—FIFTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $400. For two-year-olds; purse. Start poor. Won driving; second and third same. Winner, P. Dunne's br. c. 2, by Ornus—Sarah. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :24 4-5, :50 1-5, 1:03 1-5, 1:10 2-5.

Warner Griswold, off well in motion and free of interference, opened a winning lead in the first half and had something in reserve when Sainrida challenged, but pulled up slightly lame. Sainrida, a nicely turned youngster, was probably best; was running great guns at the end. Marmorean maintained a forward position throughout and had no apparent excuses. Mary Orr shows improvement and should do soon if not too pretentiously placed. The same can be said of Dulzura. The latter has worked exceptionally well. Bitter Boy quit all over when struck with the whip.

694—SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse $400. For three-year-olds and up; selling. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Winner, J. Hickey's ch. c. 3, by The Hero—Mountain Quail. Trained by J. McClernand. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25, :50, 1:17, 1:43 4-5.

The winner, running in improved form, ran in close pursuit to the head of the stretch, where he assumed command, winning with lots to spare. Loretta H. forced the pace throughout, but was not quite good enough to beat the winner. Sherrill, poorly ridden, closed strong. Galmeda, badly interferred with in the rush for positions, made up ground gamely, but hung from the early effort when the pinch came. Little James is a four flusher. Layson closed resolutely from a poor beginning. Gamester was as good as left.

Rounding the far turn Seder made his move, and, catching Taylor on the pacemaker napping, rushed up to him and by him, and opening up a commanding lead turning for home, had his mount well together when Miss Doyle made her determined challenge. The later mare, under very poor handling, closed stoutly, but as Perrett had the leg up, was of little assistance, and the Millett mare had to be content with second money. Miltiades was all out at the end and secured the short end mainly because there was nothing behind him to argue the issue.

Warner Griswold First.

On past performances Warner Griswold, which had Nicol up, seemed to stand our so prominently that the Ornus—Sarah colt seemed the one best bet of the day. This theory must have been borne out by the large plungers, for when the 9 to 10 was posted about the chances of the Dunne trick it was eagerly accepted, notwithstanding the fact that a well-defined rumor had been current to the effect that the colt was slightly lame. Sainrida, a rather shifty filly from the barn of Barney Schreiber, was next in demand at 4s, while Marmorean, which opened second choice at 3s, receded until 6s could be had in plenty. Nicol prejudged the start with Warner Griswold and, making the most of his advantage, opened a winning lead ere the field had gone a half, and, although hard pressed through the final furlong by Sainrida, won with something to spare. The latter trick in more competent hands that Keys might have been returned the winner. As it was the Sainrida filly was running over the winner in the last few strides. Marmorean, which had been in close contention all the way, got up in time to annex the short end.

Rank Outsider First.

Of the very ordinary lot that were colored for the closing race, Gamester, which ran so impressively the last time, was the most fancied. While Little James, another hot one from the barn of Hugie McCarren, was well fancied at 3s, the winner turned up in Red Coat, a rank outsider in the betting, about which was quoted the fancy price of 15 to 1. The good thing did not go unbacked, for the stable connections were down hook line and sinker, forcing the top price of 25 to 1 to a close of the above amount. Galmeda, on reported fast work, was backed from 15s to a close of 8s just as post was called. Little James assumed command when the barrier was raised and showed the way for six furlongs, after which he hung out the distress signal very badly and stopped to nothing. Red Coat, which had run in close attendance to the turn for home, assumed command and easily stood off the stretch challenge of Loretta H., while Sherrill, another long shot, was third.

Fine Scores in Tournament.

Seagirt, N. J., Aug. 28.—Excellent shooting conditions attended the second day of the great military shooting tournament. The day was memorable in the history of such competitions by the unprecedented number of entries in the two individual matches, 242 riflemen facing the targets in the Leech Cup match and 217 in the Hale match.

An interesting feature of the day was the excellent marksmanship of Mrs. Elizabeth Topperwein, of San Antonia, Tex., who qualified for enrollment as a member of the marksman's reserve by scoring 59 out of the possible 75 in five shots each at 200, 300 and 500 yards.

The Leech Cup match, open to all, seven shots each at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, was won by Capt. Stewart Wise, First corps of cadets, Boston, with the fine score of 100 out of a possible 105. The winner will receive the Leech Cup, to be held for one year, and a gold badge. Second prize, $25, was won by Corporal Eastman, Ohio, with a total of 94.

The Hale match, open to all comers, each competitor firing ten shots at 600 yards, was won by Second Lieut. W. A. Baker, of the Fourth New Jersey regiment, with a perfect score of 50. Lieut. MILLERS PLAY WELL IN FIELD

Also Hit Hard and Win Another Game From Colonels.

SULLIVAN'S COSTLY THROWS.

Oyler, Minneapolis' Clever Shortstop, Handles Fourteen Chances Without an Error.

FORD PITCHES GREAT BALL.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 28.—[Special.] — Minneapolis played brilliantly in the field to-day and also proved strong at bat, winning the last game of the season from Louisville by the score of 7 to 2.

Gene Ford had the visitors guessing most of the time and kept the hits so well scattered that only in one inning were they able to send men across the plate. Behind Ford the team played gilt-edged ball and there was not a listless play or mistake of judgment during the contest.

On the other hand the Colonels started out with a very raw exhibition, and if they had not redeemed themselves during the latter part of the game they would have been disgraced.

Suter Sullivan on third made two wild throws to first base. One of them was on Hart's grounder that followed an error by Stovall, and a two-bagger by Denny Sullivan, which had landed Davis and Sullivan on third and second. The ball went into the bleachers and two men scored.

After this the Colonels held themselves tighter, but singles and occasional two-baggers at opportune moments during the remaining innings helped to pile up the score. The Minneapolis infield was given the brunt of the work to do. The Colonels could not hit Ford's curves beyond the infield. Oyler, Minneapolis' clever little shortstop, alone handled fourteen chances without a skip. Fox took care of eight. Fox's stop of Woodruff's grounder in the sixth proved one of the features. Two double plays were pulled off during the game. Quinlan singled in the third and went to second when Kenna walked. Kerwin flied to Hart and the latter threw the ball to Fox in time to catch Quinlan, who had led off, thinking the ball was going away from Hart. In the eighth the visitors started off with a single by Suter Sullivan, but Fox, Oyler and Freeman put an end to their fun by doubling them when Brashear hit a grounder to Fox. Attendance, 1,500. MANAGER JONES, of the White Sox, is the most satisfied man in the land, says a special from Philadelphia. From a gloomy, haggard appearance on his last trip here, Fielder is now basking in the plaudits of the successful chieftain, and already dopesters are beginning to compare him with McGraw and Mack. He is generous in his distribution of praises for the marvelous work of his men, and is particularly enthusiastic over the remarkable success of Big Ed Walsh.

"He's the grandest pitcher in the country to-day," said Fielder last night. "Talk about your Matthewsons, Taylors and Chesbros, why, they aren't one, two, three with this fellow. He's got everything a pitcher ever had, and on top of it all the young man has a noodle. That's a combination none of them can get away from.

"Walsh has mastered a spit ball which has no rivals. Chesbro's moistened ball never compared with this one of Walsh's. They can't hit it. And what is better for us, Walsh is able to take the box every other day. He likes plenty of work. His physique makes him better qualified to pitch alternating days than Matthewson. Look out for this young man. He is the one best bet in the big league to-day.

"Smith is back better than ever. He never lacked but one thing, and that was control. Six weeks Frank has been practicing persistently, and now Billy Sullivan says his spit ball is as difficult to catch as Walsh's, and he has every bit as much speed as Walsh. What should we be afraid of? On top of this, White and Altrock were never better in their lives, and both of them are sorry they can't face the enemy oftener. Owen is very reliable, and Patterson has outdone anything he ever showed since his connection with the Sox. Watch us."

ORIGINALITY IN GOLDFIELD

Believe in Big Things Where the Battle Will Be Fought.

OTHER RECORDS ARE BROKEN.

People of All Descriptions, Including Women, Ablaze With Boxing Enthusiasm.

IS GANS AS GOOD AS EVER?

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Aug. 28.—Goldfield is nothing if not original, progressive and unique, and it would be unhealthy for any man within gunshot of camp to say it is nothing. It was considered by old promoters the height of temerity and impertinence for the two-year-old village sprung from Nevada's desert to even aspire to the greatest fight of the century. Old-timers stood aghast when in incredibly short order the time and place of the battle had been settled beyond all cavil. Then the fighters came and trained and posed for the edification of the townsmen, among them the most prominent business men, miners and influential citizens, many of them millionaires. But to cap the climax Goldfield had to have a "ladies' day" to allow those men's better halves, present and prospective, an opportunity to see Battling Nelson in action. In every venture Goldfield has succeeded, and if her Labor day celebration proves not a conquest, from the standpoints of both sport and finance, that will be her first failure.

On the last day of July Billy Nolan received from Goldfield a letter suggesting that en route to California he might stop off at this desert camp and pick up a few easy dollars by a go between Nelson and one Jack Clifford. Nolan wired his willingness. Then the Silver Staters got busy with the possibility of a greater match, and on August 11 articles of agreement were signed, just twelve days from the first negotiations until their close, and Nolan is not an over-hasty dealer. Six days later George Siler had accepted the honor of refereeing the battle. Compare that with all other records of celebrated fights and nothing like it can be found in the annals of the ring.

Thirty thousand dollars is the biggest purse ever hung up for a prize fight, finish or otherwise. Even the sum deposited for the one preliminary, $1,000, is enough to tempt into the arena many knights of the mitt who approach to the standard of champions. To remain consistently unique and progressive Goldfield offers the biggest prize ever held out for a preliminary. It comes mighty near equaling in size the poke for which O'Brien and Berger recently struggled. That was 60 per cent. of $2,300, which is $1,380, or only a few dollars more than the Goldfield preliminary purse. Over in England the best of them mix it for sums ranging from $500 to $1,000. In America a $10,000 purse is whopper. Until Goldfield got into the game a $30,000 reward for a finish fight was unheard of. That's Goldfield all over.

But the spirit here is different from that of most places. Ordinarily the great majority of promoters and goers to prize fights are of the essentially sporting class. Here they are bankers and brewers, miners and magnates, grocers and gamblers, druggists and directors, cowboys and capitalists, muckers and millionaires, everybody; and they are all united. Not a knocker has appeared to mar the harmonious unanimity. The first thought of them all is Goldfield forever, and incidentally they will enjoy the fight. Without doubt it is the highest-class exhibition ever projected for the squared circle.

The one thing that serves as the best illustration of this is the "ladies' day," tendered by Battling Nelson and cordially received by the fair sex of the camp. Never before was such an offer made or accepted. Nelson sparred two rounds each with his trainers, Clifford and Lundie, and went through his usual routine of gymnasium work, all to the delight of some two hundred women, among whom were many of the most refined classes. It is notable that sprinkled through the audience, which, as announced, was to be confined to the gentler sex, were several children, escorted by their mothers. Not one of those in attendance found anything objectionable in the exhibition, and yet the Battler trains very nearly as realistically as he fights.

The Ladies' Aid Hall was built by the Ladies' Aid Society of Goldfield, incorporated for the relief of the distressed and needy. Every church in Goldfield had its birth there. Every charitable enterprise was fathered there. It is the one big amusement hall in town. Ladies' Aid Hall was given Battling Nelson for training purposes, and it was there in his gymnasium that the ladies' day pink tea occurred. Beat that for originality.

Is Joe Gans as good as ever physically and pugilistically? His admirers seem to think so despite the fact that Joe hasn't shone as a knockout specialist in his recent fights and the further fact that he can make 133 pounds easier than he could a couple of years ago. Considering the in-and-out nature of his past performances, Gans has a steadfast following among sporting men, the reason probably being that when out to win Gans furnishes such a splendid exhibition of ring-manship that the lovers of the Queensberry game quickly forgive the lapses he has been guilty of and merely keep in mind the sterling fighting qualities he undoubtedly possesses.

It is as plain as daylight to anyone who happens along where a bunch of Gans supporters are discussing the outlook that the opinion prevails that Gans can do much better than he has done at any time during the past year.

Holly may have been given to hugging too much and Lewis may have caught Baltimore Joe out of "Nick" and all that sort of thing, but the average Gans man puts such fights out of mind entirely when sizing up the chances of the coming affair at Goldfield.

The feeling is that for quite a while Gans had his best fight bottled up for the benefit of Battling Nelson or Jimmy Britt which ever of the twain happened to be his opponent in a world's championship.

The sports who argue along these lines appear to believe that for twelve months or more Joe has been betwixt the devil and the deep blue. He has had to fight to keep the wolf from the door. So as to give substance to his professions of reformation he has had to do well enough to prevent the scandal-mongers crying "fake" and at the same time he has been harassed with the fear that if he performed too brilliantly the Dane and the native son would keep further aloof from him than ever.

Well, if that was the way of it, there is no need for further dissimulating. Joe has got what he craved for—a match with the durable Dane and the double-yolked question, "Is Gans as good as ever, and has he been under a wrap?" should be settled conclusively on Labor day.

MANAGER CANTILLON DRAWS SUSPENSION.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 28.—Manager Joe Cantillon and Pitcher Patrick Hynes were this morning notified of their indefinite suspension by President Joe O'Brien, pending an investigation of their assault upon the spectator who threw a beer bottle at Harry Clark yesterday. Clark had just muffed a foul fly, when a fan threw the missile, striking the captain of the Brewers on the head. Cantillon and Hynes immediately went after the little fellow's assailant and handled him very roughly.

BOTH BOXERS UNDER WEIGHT

Experts Believe Beatings Have Hurt the Battling Dane.

GANS SURE TO BE STRONG.

Manager Nolan Refuses To Take Any of Four Bets Offered By Sullivan.

DOPE COUNTS FOR LITTLE.

THE most recent reports from Goldfield, Nev., have it that Nelson and Gans are under the required weight for their coming battle. Nelson is said to weigh less than 130 pounds, while Gans' weight is announced at almost a pound under the lightweight limit of 133 pounds. This effectually settles the discussion as to whether Gans can make the weight and be strong. From the reports that are being sent out of the colored champion's training quarters, he is as strong and well as he ever was, and, besides, is supremely confident that he will beat the Dane.

On the other hand, Nelson does not seem to be imbued with an overpowering idea that he will secure a victory over his opponent. Or, at least, Nelson isn't thus imbued, and this amounts to practically the same thing. This is shown by the wily manager's refusal to cover any one of the bets offered him by Larry Sullivan, who is tending to the Gans end of the fight.

Sullivan produced $4,000 and offered to bet it in wads of a thousand each that Gans would score the first knockdown in the fight; that the colored champion would draw first blood; that Joe would knock Nelson out in twenty rounds, and that Gans would win the championship. This certainly looks as if Nolan doubts Nelson's ability to win, and the astute one knows more about Nelson's fighting ability than anyone else on earth, not barring Nelson himself.

That a match well made is half won seems to be the motto of Nolan, but never before has he resorted to such Shylockian methods of arranging one, and this is taken by sporting experts to be another indication of Nolan's fear of Gans. And his fear is well founded.

* * *

Nelson Due For Beating.

No man ever lived who could stand continued and wearing punishment without succumbing to it sooner or later. Even Joe Grim, the Italian, whom such men as Bob Fitzsimmons, Jack Johnson, Jack O'Brien and other fighters were unable to knock out, finally received a punch that dropped him for the count of ten. And it will probably be the same with Nelson. The Dane is just about due for a drubbing, and even if he should win this fight, provided it goes as long as fifteen or twenty rounds, many argue that he will receive such a severe pounding that he will never be able to fight in tip-top form again. History repeats itself, and as this has been the fate of all the other punishment assimilators, who, like Nelson, were supposed to be utterly invincible, there is no reason in the world why the same thing should not happen to him.

The Dane has never participated in a bout that he did not receive a terrific gruelling. Constant dripping wears away the stone, says the old proverb, and while it is not visible as yet, these same gruellings that the Battler has taken have had their effect in weakening him, just the same as they did in the case of Terry McGovern.

Again, of late Nelson has been taking things easy, for him, and this fact should also be taken into consideration. Men of Nelson's type require constant and strenuous physical exercise, and while the Dane is in great shape at present, he has been living a life that is not exactly natural to him.

A comparison of the records of the two fighters is interesting, but it is rather useless in giving a line on their respective chances. On past performances Gans completely outclasses Nelson, but the latter has never fought the same men that Gans has defeated. The champion has been meeting men in the welterweight class almost exclusively for the last four years, while Nelson has not given away any weight in any of his recent contests.

* * *

Gans' Victories Stand Out.

Each of the men has defeated the best fighters in the class in which he has fought. What would have happened to Nelson if he had fought Joe Walcott when the latter was "good" can merely be conjectured. And besides, Nelson's admirers, with a great show of reason, might say that Nelson was not the Nelson then that he is now, nor was Gans as old as at the present time.

But even yet Gans is conceded to be by far the most perfect human fighting machine the world has ever produced. He is fast, clever, can hit hard and knows every trick of ring generalship. The only thing that Nelson has that makes him a good fighter is an inordinate ability to "stand the gaff." He is no clever boxer and admits it. He is slow compared to half of the best lightweights, and he has no one-blow knockout in either hand, as Gans has. Nelson is easy to hit.

It is true that much of this was said before when Nelson fought Jimmy Britt, for instance, and again when he met Terry McGovern, but the Dane came out of both of these contests with flying colors. Gans is by far the hardest and most accurate hitter that the Dane has ever been called upon to face. The Battler, in an interview, himself says that he expects to be battered all over the ring during the first eight rounds of the fight, but that by the time the ninth round is reached he will have sufficiently tired Gans to get over a winning punch.

If Nelson goes into the ring with any idea of letting Gans pummel him about at will for eight rounds he might as well give up all hope of ever being able to get over the winning punch after that. He will be in more of a condition to grace a hospital cot than to deliver a knockout blow on the shifty Baltimorean.

SPORTING MEN AT ODDS ON NELSON-GANS BOUT.

A SPECIAL from New York says: New York sporting men are at odds on several points concerning the one overshadowing event in the world of the fighting men: the lightweight championship battle between Joe Gans, holder of the title, and Battling Nelson, the conqueror of all other aspirants for the honor. The points on which they agree are these:

The fight will be on the level. Gans would not dare to fake before such a crowd as will gather about the ring at Goldfield, even if he wished to, and inducements were held out to him to lay down.

The men will make the weight and be fit to fight for a king's ransom when they enter the ring, bar accidents.

It will be the greatest lightweight battle of modern times and will settle absolutely the question of the lightweight championship.

On these points there is no difference of opinion, but there is a very wide divergence when it comes to picking the winner. There are experts who can dope out nothing but Gans as an easy winner. Others whose judgment is entitled to equal consideration can figure nothing to it but the Dane. On the whole, the weight of opinion leans towards Gans, and in the betting he probably will have the call so far as New York is concerned. The way things look now, however, there will be a dollar of wise money for Nelson for every one for Gans.

MANY HORSES COMING TO-DAY

Advance Guard, Which Will Race At Douglas Park, Arrives.

ONE CARLOAD FROM CHICAGO.

Scarcity of Cars May Prevent Saratoga Special From Arriving on Time.

LIVELY CHAT OF THE TURF.

THE advance guard of horses which will race during the coming meeting at Douglas Park arrived at the local track yesterday, and Secretary Nathanson says many more will get in to-day.

The horses which got in from Chicago yesterday comprised the strings of George W. Clark, J. J. Greeley and J. J. McDermott, some of them being shipped from Harlem and the others from Hawthorne. These horses have not raced since the meeting closed at Memphis last spring, but they have been kept in good condition and will be a welcome addition to the list which has been performing at Latonia and Ft. Erie.

Secretary Nathanson said yesterday that a number of horses would reach here to-day from Canada and Latonia, men having come here during the past few days to prepare the stables for them. It is expected that lively scenes will be witnessed at Douglas Park from now until the time the meeting begins.

According to telegrams received here yesterday the horsemen who have been racing at Saratoga are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing cars in which to ship their animals West, and from the outlook it is probable that the Saratoga horses will not reach here in time for the opening races next Monday.

However, a telegram was received yesterday from "Doc" Rowell in which he entered several of his horses, including Corrigan, for the races the first day of the meeting, and Secretary Nathanson is of the opinion that Rowell has succeeded in overcoming the difficulty and will be here on time.

Old Partners Join Hands.

E. R. Thomas and Alexander Shields have linked their racing fortunes together again, writes Ed Cole from Saratoga. It is a renewal of their old-time partnership when they ran such high-class horses as Hermis, Advance Guard and Stalwart in their interests. The linking of these two race men came as a surprise, to say the least, for after the dissolution sale it was believed that never again would there be a partnership welded by either man.

But such are the doings in turf affairs—one day the best of friends and the next bitter in denunciation one of the other. It is claimed that Mr. Thomas paid Shields $35,000 for a half interest in four horses—Go Between, Lieber, Halifax and Diamond. When asked if the price was correct Mr. Shields was noncommittal, but it is generally believed that that is about the right figure for one-half of the horses.

There is no question that Mr. Thomas has not had near the success in racing since the partnership of Thomas and Shields was dissolved, which is much to the credit of Shields, as he has gone on successfully while Mr. Thomas has been practically at a standstill, and excepting for Lady Amelia bearing his colors to victory now and then the gray and red cap of Mr. Thomas would have been seen very little in the winners' column.

* * *

Thomas Stable After Horses.

While Mr. Shields did not intimate that more good horses would be purchased, it is very probable that if a good horse looms up anywhere there will be a bid made for it from the Thomas stable.

After thorough investigation of the trouble with Horace E. it was found that instead of having a split hoof, he was afflicted with nothing more than an atom of gravel, which had worn its way into the hoof of the colt. A veterinary was called in and the injured hoof attended to.

"Bud" May reports that nothing very serious is anticipated, and that Horace E. is likely to be out again in a few days doing his usual exercises in preparation for the Futurity. It is to be hoped the colt will round to in time for the big stake at Sheepshead Bay, as he has improved daily in his work, and is looked upon as a very dangerous contender in the race. While his first race in the Rainey colors was disappointing, those who know the colt well have not lost faith in him by any means.

Comment On Aeronaut's Race.

There was a whole lot of talk about the bad race run by Aeronaut in the opening event. He was looked upon as a winner by many of the patrons, especially those who had seen his recent trials, particularly the one in which he worked six furlongs in 1:12 3-5. This was considered good enough to beat the horses he had to meet yesterday. Strange to say, Aeronaut was never even a dangerous factor in the running. He got away poorly, due possibly to Perrine, his rider, not being quite ready for the start. The horse seemed to jump from under him, and Perrine's efforts to keep his seat necessitated his throwing his weight on the lines. This it was that caused many to say that he pulled the horse up at the start.

It is charitable to look at the occurrence in that light. After the horse did get going Perrine's efforts were not as determined as some would have wished. This may have been due to his poor judgment, or what he probably considered good judgment, in not rushing his horse after the field in the first quarter.

When questioned about the race, Perrine would say nothing more than that he did the best he could, but that the horse did not seem to be running at any time during the race. That Mr. Fred Johnson and his friends bet on the horse was proven, Mr. Johnson not betting as he would have done had he been able to secure Radtke to ride, as he knows the horse and rides him well.

Johnson's Statement.

"He is a very peculiar horse to ride," said Mr. Johnson during a conversation. "If he does not get away from the post nice and smooth, he cannot run as fast as a cheap plater. I suppose he got tangled up at the start. That is the only excuse I can offer for Aeronaut running so badly."

It was one of those races that looks very bad on the surface, yet no motive can be discovered by the stewards for Perrine to do anything but his best. He would have been given a goodly sum by Johnson had he won, and there was no particular indication in the ring that the horse would run a bad race. He has run identically the same sort of a race before more than once, owing to his peculiar disposition, so it is claimed, and which must be accepted. The stewards have not dismissed the case, however, and will probe as deeply as possible to find out if the horse or rider was to blame for Aeronaut's poor showing.

To Coach Ohio State.

Columbus, O., Aug. 28.—A. E. Hernnstein, the former Michigan star halfback, will coach the Ohio State University football team this fall. The announcement of his appointment was made to-day.

Hernnstein coached Purdue last year, and the year preceding that was coach for the Haskell Indians.

BENNETT HAS GOOD STABLE

Memphis Turfman Has Some Fun With Noted Kentucky Breeders.

M'DOWELL AND TOM STEVENS.

Declares He Has Something On Them Now With Dishabille and Others.

HE HAS NEW KIND OF GRASS.

GEORGE C. BENNETT, the Memphis turfman, owners of Dishabille and Ethon, is pardonably elated over the excellent performances of those two products of his own breeding establishment, says a special from Saratoga. He also boasts that he "has something on" some breeders who hail from the Bluegrass region, particularly Tom Stevens and Tom McDowell.

"Why," said he, "those fellows made all kinds of fun of me and my farm when I began breeding. That old Tom Stevens said I was trying to raise horses on a sandbar to win stakes and purses from Kentucky-bred horses. And that doggone Tom McDowell told people that every time a spear of grass made its appearance on my farm I made a nigger hurry and chain it down so that a little high water from the Mississippi wouldn't wash it away.

"Neither has anything on me just now. I think I have a shade on them. While Tom Stevens is racing his Bluegrass horses away out in the bushes at Seattle and other points in the Puget Sound country, my sandbar nags are performing in swell company and winning swell races. As for Tom McDowell, he is here with a stable, but has no old horse that he dare start against that little four-year-mare Dishabille, nor a two-year-old that he will stack up against my colt Ethon. Of course he knows that my mare won the Merchants' Handicap and carried 126 pounds, but for fear he will try to forget it I would like to refresh his memory by calling attention to the fact that on the Fourth of July, at Sheepshead, Ethon won the Spring Stakes and Dishabille the Long Island Handicap, and folks tell me they finished like horses that had something to eat while growing.

"But the fun poked at me by Stevens and McDowell was not all that happened to me when I became a breeder. My trainer actually quit me when I said I would buy no more yearlings, but depend on the produce of my own mares. That was the reason why Henry McDaniel, as nice a fellow as anybody would want to know, a good judge of a race horse and a first-class man in charge of a stable, left my employ. He was not pleased with my youngsters as yearlings, and actually disliked them as two-year-olds. Dishabille was so little and ran so poorly in her trials that Henry declared her out of all her engagements.

"Mickey Shannon developed Dishabille. I sent him to St. Louis with nine horses to race and to sell if possible, and she was one of the lot. He took a fancy to her directly after he got charge of her and didn't start her until the middle of July. She hadn't been racing long before she was recognized as a good filly. Mickey was authorized to sell her, but he wouldn't do it. I let him have his own way and am glad I did. Whenever she starts Mickey will have a bet on her. He thinks she is the greatest mare in the world.

"My farm is located in Shelby County, Tennessee, twelve miles from Memphis. It contains 1,120 acres and last year I had enough pasturage for 500 horses. We have in that section a clover that beats any grass of which I know. We don't have to cultivate it. All that is necessary to get a bountiful crop is to cut it and let it grow again. And when it is made into hay horses will leave any bluegrass that ever was seen and go after it.

"It is called lespedeza. We don't know where it came from, but some old residents of the vicinity claim it was brought there by the Yankees during the Civil War. The United States Agricultural Department has sent agents there to study the nature of it and to analyze it, and they reported that it contains more nutriment than any grass. So you can understand that my horses are not likely to suffer for want of food.

"My stud is comprised of five horses and thirty-five mares. The horses are King's Counsel (sire of Dishabille), Intrusive, Abe Frank, Sam Phillips and Lucky Dog. King's Counsel was imported in utero, his dam, Dazzling Light, being in foal to Queen's Counsel when she was brought here from England. Charles Head Smith, of Chicago, paid $2,700 for him as a yearling. He showed fast trials and promised to be a good racehorse, but broke down before he could demonstrate his class. In the stud he has made good as the sire of Dishabille. If Ethon does as well as I expect him to people will have some respect for Intrusive as a sire. Anyhow, I guess the produce of my farm will be able to hold its own against anything Tom Stevens or Tom McDowell will bring to the races."

Mickey Shannon, who left for Lexington yesterday with Bob Tucker's yearlings, said Mr. Bennett is right. "Dishabille is the greatest mare in the country. When I took her to St. Louis he priced her at $700. Barney Schreiber offered me $1,500 for her and didn't get her. I was sure she was a good filly and that's why she continues to carry the green, white diamonds."

Cole Breaks Pistol Record.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The army pistol competition at Fort Sheridan closed to-day. Capt. Cole, of the Sixth cavalry, won first place on the team and broke the record in army pistol competition, scoring 287 points out of a possible 300. The best previous record was 286, held by Corp. Robinson, of the Ninth cavalry.

PREPARING FOR EASTERN GAMES

Big Football Contests Sure To Be Interesting This Year.

WILL BE CHAMPION TEAM.

Schedules So Arranged That Best Eleven Will Be Well Known.

YALE AND PRINCETON AGAIN.

THE football season is less than a month off. Before the college gates open the aspirants for pigskin fame will be back in the old familiar field, running, punting, tackling the dummy and sweating withal in an effort to get muscles that have been lazy all summer accustomed to old-time bumps and bruises, says a special from Boston.

By the time the doors swing wide to admit the hungry horde of seekers after knowledge these self-made athletes will have been groomed and brushed in readiness to exhibit themselves in preliminary contests upon the battlefield before the admiring but less athletic students.

The preliminary season begins on Saturday, September 22, with a few contests by minor colleges. The big universities do not fall into line until a week or so later. On September 29 Princeton will bump shoulders with Villa Nova, while Harvard and Yale do not enter the arena until October 3, when they engage Bowdoin and Wesleyan, respectively. That starts the great machinery a-going which will grind on in bi-weekly contests until the chaff is separated from the wheat and the final victor is proclaimed the intercollegiate champion in November.

Big Colleges Meet.

About the middle of October the football situation begins to get acute and the bigger colleges, which have waited long enough to digest their preliminary meals of the smaller colleges, begin to meet each other. On October 13 Princeton clashes with the Navy and West Point with Colgate. On the same day Pennsylvania will meet Swarthmore. On October 20 Yale will tackle Pennsylvania State at New Haven.

A week later Harvard makes its annual attack upon the citadel of West Point. Last year Harvard, after much difficulty, broke down the outer walls of the Hudson fort with a score of 5 to 0, leaving Yale to make the rush into the breach with a score of 20 to 0. Harvard is the vanguard this year, as usual, but expects to slay the enemy and leave no pickings for her New Haven rival a week later.

While the Cambridge eleven is playing at West Point, Princeton and Cornell will meet, in all probability, in this city. If they do, New Yorkers will see a good football battle, which will help drown their sorrow over the loss of the Columbia games. Last year the Tigers defeated the Red and White 16 to 6.

There will be a number of interesting contests on November 3. Princeton plays Dartmouth, which proved her conqueror last year; Harvard plays Brown, Pennsylvania plays Lafayette, Minnesota plays Nebraska and the Navy plays Pennsylvania State. On the following Saturday, November 10, Princeton will try a hand at West Point and Brown will face Yale, while the Indians will attempt to scalp Harvard.

* * *

Yale To Meet Princeton.

But all these games will be as nothing to the contest that is reserved for November 17, when Yale and Princeton agoin trot upon the football field to do battle before thousands of admiring followers. The defeat last year of 4 to 23 still rankles in the Tigers' heart and there will be fire in his eyes as he watches the big Blue athletes rush upon the gridiron amid a thunderous burst of applause and throw off their blankets ready for the fray. Dividing part interest with the Yale-Princeton game will be the Harvard-Dartmouth, the Pennsylvania-Michigan and the Chicago-Illinois contests on the same day.

A week later comes the closing big battle of the season, when Wale and Harvard try conclusions, this year at New Haven. Coach Reid's fine showing with his men last year, when the Crimson held Yale down to 6 points, has aroused much interest as to what the Harvard eleven will be able to do with two years of Reid's coaching.

Other important games after the Harvard-Yale game will be the Pennsylvania-Cornell contest at Philadelphia on Thanksgiving day and the West Point-Annapolis contest at Franklin field, Philadelphia, on December 1. With that the season closes again and the student athletes will have to wait another long period before they can don their football togs again.

Harvard Man Beats Yale.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 28.—In record rapidity of play W. J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, a representative of Harvard University, defeated K. H. Behr, of Yale, in the final round of the National Lawn Tennis tournament to-day, and to-morrow he will meet Beals C. Wright, of Boston, the present champion, in an attempt to win the title. Clothier defeated Behr to-day in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. It was all over in an hour, much to the disappointment of the largest crowd of the tournament. The contest might have been decided even sooner had not Clothier in the second set, by an erratic turn of play, driven eleven balls out of court and made two double faults. Only eight of the twenty-six games went to deuce and in six of the eight the call was but once.

Behr paid the price of his long hard victory yesterday in the semi-finals over R. D. Little, of New York. Only at times were there flashes of his brilliant tennis of yesterday. He began to-day's match by running up on his service only to be passed at the net. Then he clung to the base line when Clothier kept him running back and forth, until catching him off his foot, the Philadelphian scored the point on a well directed place shot far out of reach.

Behr let some of them go by default and tried to save himself for some of the easier ones, but he did not accomplish much. Clothier was far the stronger and Behr considerably weaker than at Longwood, where the Yale player won from the Harvard graduate in straight sets.

The Boy That Walks Like Mike Donlin.

THE boys that play around our house don't let me in the game.
They choose up sides and leave me out; my back and leg is lame.
I uster play as good as them until I slipped one day
And fell and got runned over by a awful runaway.
The doctor came to see me and I seen him shake his head,
And then my Ma kept crying and I had to stay in bed.
And now I got these crutches and it makes me awful sore
'Cause I've always got to wear 'em and I can't play ball no more.

The boys choose up and play all day, and let me keep the score,
But I wish sometimes that I could bat the way I did before.
One day I put my crutches down and tried to catch a ball,
But gee! my back felt funny and I took a awful fall.
And then I started crying, but the captain, Raddy Lee,
Said, "Any guy that teases Bob has got to scrap with me.
It ain't his fault if he got lame—Mike Donlin got lame, too,
And had to walk on crutches till the season was most through."

Now the fellers call me Donlin when they see me at the game,
And sometimes I feel happy 'cause I got to walk so lame.
And once out at the baseball gate Mike seen me walking through,
And said, "Hello, young leaguer. Did you twist your ankle, too?"
I'll bet the kids that heard it all wished that they was me,
'Cause Donlin ain't got time to talk to many kids, by gee!
But I wish it was my ankle, not my back and leg, was lame,
'Cause Mike is getting better and I got to stay the same.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MONETARY.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 28.—Monetary conditions showed no improvement in New York today. The banks so far this week have lost over $2,000,000 to the Subtreasury. Rates for time money ruled at practically 7 per cent. for all periods, with the supply diminishing. Rates for call money ranged from 3¾ to 5 per cent. Conditions in the local market show no change. A rather steady borrowing demand is reported, with rates ruling firm at 5 to 6 per cent. Banks are husbanding their reserves in expectation of a call by Secretary Shaw for exports.

Stock Exchange Sales.

50 shares St. Joe R., L., H. and P. com. 58

The Missouri Pacific Railroad Company announces that it has made arrangements for the extension of its third mortgage 7 per cent. bonds, maturing on November 1 of this year, to July 1, 1938. The company some time ago completed arrangements for the extension of its Pacific Railroad of Missouri first mortgage 4 per cent. bonds, amounting to $7,000,000; second mortgage extended in 1891, 5 per cent., amounting to $2,573,000; Carondelet branch, first mortgage, 4½ per cent., $237,500; real estate bonds, 5 per cent., amounting to $800,000, to the same date, July 1, 1938. In view of this it is not altogether improbable that the Missouri Pacific may some time in the future bring out a scheme of reorganization, involving a blanket mortgage bond issue, similar to that recently announced by the Wabash.

A list of representative low-priced bonds traded in in the New York market shows that prices for this class of securities have scored an average net decline of 2¾ points since August, 1905. This fact is interesting in connection with the general run of comment on the present bond market. In pointing out the fact that the general list contains bargains that are seldom met with, attention has been persistently called to the low levels to which the higher grade issues have declined. As a rule, in any reaction of this kind the lower-priced bonds are apt to hold better than those selling at a comparatively high premium. During the decline of the past year, however, both classes of securities have kept pretty closely their relative positions as to prices. The following table shows the change from the low of August, 1905:

*Advance.

In the present lifeless market whatever demand does exist is for the choicest securities that can be found; such high yield bonds as the above are scarcely thought of.

Considering the great increase in the scope of its business the Norfolk and Western has been particularly sparing of capital issues, says the Wall Street Journal. Up to the recent announcement of a $34,000,000 convertible bond issue the company had not increased its capital stock in ten years, and in that period the increase in bonded debt had amounted to less than $25,000,000, including bonds issued during the fiscal year ended with June 30 last. An average of $2,500,000 of bonds a year, while an average annual increase in gross earnings of $1,720,000 was going on, should certainly not be called a too free expenditure of capital. The first fiscal period after the new corporation took charge of the property in October, 1896, was one of nine months ended June 30, 1897. In order to make a comparison of full years, therefore, the fiscal year to June 30, 1898, is the first period under the new management which can be used. The progress the road has made from the point of view of capitalization and income can best be grasped from the following figures:

Miles road operated	1,834	1,561
Common stock	$66,000,000	$66,000,000
Preferred stock	23,000,000	23,000,000
Stock, per mile	48,500	57,010
Bonded debt	71,289,500	46,710,700
Debt, per mile	38,800	29,900
Gross earnings	28,487,765	11,236,123
Gross, per mile	15,530	7,190
Net earnings	11,423,141	3,350,924
Net earnings per mile	6,220	2,140
Fixed charges	4,120,785	2,244,039
Charges, per mile	2,240	1,430
*Surplus	1,452,375	1,138,948
*Surplus, per mile	4,060	730

The balance sheet for the end of the fiscal year 1906 is not yet available. Comparing that of the end of 1905 with that of 1898 the capital stock remains the same, while bonded debt has increased $21,500,000. The increase in the property account, under various heads, practically coincides with the debt increase. The working capital of the company has increased $5,800,000; it was less than $1,000,000 on June 30, 1898. In addition to meeting its fixed charges the company has paid out up to June 30 last more than $17,000,000 in dividends and has devoted $15,000,000 from income to the improvement of the property, entirely aside from whatever may have been done under the head of maintenance toward the same end.

The Northern Texas Electric Company, a Stone & Webster property, which on March 1, 1900, paid a first dividend, 1 per cent., on the $2,427,000 6 per cent. preferred stock (non-cumulative), has declared a second dividend, 2 per cent., payable September 1 to stockholders of record August 22.

It was recently stated in the British Parliament that the depreciation in the aggregate value on the London Stock Exchange of trust securities, Government stock, South African mining, railway and other shares, as compared with their value previous to the Boer war, was estimated to reach $3,898,200,000, and the Government was asked to take some measures to protect bona fide owners and investors from the continuance of those forced liquidations alleged to be brought on by stock gambling. Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in replying stated that there had been a large depreciation in the value of such securities, and that many different causes had contributed to bring them about, but that he would not like to commit himself to the opinion that it had been due in the main to international gambling. In any case, he knew of no means by which the Government could control such transactions.

THE COTTON CROP.

It becomes more evident daily, as the old cotton year draws to a close, that the conditions prevailing in this crop territory are less like those of 1905 and more akin to those of 1904, when the bumper crop of 13,697,000 bales was grown. There does not seem to be any point of arrest on the lower trend of future prices. The difference between spot cotton values of 10.10 and the value of October futures at 9.08 is indicative of the fact that the market has missed the effect of the adverse weather conditions during August.

The liberal use of bullish literature can have little weight against the continual prevalence of sunshine. People who have found themselves on the wrong side of the market must blame the heavens for it, if they do not choose to blame themselves. The behavior of the Texas crop is the most encouraging feature of the whole outlook. The railroads are counting on more revenue than ever from this source and the growers are not losing any time in making sure of the fine crop already in sight. Labor scarcity does not seem to be mentioned as prominent among the things that influence the local situation.

The talk about early frosts is rather premature. The plant has already done about all the growing it needs. The middle of the summer was wet, and the plant moved along rapidly, even to an excessively heavy foliage. An early frost would eliminate this surplus foliage and let the sunlight in with advantage to the condition of the fiber for picking purposes. The most disappointing feature in the whole cotton year has been the boll weevil. This creature has not realized the fears of the territory in which it had established itself. The earlier ripening of the crop has been against it. Failure to do damage in its own habitat has not been followed by the generally anticipated spread of the pest to new localities.—(Wall Street Journal.

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—The announcement of the difficulties of the Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia, came in a market which had been subjected for several days to profit-taking and distribution of stocks, so that naturally the announcement that an important trust company in Philadelphia had failed had a decidedly adverse effect on prices. Such a development being entirely unexpected, created all the more uncertainty. A bank failure always has an unsettling effect, as it naturally creates the inference that financial institutions are overextending. In this instance, the difficulties appear to lie with operations in real estate. Other than this development, there has been little news of importance during the day, but even in the morning hours before the rumor developed there was unquestionably a continuation of the selling of stocks, which has been in evidence for the past few days. The money situation continues to be a cause of caution, as time money is unusually firm and scarce for this time of the year. It is an appreciation of the difficulties which may develop in this respect which has chiefly influenced the selling of stocks since the first burst of enthusiasm occurred following the announcement of the Harriman dividends. It would be well to go slow for a day or two to see how the situation develops. Atchison has been the strong feature of the market.—(Post & Flagg to John W. & D. S. Green.

New York.—Although there was a strong opening this morning, rather heavy selling appeared almost immediately and continued with more or less interruption all day long. In the early morning an advance in Atchison, the Harrimans and Steels was brought about. However, the advance did not last, and the general market steadily declined. There was special weakness in Smelters, which continued the decline of yesterday. In the afternoon the whole market received a further jolt by the announcement that the Real Estate Company, of Philadelphia, had been placed in the hands of a receiver. General selling took place throughout the entire list, and at times stocks were very weak. Public liquidation was more or less on a large scale, and in some particular stocks, such as Steel preferred, such selling had the appearance of demoralization. Support came in at the low levels, however, and sharp rallies were brought about. The close was almost the lowest of the day.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

New York.—There was selling pressure in the market again to-day, and a great many of the large operators and room traders were openly bearish in their talk and looked for a continued reaction. There were realizing sales all around the room after the opening.—(Ex. Norton & Co. to J. J. B. Hilliard & Son.

New York.—It looks reasonably plain that the public have bought too much stock which has necessitated the borrowing of considerable funds from banks. Insiders are always ready to take advantage of this situation and that there are some heavy manipulations in prices and juggling with the forthcoming gold imports there is little doubt. It is plainly intimated that this gold can be gotten to-day, but that it is not needed at present. When the market has reacted enough and the money situation begins to look serious for the bank reserves it is quite probable that announcement will be made of a large block of gold being taken. There is no reason to believe that the present upward trend of stocks has reached the limit, but we are in a period of year when bullish operations must be watched carefully, as there are not sufficient funds to engineer a big bull campaign and overindulgence by the public will result in just such markets as we have seen yesterday and to-day. Stocks are a purchase only on sharp breaks. The market is probably a very excellent buy to-night.—(Hutton & Co. to John Dunlap.

New York.—The market broke sharply on the unfavorable advices regarding the Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia. Although assurance was given that the affairs of the company would be adjusted by other Philadelphia financial institutions the matter was made an excuse for reckless selling by traders who hoped to uncover bull stop orders. The controlling interests were apparently content to merely support the market by scale down buying orders which would indicate a desire to acquire additional stocks at lower prices preparatory to the resumption of aggressive operations for a further advance.—(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—Developments to-day operated for an irregular and reactionary market, though the reactions in the forenoon were checked by outside and inside buying, with sentiment in the main bullish, and with the money situation operating toward conservatism. In the early afternoon quite a sharp reaction set in. The market has again developed into a trading one, and we believe conservatism will pay for a while. We advocate a neutral position for the present with the observance of trading rules, keeping bullish on specialties and trading only for turns. Monday is the key to the situation.—(Ware & Leland.

New York.—The market during the morning was very strong and looked as if it would go considerably higher, but in the afternoon it sold off quite sharply and a great amount of long stock came out on account of a serious condition of affairs in Philadelphia. It was reported that a receiver had been appointed for the Real Estate Trust Company, one of the largest trust companies there, and for whom the Bank of New York is the local correspondent, and that apparently there was some complication in the affairs of the president who lately died. As the market during the past two or three days has undoubtedly been overbought, and was filled with stop orders it declined very easily closing at nearly the lowest prices of the day.—(Dominick & Dominick to Halsey & Halsey.

New York.—The trust company in Philadelphia closing its doors caused heavy sales from that city. The market we understand will be taken care of in the morning, and no serious decline will take place—(Kelley, Miller & Co. to Almstedt Bros.

New York.—An advance in time money to 7 per cent. for three to four months, coupled with what was reported to be an ugly bank failure at Philadelphia brought out general liquidation through the market. New York advices at the close indicate that the failure in Philadelphia is an important one, and likely to bring market to a lower level at least at the opening to-morrow morning. Much will depend of course as to the nature of the failure, but from what little obtainable now market has received a shock. The level is high and the public are nibbling here and there through the list. It will take but little in the shape of an accident to drive them entirely out of the market. This naturally will be deplored by Wall street, and will call forth special efforts on the part of pools to protect their favorites. The decline, while at times somewhat furious, was nevertheless quite orderly. The closing to-night suggests a somewhat lower level.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 28.—Money on call firm at 3¾@6 per cent.; ruling rate 4¾; closing bid 3½; offered at 4; time loans strong and dull; 60 days 6½ per cent.; 90 days 6@6½; six months 6@7; prime mercantile paper 6. Sterling exchange weak at $4.8410@4.8415 for demand and at $4.8110@4.8115 for 60-day bills; posted rates $4.82@4.82½ and $4.84@4.85½; commercial bills $4.80⅝. Bar silver 66⅝c. Mexican dollars 51¼c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds easy.

For the first time since the Pacific dividends became a matter of public knowledge, the stock market to-day began business in an orderly and rational manner. Instead of the "wide openings" and "new high records" so familiar in the past fortnight, trading opened in moderate volume, but prices soon developed a reactionary tendency. This seeming change of sentiment was ascribed to a variety of causes, chief among them being the money situation, disappointment at the absence of gold from Europe and increasing distrust at the failure of the many reported "deals" to materialize. Local monetary conditions showed no improvement. Indeed, if anything were worse, the banks thus far showing a loss to the Subtreasury of over $2,000,000. Call money opened at 5 per cent., while time rates held at practically 7 per cent. for all periods, with the supply diminishing. As for gold imports, expert opinion is that things are tending toward that direction. Another batch of Australian gold was engaged during the day. It is believed that efforts are being made to induce Secretary Shaw to renew his "anticipation" order of last spring, but that official, who was in town to-day, has thus far given no intimation of his attitude in the matter. Exchange weakened further to 484.10 early in the day.

The market bore strong evidence of pressure in many quarters, among the early weak issues being United States Steel, Smelting and Reading. On the other hand, Canadian Pacific was pronouncedly strong, advancing over four points in the first hour. During the greater part of this period the market sagged, but toward noon trading increased under the active lead of Atchison, St. Paul and Amalgamated Copper. Atchison advanced to a new high record, and board-room gossip had it that not only would the dividend be increased to 6 per cent., but there also was talk of an issue of new stock at par. Neither of these rumors, it may be said, was confirmable in official quarters. The movement in Sugar, one of yesterday's features, flattened out even before it became known that only the regular dividends had been declared.

Early in the movement, when the market was exhibiting its strongest tone, heavy selling of Reading and Union Pacific started a downward movement, which soon took in the entire list. The cause of the selling was considerable of a mystery until it became known that a Philadelphia trust company was in difficulties. Reports as to the magnitude of the institution's liabilities and its attendant effect were of a character to excite great alarm, and the occasion was utilized to advantage by the shorts. Prices declined from 1 to 3½ points, with only partial recoveries in most issues. Much of the selling of Reading and Pennsylvania, as well as of other stocks, was believed to be for account of the embarrassed Philadelphia company or interests identified therewith. The market remained heavy to the close, practically all the active issues recording lowest prices of the day in the final hour. In fact, there seemed absolutely no support in any quarter, the big interests having apparently decided to let the movement run its course.

The principal net losses were: Pennsylvania 8 points; Reading 1¾; Union Pacific 2; Southern Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and St. Paul 1½c; Louisville and Nashville 2⅝; Northern Pacific 2; Great Northern preferred 3½; Colorado Fuel 2⅝; Anaconda 4.

London's participation in this market was a feature. Americans, the Harriman issues excepted, closed strong at that center, and buying of our stocks, chiefly Atchison and Canadian Pacific, was later resumed here. Purchases for that account were probably forty thousand shares on balance.

FOREIGN FINANCIAL.

London, Aug. 28.—No difficulty was experienced in obtaining supplies of money to-day, but rates were a shade harder. Discounts were steady. There was much uncertainty regarding the future demand for gold for America. On the Stock Exchange business was curtailed by the settlement, but the tone continued favorable, owing to cheapness of money and the Bank of England obtaining available supplies of gold. While this did not induce fresh business, it had a steadying effect on gilt-edged securities. Elsewhere the tendency was easier. Foreigners, except Russians, recovered an early loss. Americans opened easy on profit-taking in Wall street, which prompted caution here. But after the marking down of prices to parity a steady improvement set in before noon, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe leading. Irregularity occurred on the receipt of the opening prices, but the market reacted sharply and prices closed firm at near the best quotations of the day. Canadian Pacific was the feature on good American buying. Kaffirs were strong, owing to the fact that they were strongly supported from influential quarters. Japanese Imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103¾. Closing quotations: Consols for both money and the account 87 13-16; Anaconda 14⅜; Atchison 110⅝; do preferred 105¼; Baltimore and Ohio 121⅛; Canadian Pacific 179½; Chesapeake and Ohio 64⅜; Chicago Great Western 19½; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 201½; De Beers 18⅜; Denver and Rio Grande 45⅝; do preferred 89; Erie 48⅝; do first preferred 81; do second preferred 74; Illinois Central 180; Louisville and Nashville 154⅝; Missouri, Kansas and Texas 37⅜; New York Central 147½; Norfolk and Western 95⅛; do preferred 95; Ontario and Western 49⅛; Pennsylvania 73¼; Rand Mines 6⅝; Reading 71⅝; Southern Railway 40¼; do preferred 103; Southern Pacific 93⅞; Union Pacific 191⅛; do preferred 98; United States Steel 47⅝; do preferred 111; Wabash 21½; do preferred 48; Spanish fours 92. Bar silver steady at 30⅝d per ounce. Money 2¼@2½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3 5-16@3⅜ per cent.; do three months' bills 3⅜ per cent.

Paris, Aug. 28.—Trading on the Bourse to-day was very dull. Russians declined heavily. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 70.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 470. Three per cent. rentes 97f 82½c for the account. Exchange on London 25f 17½c for checks.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—Trading on the Boerse to-day was lifeless. American railways were depressed on the New York advices. Exchange on London 20 marks 47¼ pfgs. for checks. Discount rates: Short bills 3 per cent.; three months' bills 3⅜ per cent.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 28.—The Bourse was closed to-day, the day being observed as a holiday.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Clear weather in the Northwest had a depressing effect on the local wheat market to-day, but fair demand by shorts caused a firm tone at the close, final quotations on the December delivery being up ⅛c. Corn was also ⅛c higher. Oats were practically unchanged. Provisions were 2½@12½c to 15c lower.

Sentiment in the wheat pit was bearish for the greater part of the day, and the volume of trading was small. Lower cables, and an absence of rain in the spring wheat country were the chief influences for lower prices. The feature of the market was the persistent liquidation of the September option by local holders. Country acceptances were light, but cash houses reported that the movement will in all probability soon show an increase. This encouraged additional sales. During the last fifteen minutes of trading the market became more animated, there being a good demand by shorts. A decrease of 30 per cent. in primary receipts for to-day as compared with the same day last year was one reason for the improved demand. The tone at the close was firm, prices being at the highest point of the day. December opened a shade to ⅛c lower at 74c to 74⅛c, sold off to 73⅞c, and then advanced to 74⅛c. Final quotations were at 74⅛c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 248,400 bushels. The world's visible supply as shown by Bradstreet's increased 3,000,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 429,000 bushels compared with 607,000 bushels one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 214 cars against 270 cars last week, and 275 cars one year ago.

The corn market was inclined to be weak early in the day on selling by cash houses. Weather conditions are now considered favorable for the rapid maturity of the growing crop, and this accounted, according to receiving houses, for a substantial increase in the amount of country acceptances. Local receipts to-day were larger than had been estimated, the total arrivals being 368 cars with 200 of contract grade. Late in the session a firmer tone developed on covering by shorts, which was based upon the expectation of small local receipts to-morrow. The market closed firm. December opened unchanged to a shade higher at 43⅞@44c, to 44c, sold off to 43⅝@43¾c and then advanced to 44@44⅛c. Final quotations were at 44@44⅛c.

Trading in oats was quiet and the tone of the market was easy. The probability of a liberal increase in the movement from the country was the chief depressing influence. There was considerable changing from September to the December delivery. December opened ⅛c lower at 30⅛c, sold between 30⅛@30⅜c and 30⅝c and closed at 30⅛@30⅜c. Local receipts were 358 cars.

Provisions were weak because of liberal receipts of live hogs. Trading was very dull, there being a very slack demand. At the close September pork was off 2½c at $17. Lard was down 7½c at $8.67½. Ribs were 12½@15c lower at $8.65.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow were: Wheat 69 cars; corn 168; oats 172; hogs 31,000 head.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, Aug. 28.—The cotton market was more active to-day, and had a very sharp break under a renewal of bear pressure and liquidation. The close was steady, but at a net decline of 22 to 26 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 400,000 bales. The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points in response to higher cables and further reports of crop deterioration. Prices worked up to a net advance of about 3 to 4 points on the active months immediately following the call, but there was no sign of important bull support, and there were rumors that the bull leaders were selling October on the advance. The demand from smaller shorts became less active, consequently and the market toward midday turned quite easy under selling through wire and commission houses with Southern connections and a renewal of bear pressure, which became more aggressive in the middle of the afternoon and forced the market off to 8.88c for October and 9.05c for December, or about 28 to 29 points down from the top price of the morning. The close was steady on covering, but at practically the lowest point of the session. Weather reports were considered very favorable and the weekly report of the Weather Bureau failed to indicate any cause for deterioration beyond that expected as the crop approaches maturity. A condition report on Texas issued by a prominent Southwestern organization reported a deterioration of 8 per cent. for the month, but showed an average well above last year's figures. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 1-16 of a cent higher.

Estimated receipts at the ports to-day 18,000 bales, against 10,128 last week and 21,408 last year; for the week 85,000 bales, against 49,419 last week and 89,620 last year; to-day's receipts at New Orleans 329 bales, against 1,117 last year, and at Houston 17,522 bales, against 12,936 last year.

Spot cotton opened quiet; middling uplands 9.90c; do gulf 10.15c; Closed quiet and unchanged; sales none.

COFFEE MARKET.

New York, Aug. 28.—Spot, Rio nominal; No. 7 invoice 8⅝c; mild firm. The market for futures opened weak at unchanged prices to a decline of 20 points under local liquidation and selling by houses with Brazilian connections. Trading was active and the market ruled weak and unsettled during the entire session. Brazilian markets were slightly lower and late cables from Havre were weak, although Europe was a moderate buyer in the local market. Full receipts, good weather in Brazil and absence of any definite information as to the valorization plan seemed to be discouraging speculative longs. The close was about 5 points up from the lowest on covering, but while steady in tone was 15@25 points net lower. Sales were reported of 118,750 bags, including September at 6.30@6.50c, October at 6.50@6.55c, December at 6.45@6.67c, January at 6.75c, March at 6.65@6.85c, May at 6.75@6.95c, June at 7c and July at 6.95@7.10c.

New York Dry Goods.

New York, Aug. 28.—Business was at a high level in cotton goods generally to-day, though buyers for export account made strong bids for concessions on future delivery. In woolens and silks, the prospects of a good fall trade are distinctly better.

Boston Wool.

Boston, Aug. 28.—The wool market is firm with fair trading. Large purchases are looked for immediately by the trade with an accompanying revival of interest in the market. The movement in Territories includes both combing and clothing, and a fair aggregate is resulting from individual sales, running from 50,000 to 100,000 pounds. Pulled wools are in fair demand. A supers continue to move at 62@64c, while B's sell at 52@55c. Foreign grades are steady. Leading quotations follow:

SON KILLS FATHER TO OBTAIN MONEY.

With Hopes of Getting $500 Boy Slays Aged Parent in Most Brutal Manner.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 28.—The body of James F. Sloane, a pioneer merchant of this city, was found to-day behind a pile of rocks in an alley near his home. There were great gashes in his head, and a trail of blood led from the alley to Mr. Sloane's home. Investigation proved that he was murdered in his room shortly after midnight, his body being loaded into a wheelbarrow, trundled to the alley and dumped against the rocks.

Sidney Sloane, the seventeen-year-old son of the murdered man, was arrested, broke down and confessed. He said he slew his father with an ax in the hope of getting $500 which he thought his father carried.

Big Fire at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—Fire which started in the warehouse of the Heinz Pickle Company, on the West Side, early to-day, destroyed the plant of the company, the large factory of the American Can Company and a three-story frame tenement building. The total loss is estimated at $355,000, of which $300,000 is on the American Can Company's plant.

Shortly after the firemen had gotten the tenants, thirty in number, out of the frame building the walls of the can factory fell, crushing the tenement house to the ground.

LUCKY RELATIVE.

CLAUDE R. GLENN FALLS HEIR TO BIG ESTATE.

Receives Telegram Announcing That Legacy Was Left by William Christian, of Boston.

Claude R. Glenn, living at 927 Third avenue, received a telegram from Boston, Mass., yesterday, informing him that he had fallen heir to a large estate, bequeathed to him by a distant relative, William Christian, of Boston. The estate is valued at from $20,000 to $25,000. Mr. Glenn said that Mr. Christian had no immediate relatives, but he could not understand why he was made the fortunate legatee.

"Mr. Christian was away about ten years and during that time I heard from him only four or five times," Mr. Glenn said. "I was greatly surprised to receive that telegram. The only way that I can explain my good fortune is that I seemed to be a favorite relative of his. Shortly before his death, which occurred several weeks ago, he asked me to pay him a visit."

Mr. Glenn at present is employed as a drug clerk at Rectanus' drug store, Preston and Market streets. He will take immediate action to secure his interests.

To Sell Iron Gutter Plates For Junk.

NEW ALBANY COUNCIL AFTER BOARD OF WORKS.

HEIRS TO CALIFORNIA ESTATE INTERESTED IN A SUIT.

BABY ON CAR PLATFORM.

Chief of Police William Adams, of New Albany, acting under the directions of City Attorney Walter N. Bulleitt, ordered Mrs. A. Joseph, the iron broker, yesterday to cease hauling iron gutter plates belonging to the city that had been broken into fragments and were to be shipped away to be sold for scrap iron. These plates cost the city a few years ago $30 a ton. Mrs. Joseph claimed that she had purchased the property from the city authorities, but she at once stopped the removal of the iron, after having been informed that she had no right to it.

The sale of these plates was talked of at a meeting of the Board of Public Works a few weeks ago. At that time City Attorney Bulleitt, who is at the head of the law department of New Albany, notified the board that it had no authority under the law to dispose of the property, this being a matter that rested entirely with the Council. There will be a thorough investigation, and it is likely that suits will be brought to recover for the property damaged by being broken. These plates were taken from gutter crossings on the streets now being improved in New Albany, but they could be used elsewhere.

NEW ALBANY INTERESTED.

California Estate, With Heirs in Indiana City.

A suit has been brought in the courts at Los Angeles, Cal., that involves a part of the handsome estate of the late Merrill A. Weir, for many years a resident of New Albany and cashier of the New Albany National Bank until he left that city nearly fifteen years ago. Mr. Weir died intestate at Los Angeles November 24, 1905, leaving an estate valued at $75,000. Four months later his widow, Mrs. Nancy Weir, died, also intestate. Mrs. Weir had expressed a determination only the day before her sudden death to execute a will, having arranged with a lawyer to meet him on the day she died.

Mr. Weir is survived by a brother, a sister, three nieces and a nephew, while Mrs. Weir left two sisters—Mrs. G. W. Smith, of New Albany, being one—four nieces and two nephews. Under the laws of California, where a husband and wife both die intestate, the estate is inherited jointly by their legal heirs. After the death of Mr. Weir, W. T. S. Hammond, of Los Angeles, was appointed administrator of his estate, while A. M. F. McCulloch, of that city, was appointed administrator of the estate of Mrs. Weir.

The suit mentioned was brought by Hammond to recover securities of the value of $14,998.51, which he claims were taken under administration by McCulloch. These securities, Hammond asserts, should be administered by him and he asks the court to issue an order to that effect on the ground that no will was left by Mr. Weir. Considerable interest is being manifested in the suit in New Albany from the fact that several of the legal heirs of both Mr. and Mrs. Weir live in that city, while others live in Salem and in Mt. Vernon, Ind.

Three-Year-Old Takes Train Ride.

George Russell, three years old, son of David Russell, 1710 East Spring street, New Albany, had a remarkable experience yesterday morning. He wandered from his home to the Monon passenger station, several blocks distant, and climbed on the rear platform of a Pullman car of the southbound train. After the train had gone several miles, the youngster was found by Conductor Dick Strain, contentedly sitting on the platform. The conductor took him into the car, where the women passengers proceeded at once to make him comfortable.

Arriving at the end of the run, Mr. Strain, who supposed he lived at New Albany, took his youthful passenger to that city and left him at the Central police station, where he was well cared for by the sergeant on duty, who, in the meantime, had the patrolmen notify his grandmother, with whom he lives. He was not able to tell his name, but some caller at the police station recognized him. The little fellow was supposed to have gone to one of the neighbors, and consequently the family had not become alarmed about him. He was greatly pleased with the trip.

Mrs. Crane Dies in Yazoo City.

A telegram was received in New Albany yesterday from Yazoo City, Miss., announcing the death there at 11 o'clock Monday night of Mrs. Letitia Gebhart Crane, wife of Edgar S. Crane, and youngest daughter of John F. Gebhart, of New Albany. Her death was the result of an operation for appendicitis, performed a few days before. Mrs. Crane was forty-five years old and is survived by her husband and four children, three sons and a daughter. The funeral will be in Yazoo City this afternoon, where she went a bride over twenty years ago. Her sister, Mrs. W. A. Hedden, of New Albany, left Monday afternoon, but did not reach her bedside until after she had passed away.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN NEW ALBANY.

—Ruth Douglass, daughter of Edward Douglass, engineer on the Monon, is critically ill of rheumatism at her home, 1415 South street.

—Edward Jones, arrested Monday night by Patrolmen Tether and Truman on the charge of intoxication, was fined $8.80 in Magistrate Fogle's court yesterday.

—Miss Sarah Dishmann, who has been visiting her brotner, Edward F. Dishmann, and family at Los Angeles, Cal., for the last six months, is expected home this week.

—Dr. D. F. Davis has returned from Europe, where he had been spending the last two months taking post-graduate courses in medical colleges of London, Paris and Berlin.

—John Louis, Deputy County Treasurer, who has been spending a ten days' vacation with friends in Clark county, returned yesterday and resumed his duties in the Treasurer's office.

—Mrs. Lewis A. Stoy entertained her embroidery club at her summer home in Franklin township, seven miles southwest of the city. The guests went from the city early yesterday morning, and spent a most delightful day in the country.

—Bernard Klaholz, who taught in St. Mary's parochial schools in this city more than thirty years ago, died last week at his home in Abilene, Kan., his death being due to infirmities of advanced age. He was eighty-one years old, and leaves a family.

—Capt. John B. Mitchell was seventy-four years old Monday, but, despite his advanced age, he is employed regularly setting type in one of the newspaper offices in the city, and is as capable of as big a day's work as any of the younger compositors.

—There is a probability that the No. 4 mill of the woolen mill plant on Vincennes street will be started shortly on a big Government contract that will keep the factory in operation for six months, and will afford employment for a large force of operatives.

—The binder course for the asphalt improvement was laid on State street from Spring to Main last evening, and work on laying the asphalt surface will begin today. It is expected that the street will be completed and thrown open for traffic by the latter part of this week.

—Peter Fetter, Joseph O'Hara and Matthew Roth, delegates from Unity Council, Y. M. I., have gone to Terre Haute to attend the State convention of that order, which is in session in that city this week. Charles Pfeffer, State treasurer, also of this city, accompanied the delegates.

—The Washington county fair at Salem begins Tuesday, September 4, and will be continued four days. In addition to the large exhibits in the various departments, an added attraction will be a free wild West show and a cowgirls' band. Arrangements have been made for railway transportation at one fare for the round trip.

—Property owners on Oak street are opposing placing the street railway on that thoroughfare, and are circulating a remonstrance against the granting of a franchise by the Board of Public Works. A franchise is being sought by the new traction company to connect with the Kentucky and Indiana bridge at Dewey and Vincennes street.

—The regimental reunion of the Fifty-third Indiana infantry, one of the noted regiments of the Civil War, will be held at Rockport September 6. The regiment was recruited and mustered into service in this city in 1862, its first Colonel being the late Gen. W. Q. Gresham, who had been serving as Lieutenant-Colonel of the Thirty-eighth Indiana infantry.

—Mrs. Mary Sheets, wife of George Sheets, died yesterday morning of dropsy complicated with heart trouble at St. Edward's City Hospital. She was taken to that institution last Saturday for treatment, being in a critical condition at the time. Mrs. Sheets was sixty-five years old and leaves a family. Her body will be taken this morning to Greenville for burial.

—At the old settlers' meeting, held a few days ago at Salem, Marmaduke Koker, aged ninety-five years, was presented with the seventy-five-pound watermelon given as a prize to the oldest citizen present. The prize would have been awarded to Dr. E. M. Newman, of Saltillo ville, Washington county, as the oldest resident, but he failed to attend the meeting. Both the old men are in excellent health, and each gives promise of living out the century of life.

—Deeds transferring the fair grounds near this city to L. A. Wymond and a syndicate of Louisville capitalists were delivered yesterday, and the new owners have taken possession of the property. Surveyors have been put at work platting the sixty-five acres and laying off the streets and alleys. It is probable that the street railway, which now touches the southwest corner of the track, will be extended along the Charlestown road in order to furnish transportation facilities to the people living in the new addition.

QUITS IN TIME

To Avoid Being Ousted From Department.

FIREMAN ANTICIPATES ORDER DISCHARGING WHOLE FORCE.

LONG CONFERENCE BETWEEN MAYOR AND COUNCIL.

DR. FLYNN MAY WIN OUT.

Frank Storz, who has been a member of the Jeffersonville Fire Department for the past four years, voluntarily resigned yesterday rather than to be ousted with the remainder of the force on next Monday and will probably accept a position as fireman on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad. He quit the department at noon yesterday and Joseph Enlow, who is the prospective new Chief, was assigned to duty. Storz says he was told several days ago by Dr. E. N. Flynn, Mayor-elect, that if he had anything else in sight he had better accept it, which was taken as ample evidence that his days were numbered.

Storz was one of the three Democrats selected to remain in the department by Dr. Flynn, who gave the information out for publication, but the seven Republican members of the City Council were not satisfied with the arrangement and took matters into their own hands, demanding that there be a clean sweep. It is now claimed some way will be found to make the department Republican throughout, although the law says the members of it must be as nearly as possible equally divided politically. It is said the Democrats have paid no attention to the law, which was only passed in 1905 and after the department had been on duty two years, and this will be taken as an excuse for the Republican Councilmen selecting a full force from that party.

Exactly what is brewing between the Councilmen and Dr. Flynn no one excepting those directly interested has been able to learn, but a spirited secret caucus was held Monday night that lasted until nearly 10 o'clock. This caused a rumor to spread that William L. Samuels was to be made a member of the Board of Public Works instead of Samuel Cunningham. It was also said that Laurant A. Douglas, who was named by Dr. Flynn as the Democratic member, was to be displaced. Developments that followed yesterday did not prove the rumors to be true. When Storz tendered his resignation to the present Board of Public Works the appointment of a successor was turned over to Dr. Flynn, who referred the board to Orlando Hobbs, Samuel Cunningham and L. A. Douglas, the board he has selected, and they gave instructions for Enlow to go to work.

This leads to the impression that Dr. Flynn has won out in his selections and that the seven Republican members of the City Council can take what he chooses to give them. When Dr. Flynn was elected he said he was not going to be dictated to in his position as Mayor, but expected to conduct the office from a standpoint that he thought was best for the general welfare of the city.

BLACKMAIL SCHEME

Said To Have Been Worked By Negro At Cementville.

A warrant was sworn out by Capt. M. E. Clegg, of Jeffersonville, before Charles K. Zolliman, Prosecuting Attorney, yesterday for the arrest of Lee Ranger, a negro who lives at Cementville, on the charge of receiving money that was known to have been stolen. The charge grows out of a statement made by Charles Houston, the sixteen-year-old white boy who was arrested on an allegation that he had robbed Robert Cooper, a wealthy farmer, of a large sum of money, only a part of which he has so far accounted for. Ranger, the boy claims, knew he had been taking the money from Cooper and told him that if he did not get him $20 he would inform the officers and have him sent to prison.

DROPS DEAD.

JOHN S. FENWICK VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE.

He Was Engaged in Duties as Receiving Clerk at L. and N. Depot When Stricken.

While engaged in his duties of receiving clerk and apparently in the best of health, John S. Fenwick, employed in the freight department of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, dropped dead at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in the company's office at Ninth and Broadway. Mr. Fenwick was giving orders relating to the loading of a car when he was seen suddenly to reel and fall to the floor. A moment before he had checked up a consignment of goods brought into the office. Arthur Woods, a driver for Streng & Thalheimer, was in the office and was about to walk out when he heard Fenwick cry out and saw him fall. He ran to his assistance and upon examining Mr. Fenwick's pulse detected no beat. Several other employes assisted in an attempt to revive Mr. Fenwick, and a physician was summoned, who quickly arrived and pronounced life extinct.

Death is believed to have been caused by organic heart disease. Magistrate Edward O'Connor, acting Coroner, viewed the body and gave permission for its removal to the home, at 1618 West Walnut street.

Mr. Fenwick was twenty-six years old and made his home with his wife and mother, Mrs. Laura Fenwick. The news of his death came to them as a great shock, as when he left home he was in unusually high spirits and gave no indication of ill-health. After his arrival at the office he went about his duties as usual and never once complained of feeling ill.

Mr. Fenwick had been in the employ of the railroad company for seven years as receiving clerk. Prior to that he was associated with the Southern Bureau and Inspection Company. Besides his wife and mother he is survived by a sister.

The funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Stephen's cemetery.

THIEVES BORE THROUGH BRICK WALL.

When John Walsh arrived at his cooper shop, in the rear of Third avenue, between Washington and Water streets, early yesterday morning, he found the daylight breaking into the shop through a hole in one of the side walls and a large number of his tools lying beneath the opening in great disorder. Not knowing what to think of this, he examined his collection of tools and discovered that he had been robbed of several of them, estimated to be worth about $20. The thieves forced an entrance into his place of business during Monday night by tearing a hole large enough to allow the body of a man to pass through it, through an eight-inch brick wall.

"I don't know why they did not take the other tools with them," said Mr. Walsh, "for they were the most expensive of the lot. I suppose the thieves thought they heard somebody coming and calculated that it would be better to 'skidoo' with what they had than to play the hogs, take all the tools and tell the Judge why they looted my shop." The robbery was reported to the police.
